Mothers of Bay Area Open Battle to Banish Immoral Plays by U. of C. Students

CLUBS FLAY UNIVERSITY PRODUCTION

Wheeler Hall Performance Is Denounced By Women's Leaders; Protests Voiced to Regents At Conference

Storm Breaks When 'Censors' of Organizations Attend Offering; "It's art," Says Director to His Critics

BERKELEY, Nov. 15. — The fight against the production of alleged "immoral" plays at the University of California will be carried into every club of the bay region.

This was the edict today of clubwomen of the college city who were responsible for action taken at yesterday's meeting of the board of regents of the university when last night's contemplated production of "The S. S. Tenacity," a French comedy of love, was barred from Wheeler hall.

CLUB "CENSORS" BUSY AT SECOND PERFORMANCE.

The play had been given two performances in Berkeley by the Greek Theater Players under the direction of Max Radin, acting director of the Greek Theater. "Censors" from various women's organizations witnessed the second performance on Monday night, and yesterday's official demand of the regents and other college authorities followed.

The clubs making official request that the play be withdrawn were the University Mothers' Club, Mrs. J. B. Perry, president, and the College Women's Club, Mrs. Eugenia Colby, president, as well as the Berkeley Better Films Committee, composed of representatives of all women's organizations of the college city, of which Mrs. John F. Johnston is chairman.

"UNFIT FOR STUDENT EYES," IS VERDICT.

"Unfit for student eyes," "tommyrot" and "senseless" as well as "immoral," were some of the criticisms hurled at the French play. The Vildrac comedy as translated from the French by Sidney Coe Howard, University of California graduate, is declared by the women leaders to be the type of play against which they have been waging war for some months.

"And to think that the University of California, which is naturally supposed to pave the way for the higher, cleaner things of life, should present a play of this questionable character!" declared Mrs. Johnston today, as spokesman for the club committee. "We are preparing resolutions which will be presented for endorsement to every club in the city of Berkeley and other bay communities, asking them to join in the attack on this form of performance. This is the second flagrant offense against common decency which has been perpetrated on the campus.

"The amazement with which the audience received the play on Monday night can well be visualized when it is said that following the seduction scene in the play, the flagrant feature of the performance, every one of the hundreds of persons there sat silent. There was no applause for some time, and then only a scattering hand-clap, so stunned were the onlookers. There is absolutely no redeeming feature in the Vildrac play. There is no excuse for its presentation in a college community. It may be art, but it's rather sordid and questionable art, if it can be classed that ...

INDIGNANT MOTHERS PROTEST TO REGENTS.

As representatives of the indignant mothers at yesterday's meeting of the board of regents were Charles C. Boynton, attorney, and Mrs. Boynton, well known as a dance producer. Besides appealing to the regents the clubwomen voiced their indignation, in the absence of President David P. Barrows, to Dean of the Faculties Henry R. Hatfield and to Mrs. Barrows, enlisting their support in the protest.

Robert G. Sproul, controller at the university, voiced the plea of the protestants at yesterday's regents meeting across the bay.

"The play might get by in San Francisco as I understand it did about a week ago—but there is one scene in the play which leaves too little to the imagination of undergraduates," was Sproul's statement. The discussion of the play was held by the regents behind closed doors.

"The S. S. Tenacity" was first produced in San Francisco last week by the San Francisco Stage Guild, directed by Professor Sam... leave of absence from the university. Critics described the French comedy, which deals of the rivalry between two men for the love of a French waitress, as "daring" and so shocking to even a San Fran...

MRS. PHILLIPS' FATE UP TO JURY

Defendant in "Hammer" Murder Awaits Verdict in Courtroom.

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE, LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 15.—The fate of Clara Phillips, tried for the "hammer murder" of Mrs. Alberta Meadows, was placed in the hands of the nine men and three women composing the jury in her case at 10:55 a. m. today.

At noon, after the jurors had been out for an hour and five minutes, they were escorted to a downtown hotel for lunch. They returned to the jury-room at 2 o'clock and resumed deliberations.

A foreman was elected and one ballot was taken on the question of Mrs. Phillips' guilt or innocence before the jurors went to lunch.

The jurors were reported to be in strenuous argument half an hour after they retired to the jury room. It was rumored that the first ballot was on the straight question of whether Mrs. Phillips killed Mrs. Meadows, and that the question of her alleged insanity and mitigating circumstances was left for discussion later.

Mrs. Phillips sat alone in the courtroom while the jury was out, instead of being taken back to the county jail.

Cummins Proposes Anti-Strike Bill

By LAWRENCE MARTIN,
United Press Staff Correspondent.
(Copyright, 1922, by United Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—An anti-strike bill will be introduced by Senator Cummins, Iowa, early in the extra session of Congress which meets Monday. This will be the keynote measure in a program of industrial legislation which Cummins, as chairman of the Senate interstate commerce committee, will propose. He will try to get President Harding to urge enactment of this program, either in his message to the extra session, or to the regular December session.

Republican legislators were amazed to hear of Cummins' desire for legislation, as a means of preventing future railroad strikes. Most of them regard the present as the poorest time in recent years to suggest such a thing and there is little likelihood that Cummins' bill will receive serious consideration for a long time.

Half Billion From Tariff Predicted

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS, LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

BOSTON, Nov. 15. — If the first month of the new tariff is any criterion for the year, the federal treasury will derive more than half a billion dollars from this source, instead of the three to four hundred millions estimated by government officials, Secretary Wm. R. Cliffe of the Home Market Club said in an address at the annual meeting today.

The enactment of the Fordney-McComber tariff establishes the starting point of another era of prosperity for the United States of America," he declared.

Armour Plan to Absorb Morris Company Is Seen As Step in Ultimate Consolidation of "Big Five"

Proposal Submitted to Secretary of Agriculture For Views On Affects of Packers' Act, Sherman Law

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—(By International News Service.)—A proposal involving consolidation of the huge packing interests of Armour & Co. and Morris & Co., two of the "big five" packers, was presented to Government officials for federal approval under the packers' act and Sherman anti-trust law.

Representatives of the two concerns, headed by J. Ogden Armour, multi-millionaire head of Armour & Co., conferred with Secretary of Agriculture Wallace today for an hour. The consolidation would be effected by the purchase of the Morris company by the Armour interests, it was learned. The financial interests involved would total $50,000,000, it was said.

PLANS STILL IN TENTATIVE STAGE.

Plans for consolidating the two great packing concerns, according to reliable information, are in a tentative stage, and will be left open for further negotiation. The proposal as submitted to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace today probably will be amended to meet such objections as might be raised by government officials under powers vested in them by the packers' act and the Sherman law.

Before the consolidation would be effective, it was said the deal would have been officially approved by the department of justice and the department of agriculture. The government's position will not be known possibly for several weeks, or at least until the merger plans have been thoroughly studied.

Armour and A. Edson White, vice-president of the Armour company, were accompanied by a number of other officials in their call today upon Secretary Wallace. Later it was learned the proposal would also be presented to Attorney General Daugherty.

Following the conference, Secretary Wallace said that one phase of the merger would have to be passed upon by the department of Agriculture.

COMBINATION TO BE AVOIDED.

It was learned the two packing companies have sought to keep strictly within the limits of the anti-trust law in their negotiations. Their plans are so drawn, it was said, as not to form a "combination," but to provide a straight-out purchase of the Morris interests by the Armour concern.

Whether this phase would be looked upon by the department of Justice as an "evasion" of the law, or as a legal means of eliminating competition, rests solely in the hands of Attorney General Daugherty.

Armour, White and the other principals in the deal flatly refused to see newspaper men or to discuss any details of the deal.

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—(By International News Service.)—Consolidation moves of the Armour and Morris packing interests were believed here today to be a forerunner of other negotiations which will have for their end the merging of all five Chicago packing companies into one gigantic combination. The combined capitalization of the "big five" is $394,832,000. Their combined assets total $1,007,707,457.

Consolidation of the Armour and Morris companies would create a corporation with assets of $571,941,513, a capital of $190,702,400, a funded debt of $148,186,900, and a surplus of $64,752,952.

In capitalization the Morris company is third in size among the "big five," although in assets the company ranks fourth.

NEW QUAKES BURY CHILE ARMY FORCE

12 Convicts Die and Soldiers Trapped Under Tumbling Walls While Engaged in Rescuing Former Victims

Death Toll Exceeds 1500 in Two Northern Provinces; Harding Proffers Aid of Red Cross to Sufferers

SANTIAGO, Chile, Nov. 15.—(United Press.)—Twelve prisoners were killed and a squad of soldiers buried beneath falling walls when a new series of earthquakes occurred in the Copiapo district early today.

The soldiers were searching among ruins for victims of last Saturday's terrific quakes, when the new shocks occurred. The falling walls of buildings covered the men, but most escaped without serious injury.

Contributions for quake sufferers are being received at government headquarters from all parts of the country.

VICTIMS EXCEED 1500 IN TWO PROVINCES.

SANTIAGO, Chile, Nov. 15.—(By The Associated Press.)—Scarcely a house remains standing in the Vallenor valley, in Northern Chile, as the result of the earthquakes and marine disturbances of last week. The full extent of the disaster, which centered upon the provinces of Atacama and Coquimbo, became more fully known today with the reopening of telegraphic communications with North Chile.

In these two provinces the victims number 1500, so far as known, but it is expected the number of dead will be substantially increased when communications are resumed with many small villages in the interior whose fate remains unknown.

Martial law has been declared at Vallenar and in Copiago, owing to the looting by bandits.

The removal of debris in the afflicted regions has been started with the help of soldiers. Eighty per cent o fthe buildings are down and the others are greatly damaged. The state of seige is being maintained.

Many small inland villages near Copiapo were destroyed.

San Fernando is in ruins. Twenty-three persons were killed there. At Tiara Ameria four persons are dead and half the town is in ruins. At Santone several are dead and the town is a wreck. Casualties so far reported from Copria number the dead at 60 and the injured at 110.

NIGHT PHENOMENON SPREADS NEW ALARM.

COPIAPO, Chile, Nov. 14.—(By The Associated Press.)—Further terror has been spread among the inhabitants of the district devastated by the earthquake by a strange phenomenon observed last night. A line like a great ribbon passed along the horizon over the sea from south to north, this being repeated every two or three minutes. The people were so alarmed that few slept, fearing a new catastrophe.

Harding Proffers Aid of Red Cross

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (By the Associated Press). — President Harding, in a cablegram to President Alessandri of Chile, offers assistance to the people of Chile who suffered from the earthquake catastrophe.

"I am deeply shocked to learn of the terrible catastrophe which has befallen your country, causing so great loss of life and property," President Harding said. "My countrymen join with me in extending heartfelt sympathy in this hour of widespread suffering and national grief. The American Red Cross will hold itself in readiness to render such assistance as may be in its power, and I beg that your excellency will not hesitate to let me know if this organization can serve the people of the stricken districts in any way."

Pending a report from Chile concerning the extent of relief required the American Red Cross is making preparations to send several hundred portable houses to the regions devastated by the earthquake.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Conservative party leaders who have checked up on progress of voting at the polls throughout the British Isles in today's general election, declare that Premier Bonar Law and his Conservative followers have been returned to parliament with a sufficient majority to insure stable government.

Within two hours of closing time at the polls predictions of a majority of about 25 or 30 for the premier had been received.

Bonar Law, H. H. Asquith and Austin Chamberlain are reported to have been returned by their constituencies, according to unofficial estimates this evening. Former Premier Lloyd George was returned unopposed.

The parties started the day with the following strength: Conservatives, 42; Asquith Liberals, 6; Lloyd George Liberals, 4; Labor, 4; Irish Nationalists, 1. These were returned unopposed.

Kemalists Issue Promise to Keep Mudania Armistice; America Will Seek Trade Pacts at Lausanne Meet

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 15 (By the Associated Press).—The Near East Relief is planning to transfer its headquarters and warehouses from Constantinople to Greece. Uncertainty over the political and military situation and the insistence of the Kemalists upon imposing excessive tariffs upon relief supplies have prompted this decision. Several relief workers left today for Athens. They included: Charlotte Walker, Oakland, California.

LONDON, Nov. 15 (By the Associated Press).—The British foreign office, it was stated in an authoritative quarter today, has telegraphed to the French and Italian governments a memorandum in which Great Britain declares the main Turkish demands to come before the Near East Peace conference are not regarded favorably by the British government.

Great Britain stands by the agreements previously made with her allies, according to a memorandum. She received unfavorably the three main Turkish demands, namely a plebiscite in western Thrace, rectification of the Syrian frontier in favor of Turkey and abolition of the capitulations.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 15 (By the Associated Press).—The Turkish Nationalist government has given formal assurances to the allies that the stipulations of the Mudania armistice agreement will be respected.

They reiterate, however, their demand that all interference in the form of control by allied troops of the Turkish internal administration shall cease.

By WEBB MILLER,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, Nov. 15. — Ismet Pasha, delegate of the Angora government to Lausane, arrived here today.

Upon his arrival, Pasha renewed his threat to withdraw the Turkish delegation from the proposed Lausanne conference if the allies appeared as a single unit with an ultimatum for the Turks.

"If we are forced to face an allied ultimatum, it will be impossible for us to enter discussion, as such action will be an infringement upon our national rights," said Ismet. "If this is the case our trip will be futile. We do not want any foreign dictation."

Shortly before Ismet's arrival, it was understood that the French had accepted the British proposal for a preliminary allied agreement on terms to be made to the Turks at the Lausanne conference.

It was learned that the British government, within the next 24 hours, will send a message to French leaders, outlining its views on the Turkish demands. The French reply will be made immediately, it was stated, and about Saturday it is expected that Foreign Secretary Curzon will come to Paris for a conference with Premier Poincare.

KEMALISTS GIVE IN ON POLICE REGULATIONS.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 15 (By the Associated Press). — Rafet ... Constantinople, today conceded in principle the right of the allied forces of occupation to exercise police control over their own nationals. The allies are understood to have pressed for similar jurisdiction over the minority populations, but Rafet Pasha refused. He agreed to a further discussion of the subject tomorrow with the allied generals.

SISTERS OF CHARITY ATTACKED BY TURKS.

Another disagreeable aspect to the general situation has arisen from reports from Brusa that two French Sisters of Charity have been assaulted by Kemalist soldiers, who forced an entrance into a convent.

The French authorities here have vigorously protested to Rafet Pasha, demanding an immediate explanation and assurance against a repetition of such assaults.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—One or more treaties of amnesty in commerce, protecting American rights in the Near East, probably will result from the Lausanne conference, it was learned in official quarters today.

While the United States has definitely determined not to be a signatory to the peace treaty to be negotiated at the conference, American observers there have been informed this government expects to conclude commercial treaties which will guarantee the rights for which it has constantly contended in Asia Minor.

Mary MacSwiney Near Death From Hunger Strike

Sister of Cork's Late Lord Mayor Reported Sinking in Prison.

BY UNITED PRESS, LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

DUBLIN, Nov. 15.—Mary MacSwiney, sister of Terrence MacSwiney, late lord mayor of Cork who died as a result of a hunger strike in 1920, is herself at the point of death, after twelve days of voluntary starvation in Mount Joy prison.

Miss MacSwiney, a leader of the insurgents, who are warring against the Free State, was arrested a fortnight ago and commenced a hunger strike.

Today she was reported to be sinking and unable to talk.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—After spending the night in jail because of her refusal to accept bond, Mrs. Muriel MacSwiney, widow of Terence MacSwiney, former lord mayor of Cork, appeared before a United States commissioner today on the charge of picketing the British embassy.

The defendants entered pleas of not guilty.

Two others of the nine women picketers who were arrested at the embassy remained at the jail all night with Mrs. MacSwiney. They were Mrs. Mary Ann Nolan of Jacksonville, Fla., more than 80 years old, and Miss Minnie Kerney. The women were picketing the embassy in protest against the jailing of Miss Mary MacSwiney by the Free State government.

Greece Calls on America for Aid

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The Greek government is asking the "utmost help" from every nation in its efforts to care for the hundreds of thousands of refugees which continue to pour out of Asia-Minor as a result of the Turkish military successes, according to a cable to the American Red Cross from Dr. A. Ross Hill, director of its Near East relief operations. The cable, graphically telling of conditions in the refugee camps, declared that the fate of a million Christians, "driven into the sea by the Turks," hangs largely on the "quick charity of America," for many other peoples are unable to help.

Dr. Hill also cabled the thanks of King George, of Greece, to the Red Cross, its workers and the American people.

"Hundreds of thousands of refugees are filling the Greek cities and islands," the cable reported. "These consist largely of mothers with children, who, with old people, are the sole remnants of once flourishing populations driven into the sea by the Turks. Smallpox is spreading from one concentration camp to another. Meanwhile Greece is awaiting new floods of refugees. The race is on between American Red Cross supplies and these fresh ship loads.

Japanese Anxious For Capitulations

LAUSANNE, Nov. 15.—(By The Associated Press.)—Japan, like the United States, has a vital interest in the question of Turkish capitulations sure to be considered at the near eastern peace conference here next week. Sweeping denunciation of the capitulations, which are extra-territorial rights granted to foreigners in Turkey, and which the new Nationalist government in that country wants abolished, would affect Japanese plans for the extension of economic relations with Turkey.

Recent installation of a Japanese legation at Athens and the ... a bi-lingual magazine, "The Near East," devoted to fostering commercial relations, indicate the aspirations of the Japanese to expand their trade in the Near Eastern zones.

The Japanese have no treaty with Turkey. Therefore they benefit from the capitulations only as one of the signatories of the treaty of Sevres.

GERMANY'S NEW CRISIS STIRS MOBS

Fall of Wirth Cabinet Leads to Riots in Which Eight Persons Are Killed: Nation Faces Food, Fuel Famine

Official Announcement Made Negotiations Will Proceed On Stabilization of Mark; Rival Parties May Combine

By S. D. WEYER,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

BERLIN, Nov. 15. — Official announcement was made this afternoon that the resignation of Chancellor Wirth's cabinet would not affect the negotiations that are in progress for stabilization of the German mark. The program which was submitted to the interallied reparations commission for German financial reforms has the support of all parties and will be upheld by the ministry, political leaders stated.

By CARL D. GROAT,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

BERLIN, Nov. 15. — German leaders today sought a combination of political groups sufficiently stable to produce a premier. The Wirth government resigned last night after 19 stormy months of office.

Refusal of the United Socialists to join a coalition which included the German People's party, which is backed by Hugo Stinnes and other conservative elements, was the immediate cause of Wirth's downfall. Without the Socialists, he had not a sufficient majority to carry on in the face of adverse financial conditions and the reparations tangle.

The radical left wing of former Independent Socialists, which has been after the chancellor's political scalp for more than a year, finally succeeded in pulling him down, by persuading the United Social Democratic party to reject coalition with the Stinnes group.

CHANCELLOR PRESSED BY EXTERNAL TROUBLE.

Reorganization of the Wirth government has been going on over a period of several months, during which the chancellor has been hard pressed by external difficulties involved in the reparations disagreement. Time after time, Wirth has succeeded in holding together disputants within Germany's political ring by sheer force of his own personality. Defection of the Socialists is not considered a reflection upon the chancellor personally.

Wirth resigned in October, 1921, after having been in office a little over five months. At that time the cabinet was reorganized with Wirth again at its head.

EIGHT KILLED IN FOOD RIOTS.

Eight persons were killed and many seriously injured in food riots which broke out in various parts of the country yesterday.

In Cologne, where four were killed, the police were called upon to break up an alleged Communist demonstration in the market place. Besides the four dead, four were injured.

During the raid the police seized hundreds of pamphlets calling for a general strike. British troops have been called upon to assist the police.

It is estimated that there are 50,000 unemployed in Cologne.

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—Germany today faced both an internal and external crisis as a result of the Wirth government fall. Former Chancellor Wirth, ex-professor of mathematics, represented the policy of fulfillment or surrender to the demands of the allies.

The collapse of the Wirth government has been expected for several days owing to pressure from various sides. The adherents of Hugo Stinnes, the industrial magnate, were demanding representation in the government while the Socialists voted down a proposal to participate in a coalition cabinet.

The side is obscure but at the present moment it appears likely that a "bourgeois coalition cabinet" will be formed with representatives of the German people's party, Democrats and Centrists.

FAMINE TO FACE GERMAN PEOPLE.

It is a question, however, how long such a government could last under the bitter attacks of the Socialists and Communists. The extremists are assisted by the fact that winter is coming on and a ...

Unemployment Reaches Lowest Ebb Since War

By JAMES T. KOLBERT,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Unemployment this winter will be at its lowest ebb since the war days, experts at the department of commerce and the labor department stated today on the basis of a national survey.

Few people who want work go without a job, they stated. They foresee an acute labor shortage, particularly in the unskilled labor industries, early in the spring

This probable labor shortage and the lack of railroad equipment may put a brake on the expected business boom.

Little unemployment exists today, the department said. Last year at this time, when the acute situation caused President Harding to convene his unemployment conference, more than three million workers were jobless.

APRICOT GROWERS HOLD SESSIONS AT UNIVERSITY FAIR

Methods of Increasing Crops Marketing and Advertising Considered

BERKELEY, Nov 15.—Apricot growers from all parts of the state began sessions this morning on the university campus

Yesterday the prune was king at the university, and growers of this product discussed the famous California fruit from every angle. Methods of increasing crops, of controling blight, of advertising campaigns and of marketing crops to the best advantage held the attention of several hundred delegates.

MANY GROWERS ATTEND.

A large delegation of growers from Santa Clara and other adjoining counties joined in the discussion which followed the program of addresses as offered by university and other experts. Today sessions were continued, the growers being divided into classes to discuss problems of especial interest to them.

Reports that the university's college of agriculture was overcrowded were denied to delegates attending the third annual fruit show on the campus yesterday by Professor Thomas F. Hunt, dean of the college of agriculture. One instructor for every ten students in the college of agriculture is the ratio carried out in his department, Dean Hunt said. Increases in enrollment, he pointed out, were met with increased faculties

Remodeling Old Buildings Rapped

An endorsement of the stand of Commissioner Frank Colbourn against remodeling of old buildings in the downtown district was sent him today by the Oakland One Hundred Per Cent Club, which asserts that only by such methods can better buildings be constructed throughout the whole district

"Remodeling is not to be encouraged if we are to have real growth in our city," says the club

famine of both food and fuel faces the German people.

The mark is down so low that it is nearly valueless and debt and taxation are crushing rich and poor alike.

The Social-Democratic party is the strongest in the reichstag at present, having 180 members It is taking no part in the administration of government affairs, however, due to a decision on the part of its leaders

SOCIALIST DEMOCRATS FOR FULFILLMENT POLICY.

The Socialist Democrats have come out for the "fulfillment policy," but contend that stabilization of the mark is the first and primary task for any government. It refused to enter the Wirth ministry because the ministry refused to pledge itself to stabilize the mark before it did anything else.

Socialist leaders are on record as saying that they will keep up incessant attacks against any government in which they are not represented. Dissolution of the Reichstag may result.

If there is a general election one of the biggest issues will be the future attitude of labor. The question of an eight or ten-hour work day would figure vitally. It was brought to the front by Hugo Stinnes, wrecker of the Wirth government, who claims that the eight-hour day is the root of all German's evils He demands that the work day be extended to ten hours and that workers give more thought to their jobs and less to Utopian ideals

Opponents of former Chancellor Wirth accuse him of inconsistency and of being chiefly responsible for the collapse of Germany's financial system.

LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

BERLIN, Nov 15 — President Ebert is confronted with one of the most critical problems of his administration, especially in view of his party affiliations

Among the solutions for the cabinet crisis suggested today the proposition for a cabinet of nonpartisan experts seemed most favored, although the shortage of available candidates who would eventually command the confidence of the Reichstag was admitted. It is also argued that a purely bourgeoise cabinet would be short-lived in view of the Socialist opposition in the Reichstag, which would be strongly augmented by the growing unrest among the working population

The middle party leaders are also convinced that the moderate Socialists failed to assimilate the minority radical wing in the newly united party, which yesterday succumbed to pressure exerted by the former Inuependent socialists led by Arthur Crispien.

When accepting the resignation of the cabinet, President Ebert requested the Wirth government to carry on until a new ministry was formed. Today President Ebert conferred with leaders of both Socialist and non-Socialist parties

Explaining to the newspaper men the reasons for his resignation, Dr Wirth today said that since the last note of the reparations commission had been approved by all parties, except the Socialist, it seemed as if it would be possible to form a coalition.

Colonel Mayorga Killed in Battle

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 15.—Fidel Mayorga, a former colonel in the federal army, has been killed in battle near Actopan Hidalgo, according to an announcement made by the war office. Mayorga, with his brothers, has been actively working against the government since last July. General Heliodoro Perez, who surrendered at Pachuca, Hidalgo, last week, was brought to Mexico City today.

CARD PARTIES MUST WAIT FOR CLOTHES

"Well, old man, I hope election came out to suit you. How about it?"

"Yes, near enough. I had a sample ballot saved up to check [illegible] with and I won on most of the amendments. Say, weren't those amendments the limit? It took the wife and me two or three evenings to go over the list and decide what was what."

"Tough job, I'll admit. A lot of them applied to certain communities and those who lived elsewhere had more trouble to understand what good they were."

"Well, election's over, so we can settle down to regular events again. Say, why don't you and the wife come up some evening for a game of cards? Remember, we intended to meet every week or so and get two or four more couples to join us. What do you say that we stir up something like that now?"

"I'm for it but hold off another week or two. I've got to have a new suit before I take part in any social affairs."

"Oh, say, this isn't any grand ball, or anything like it."

"I know, but the fact remains that I'm low on cloothes. I am booked for a new suit, however, [illegible] the money."

"Oh, say; that reminds me You go to Cherry's at 528 13th street and buy that suit on credit Good fall and winter styles, and they allow a man six months to pay."

Judge Forbids Youth Auto for Social Affairs

Martin Kingston, 20-year-old student, will have to take his sweetheart to social affairs on a street car until January 3 next, although he preferred serving a sentence in jail.

The judge who made this necessary is Justice of the Peace Harry Pulcifer, who forbade Kingston to ride in an automobile before that date because he drove through the University of California campus with the muffler open, thereby disturbing the studious

"I would rather go to jail than do without my car," said Kingston, "because there is to be a number of important social affairs to which I have invited a girl friend, and it would be embarrassing to take her on a street car."

"It will have to be the street car even if the young woman's consent to accompany you may have been based partly on the expectation of transportation in your motor car," said the heartless judge. "I trust it will impress on you the necessity of obeying the law"

Two years ago Kingston was deprived of his machine for three months for speeding.

FATHER RICARD BLAMES SUN AND MOON FOR QUAKE

Malignant Solar Spots and Lunar Activity Explained By Local Savant.

SANTA CLARA, Nov 15.—Although sun spots had something to do with the disastrous earthquake and consequent tidal waves in Chile, the moon was also a contributing factor, according to Father J. S. Ricard of the University of Santa Clara observatory in a statemetn issued here today.

Father Ricard is a leading exponent of the theory that sun spots have a direct relation to the weather and issues a monthly publication known as "The Sunspot."

"In our observatory at Santa Clara we have always held that great sun spots on becoming central are a partial cause of earthquakes," said Father Picard today. "When the Chilean earthquake occurred a great sun spot, latitude 6 degrees, south, was in place to strike the earth. For more than 22 years this coincidence between malignant sun spots and earthquakes has been repeating itself. A coincidence thus indefinitely maintained is in itself a proof.

"On the other hand, it cannot be denied that the moon, acting at an angle of 45 degrees, where, unopposed by gravity, lifts not only the waters of the ocean, but also the earth. This opens fissures in sea bottoms where the water, filtering in abundance, is turned into superheated steam and explodes, thereby lifting enormous masses of solid material which begin to oscillate, and that is the earthquake."

SHIPYARDS SALE ALONG ESTUARY BRINGS $370,000

Alameda Liberty Site and Plant Sold at Auction By Shipping Board.

A total of approximately $370,000 was realized in the sale by auction yesterday of the Liberty Shipyard site and plant at Alameda. The sale was held by direction of the United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet Corporation and the property was auctioned off piecemeal after a bid of $405,000 for the entire site had been refused by the auctioneers as insufficient.

The individual bids received yesterday will have to be approved by the government before the sale can be ratified.

The auctioneers announced that the site had been bought originally by the government for $1,060,000, and that approximately another two million dollars had been expended in filling in the land.

Bids submitted varied from $650 per acre to $6450, according to location. All the residential property lying outside the gates of the plant also was disposed of at prices running from $230 per lot to $710.

The entire site is 168 acres in extent and includes a 1000-foot warehouse and other buildings.

Strife of Couple Is Transferred Here

With the scene transferred to Oakland from Martinez, Mrs. Georgia Scott and her husband, Herman H. Scott, foreman for the Mountain Copper company, Martinez, will continue their court battle for a divorce and custody of their daughter, Florence, aged 1.

To date the proceedings have been marked with charges by the wife that her husband charged her with insanity, but she was acquitted; that he took her baby away from her and brought the infant to Oakland and that he called her names, struck her and was guilty of other cruelties.

Denying these allegations, Scott accuses his wife of threats and attempts upon his life, declaring that she once wounded him with a butcher knife and on another occasion declared: "I said I would get Meyers (a former husband) and I got him and I will get you."

Death in Family Gala Occasion, Police Are Told

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—A death in the family of Mrs. Tillie Klimek or Mrs. Nellie Sturmer, alleged perpetrators of a dozen poisonings, was a gala occasion, neighbors told police authorities. They are accused of killing relatives to collect insurance. Prosecutor William McLaughlin gathered evidence that while one of Mrs. Klimek's husbands was ill, she sat beside his bed sewing on a mourning garb and assuring the patient he would not live.

"I found that Mrs. Klimek bought a coffin for $30 and it was a bargain, while her husband was still alive," McLaughlin stated. "After his death, she played dance music on the phonograph in the room where the body lay."

The women will appear for preliminary hearing on November 23. The evidence will be presented to the grand jury Friday.

U. C. Students Join Stadium Site War

BERKELEY, Nov. 15.—A petition calling upon the city council to endorse plans as offered by the university regents for the construction of a stadium in Strawberry canyon, and objecting to a West Berkeley site, was placed in circulation today on the campus.

The West Berkeley site referred to in the petition is a block of land at Sacramento and Rose streets, owned by Councilman George Schmidt and his sister, Miss Sophie Schmidt, which has been advanced as a "logical" location for the big college bowl.

The stadium plans will come up for final decision at Friday's meeting of the council, at which time the student petition is expected to be presented.

TWO SUSPECTED OF BURGLARY ARE SHOT BY POLICE

Alleged Leader of Gang Surrenders; Two Others Wounded.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—Two burglar suspects were shot and another captured, when they were surrounded by police detectives in an apartment house at 247 Leavenworth street last night. One of the men, C. M. Finch, was shot through the groin, and was reported today to be in a critical condition.

The shooting of the two men and the capture of the third came as the result of a day and night watch kept by the authorities over room 37 in the apartment house since Sunday night.

Clarence T. Murray, the other wounded man, received a charge of buckshot in the arm. He was shot by Detectives Wall and Earl Roney when he refused to surrender. John Wilson, said to be the leader of the trio, gave himself up to the officers.

The detectives said they had advance information that the three men suspected of a long list of burglaries in San Francisco, were in Eureka, where they held up a soft drink establishment last Wednesday and were about to return to this city.

Wilson was the first to arrive at the rendezvous. When halted by the detectives, he showed no resistance. A Pullman car ticket of yesterday's date from Eureka was found in his pocket.

When Murray reached the place he refused to surrender and drew an automatic pistol, when the charge of buckshot from Wall's gun blew the pistol from his hand and shattered his right arm. Finch appeared last and, when he reached for his gun, was shot by Detective Tatham.

In the room occupied by the men before they went north, according to the police, a large amount of loot stolen from three San Francisco apartment houses, was recovered.

At the Central Emergency hospital Finch declared that he had no connection with Wilson and Murray and was only a casual visitor at the Leavenworth apartment house. He claimed that he lived at the Lankershim hotel, but police stated that they can disprove this.

Gas Appliance Week a Success

Gas Appliance Week is meeting with success. The public is responding and dealers are enthusiastic, according to M. J. Purcell, general manager of M. Stulsaft Co.'s heating department.

"This week brings a special message to every man or woman who burns a fire," says Purcell, a message of comfort, convenience and economy. During the last few years gas equipment has made just as many marked improvements as other mechanical lines. The old objections to heating with gas fire are as much out of date today as graandmother's gray shawl."

"An abundance of pure, healthful heat for the bedroom, living room, or bathroom may be had at the touch of a match any time, without any odor whatsoever, if a vent is provided when the apparatus is installed. The vent carries off all the by-products of combustion, and every bit of danger and unpleasantness from odorous gas is entirely eliminated."

"The temperate climate makes gas heat particularly convenient and economical in California, because heat is seldom required more than an hour or two in the morning and evening in one or two rooms. Gas fire is ideal for such occasions, because heat can be had so quickly in exactly the rooms that need to be warmed without the trouble, delay or expense of heating the whole house."

"DEAD" BOY YELLS.

Prince in New Film at American

RODOLPH VALENTINO, greatest screen racial interpreter, who has another remarkable role in his latest picture, "The Young Rajah," which opens today at the American.

New Valentino Picture, "The Young Rajah," Proving Another Notable Hit

A Hindu murder plot extending its strange tentacles to Newport's millionaire colony in America serves as the basis of Rodolph Valentino's new and masterful picture, "The Young Rajah," which opened today at the American theater.

Valentino has one of the most difficult and versatile roles of his celebrated career in his newest production and his impressive love-making and distinguished acting are reminiscent of his famous role created in "The Sheik."

In the story a young Indian prince is brought to America under mysterious circumstances and grows into American manhood ignorant of his Oriental blood. He helps defeat Yale in an intercollegiate boat race and holds a prominent post in society affairs of Newport until the call of the East brings him back to his native India. Valentino in the robes and jewels of the Indian rajah moves with pronounced grace and dominates a memorable screen love affair.

"The Young Rajah" is being presented at the American daily at 11:50, 1:45, 3:40, 5:30, 7:30 and 9:00.—Advertisement.

MARRIED BLISS FOR 50 YEARS IS CELEBRATED

Thomas McConnell, Aged Sailor, and Wife Hold Party on Anniversary.

"Inside the breakers," after a seafaring life filled with innumerable hardships and dangers, Thomas McConnell, mariner and ship mechanic, celebrated with Mrs. McConnell yesterday the fifty-second anniversary of their marriage, surrounded by twenty-one descendants and other relatives.

For the past forty years, McConnell has been active in wooden ship construction on both sides of the bay. For seventeen of these years, he was president of the Shipwrights' Association of San Francisco, and until two years ago, when he retired from active work, he was a director of repairs on the Pacific Mail Company's liners.

Prior to his coming here, however, McConnell followed the sea in the days of the old windjammers and of ship's officers who beat discipline into their crews with belaying pins. To the wedding guests gathered about him yesterday McConnell told tales of the sea almost as strange as that related by the other "Ancient Mariner."

He told of having seen sailors pursued high into a ship's rigging by brutal officers, and attacked so ferociously that they were forced to jump into the sea in mid-ocean. He saw men thrown to the deck and kicked in the face for punishment, and served under two skippers who later served time in San Quentin for their brutality at sea.

Several times McConnell escaped shipwreck almost by a miracle, once in a barkentine, off the Cape of Good Hope and again, in the same ship, in a dense fog off the coast of Delaware. Once McConnell's ship went down in the Indian Ocean with all on board—but McConnel was saved by a premonition of his wife, who had induced him to stay at home from the voyage.

McConnell and his wife were married in 1871 in their birthplace—the seaport town of Waterford, Ireland. There McConnell's father operated a small shipyard, where the youth learned his trade and his love for the sea.

Among those who were present at yesterday's anniversary celebration were Mr. and Mrs. Frank McConnell, Frank McConnell Jr., Russell McConnell, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McConnell Jr., Larry McConnell, Mr. and Mrs. James McConnell, Miss Helen McConnell, and many others.

MEXICO PROTESTS CITIZEN'S DEATH AT HANDS OF TEXANS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The Mexican embassy has made representations to the state department against the alleged lynching of a Mexican, Elias Villareal Zarate, in Weslaco, Texas, last Saturday and asking guarantees for the Mexican consul in Hidalgo, Texas, whose life is said to have been threatened. According to the embassy's advices, Villareal Zarate was put in jail after a fight with an American and then was taken out and lynched, the authorities afterwards refusing a request of the Mexican consul that an investigation be made.

In its representations, the Mexican embassy is understood to point out that in the last few months several Mexicans have been killed in Texas with "responsibility of complicity of the authorities."

So far as is known there is no official report in Washington on the Weslaco case.

JAPAN RECEIVES DECISION UNLIKELY

TOKYO, Nov. 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—Japanese newspapers have just printed the decision of the United States Supreme Court holding Japanese ineligible for naturalization as American citizens. No comment was made, except in the case of the Hochi Shimbun, which said it was impossible for Japan to do anything, because that would mean interfering in American domestic affairs. "For the time, Japan will just have to look on," added the paper.

Berkeley Elks to Hold Athletic Show

The program includes boxing, wrestling, motion pictures of the Dempsey-Carpentier fight, and other entertainment. Vincent McHale, chairman of the committee in charge, announces that the public is welcome.

CARQUINEZ SPAN IS ADVISED BEFORE COLONEL DEAKYNE

Suspension Bridge Over Straits Favored in Place of Ferry System.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—A hearing on the application of the Rodeo-Vallejo Ferry Company to place a bridge across Carquinez straits, between Morrow Cove and Vallona, was held yesterday before Colonel Herbert Deakyne, United States army engineer, at the Customs House. The hearing was attended by delegations from Contra Costa, Solano, Napa and Sonoma counties, all of whom were unanimously in favor of a suspension bridge to take the place of the present ferry system, which was conceded to be insufficient to accommodate the ever-growing traffic across the straits. In this connection it was declared by Aven J. Hanford, president of both the Golden Gate and Rodeo-Vallejo Ferry companies that the traffic on the ferries no wamounts to 1,000,000 passengers and 400,000 cars annually, which is about four times as much as it was some years ago.

OTHER BRIDGE PROPOSALS.

In addition to the Morrow Cove-Vallona plan, the following five proposals to build a bridge at other points on the straits were read into the record:

1—Dillon Point Development Company's bridge at Dillon Point.

2—The San Francisco Transit Company's bridge one mile above Dillon Point.

3—Captain John G. Little, U. S. Army Engineer Corps, Fort Scott, proposal to erect a bridge from Oleum to Vallejo.

4—Captain Little's proposal to erect a bridge from Hartinez to Benicia.

5—Captain Little's proposal to erect a bridge from Antioch to Sherman Island main land.

Opposition against the Morrow Cove-Vallona plan was voiced by sugar companies owning plants above the proposed bridge site at Crockett. The California-Hawaiian Sugar Refinery, was one of the objectors, and Captain C. W. Saunders of the Matson Navigation company, whose ships carry sugar to the Crockett refineries, described a bridge at this point as "unwise and dangerous to navigation on an ebb tide."

George Rolph, general manager of the California-Hawaiian Sugar Company, said in opposing the bridge location at this point, that it would be practically impossible to land ships at his company's docks. He urged that the bridge site be moved beyond the refineries

DEPENDS PROPOSED SITE.

Rear-Admiral J. S. McKean, commandant at the Mare Island navy yard, spoke in defense of the proposed site, and urged favorable action on the ferry company's application. In minimizing the objections brought forward by the opposition, Admiral McKean pointed out that a much larger marine traffic passes through much narrower channels than Carquinez Straits elsewhere. He said that the proposed bridge would have a main span of 1600 feet, which would allow 1500 feet for navigation purposes. Admiral McKean added:

"What we want is a land connection between Northern and Central California—a connection that is not all sailing. By this route there is a proposed saving of 4.8 miles over other proposed routes. In time of emergency, thinking in terms of the United States government, time is the big element. A bridge at this point would mean a great deal to Vallejo and the navy yard. It would encourage better and more homes, and would help bring us the skilled mechanics we need."

Mayor James Roney, Secretary C. S. Stanworth of the Chamber of Commerce, and Assemblyman Robert B. McPherson, all of Vallejo, spoke in favor of the ferry companies' application and G. Walker of the Oakland Merchants' Exchange advocated the "one-bridge" principle. H. D. Williams of the Napa Chamber of Commerce and C. E. Bunshoe of the Santa Rosa chamber also emphasized the necessity of bridging the straits.

Recommendations on the matter will be forwarded to Washington.

Debut of Abby Rockefeller Delays Church Dedication

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—In order not to conflict with the debut of Miss Abby Rockefeller, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller Jr., the dedication reception of the Park Avenue Baptist Church, recently completed, has been postponed from Wednesday evening, November 22, to the next night. The church, including the site, cost $1,500,000 and the Rockefeller family gave dollar for dollar for every other contribution made to the building fund.

The date of the dedication was set while Mr. Rockefeller Jr. was in Battle Creek, Michigan, recently. Upon his return he learned of the date and remarked, "Well, that's too bad. We're going to have company at our house that evening and I can't come."

A hurried meeting of the trustees was held and the reception date changed.

Girl Judaens Will Give Theater Party

NATIONAL PARKS TO BE KEPT AS NATURE SCHOOLS

Superintendents Meet in Yosemite; California Resort Called Leader

YOSEMITE, Nov. 15.—Full utilization of the national parks as nature's greatest laboratories of natural history is planned by the national park service, according to a statement made by Arno B. Cammerer, its acting director, in a speech before the conference of park superintendents and other government officials. Much has been done already in the establishment of museums free nature guide service, wild flower shows and information bureaus but still more will be done through Congressional appropriations as funds are available, he said.

"Some of the species of wild life formerly crowding the hills and plains of the West are making their last stand in the national parks," Cammerer said. "We must protect these areas against commercial aggression if we are to preserve wild flowers, giant Sequoias, buffalo, moose and beaver for future generations. These areas are large in themselves but small in comparison with the vastness of the country or even with the remaining public lands, and they can be preserved without retarding national progress."

Yosemite was named as the "leader among parks" in developing educational possibilities, delegates to the conference said. Ansel F. Hall, naturalist of the park, told the delegates that 64,000 visitors inspected the museum and flower shows last summer and hundreds attended popular scientific lectures given free in connection with the University of California. A nature guide service was furnished free to other hundreds who desired to make trips afield to study flowers, birds and animals, he said.

Walton, former banker and rancher of Yuba City and Marysville, who died in Oakland on October 31, without leaving a will, has been filed on behalf of the widow, Mrs. Hattie S. Walton, 526 Lakeshore avenue, by Attorneys Harrison and Price.

The amount of the estate is in excess of $10,000 but most of Walton's holdings were distributed to his children some years ago, it is reported. The children are: Leslie W., Bostonia; Will M., 440 Geary street, San Francisco; L. A., F. S., Stanley and Guy L. Walton, all of Yuba City, and Mrs. Nyda Holcomb, 360 Chicago avenue, Oakland, and Mrs. Eda Taylor, Chico, daughters.

The speakers of the evening will be Rev. B. O. Colgrove of the Alameda County Anti-Saloon League and Franklin Hitchborn of Santa Clara, who will discusse a number of legislative measures.

How individual executors can protect themselves

AN INDIVIDUAL who had been named as Executor under a will was unfrotunate enough to have some bonds of the Estate stolen from him. He was faced with the necessity of making good the loss, or of letting his bondsmen do it for him. This embarrassment could have been avoided.

Individual Executors and Administrators can relieve themselves of the burden of caring for personal property belonging to an Estate, by depositing such property with the Trust Department of this bank which acts as Corporate Trustee, or Depositary.

Such things as cash, jewelry, notes, mortgages, contracts, stocks, bonds, etc., can be impounded in this manner and the Executor's surety bond reduced correspondingly, thereby effecting a considerable saving to the Estate.

Consult your attorney regarding the functions of a Corporate Trustee, or Depositary and consider the advisability of naming the Trust Department of this bank to act for you in that regard.

Refusing Million, Heads of Passion Play Beg $27,500

CHICAGO, Nov. 15 (By the Associated Press).—Financial aid for the citizens of Oberammergau is sought in a letter from William Rutz, burgomaster of the Bavarian community, and published today in the Chicago Tribune. The winter needs of the villagers can be cared for with $27,500, Burgomaster Rutz said. He pointed out that the citizens of Oberammergau had refused a $1,000,000 offer from an American motion picture company to film the Passion Play.

"In refusing to sell our play to an American film company for $1,000,000, a sacrifice demanded by loyalty to the vow made to our fathers, our citizens have denied themselves individually," he wrote.

The "Mother of Medicine."

Isis, the Queen and afterwards the Goddess, was called the "Mother of Medicine." In ancient Egypt, centuries before Christ, women were skilled in medicine. They knew the great value of medicinal plants.

Hippocrates, the "Father of Medicine," many centuries later, knew less of the merit of vegetable drugs than did the women of ancient times.

Lots of Eggs, All Winter

Flock of 46 Hens Laid 39 Eggs a Day. Costs Nothing to Try.

"Have been using Don Sung since Jan. 1st. My 46 hens are very healthy, and the extreme cold weather doesn't seem to affect the egg production at all. Last week they averaged 39 eggs a day. My pure-blooded flock is the center of attraction in this neighborhood."—Alice M. Dieffenderfer, Hughesville, Pa.

If you think your hens can't lay as well, right through the winter months, you're making an expensive mistake. A little Don Sung in their feed costs but a trifle, and shows a big difference in the egg record. Let us, at our risk, start your hens laying now. Here's our offer:

Give Don Sung to 15 hens. Then watch results for 30 days. If it doesn't show you a big increase in eggs, if it doesn't pay for itself and a good profit besides, tell us and your money will be promptly refunded.

Don Sung (Chinese for egg laying)-acts directly on the egg-laying organs, and is beneficial in every way. It makes hens healthy and happy. They scratch and sing. Pullets develop earlier. The whole flock lays regularly in any season, in any weather, when eggs are scarce and high.

Can you afford to ignore the wonderful reports you are hearing from Don Sung users everywhere? Why not let us show you the same results, with your flock? Don Sung is no trouble to use. It costs nothing to try. All we ask is a chance to prove our claims, at our risk. Get Don Sung from your local dealer, or send 50 cents for package by mail prepaid (large size, $1, holds three times as much). Burrell-Dugger Company, 214 Columbia Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind.

"Every Picture Tells a Story"

Does Every Day Bring the Same Old Backache?

Are You Lame and Stiff; Worn-Out and Discouraged? It's Time, Then, You Looked to Your Kidneys.

ARE you dragging around, day after day, with a dull, [illegible] ing. You are nervous and irritable and in- you feel old and slow, tired-out and dispirited? Do you wonder why you are so miserable—so utterly lacking in vim and vitality?

Then you should give some attention to your kidneys. Your kidneys are the flood-filters. When they weaken, the [illegible] on blood and nerves is quickly apparent.

Your back aches, you feel dull and lifeless—sharp pains stab you at every sudden move. You have daily headaches, with spells of dizziness and the kidney action is apt to be distressing.

And all too often these warnings are neglected until some serious kidney sickness develops.

Why let yourself go from bad to worse? Treated promptly, these early disorders are usually easy to correct. Neglected, there is danger of gravel, dropsy or Bright's disease.

Don't risk serious kidney illness. Give your weakened kidneys the help they need. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have brought health and strength to thousands. They should help you. Ask your neighbor!

"Use Doan's," Say These Oakland Folks:

H. E. RILEY, R. R. Foghorn, 1171 Twelfth Street, says:
"My kidneys were in such bad shape I was refused insurance. The kidney secretions passed irregularly and were of a thick, cloudy appearance. I became run down and weak. I was examined for life insurance but did not pass the tests. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they cured me of all signs of kidney trouble and I have since passed the most rigid examinations and not a trace of kidney trouble was indicated."

MRS. J. MILLER, 478 Forty-third street, says:
"Kidney trouble was making life miserable for me. My back ached so I could hardly sleep. My kidneys ached and their weakness caused annoyance. Black specks floated before my eyes and nervous, dizzy spells came over me. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of every symptom of this complaint and it has never returned." (Statement given April 23, [illegible])
On January 14, 1920, Mrs. Miller added: "I haven't had a sign of kidney trouble for three years and give the credit to Doan's."

LIQUOR SLEUTHS MAKE BIG RAID

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—Twenty-six soft drink establishments in a district bordering on the Presidio military reservation were visited, thirty suspected bootleggers arrested and thousands of gallons of whisky and wine seized in a number of raids by squads of prohibition and army officers last night. In one establishment alone, the raiding parties found more than 1200 gallons of wine and whisky, which was confiscated and trucked to a government warehouse to be held as evidence.

The raids were conducted at the instigation of Major General Charles G. Morton, commander of the Ninth Corps Area, and Samuel F. Rutter, federal prohibition director of California

Lord Mountbatten Gives Hollywood Good Reputation

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Lord Louis Mountbatten, of England, and his bride, are back in New York today after a six weeks' tour of the United States.

Asked if he saw any wickedness at Hollywood, he grinned and said: "We looked for the wickedness the first thing. We failed to find any, but I have to say we arrived at seven in the morning and in a fog."

Both Lord and Lady Mountebatten said the Grand Canyon was the greatest sight of their American tour. They expect to attend the Army-Navy football game and will return to England next month.

HORSE FOUNTAIN TO KEEP SITE

Approving the plan to cut a new street across the park at the foot of Excelsior avenue, so that this hilly highway will be less dangerous, the Board of Park Directors yesterday resolved to request the City Council to offer the triangular property cut from the park as a site for a branch library building for residents in the Grand avenue territory.

The triangle will be made by Lake Shore boulevard, Park street and the new street cut across the old park. The park directors assert that the library board might need a new sight, and a branch library is hoped for to beautify the grounds

The park directors also decided to extend Walker avenue to Grand, cutting across a small park. The project for "rounding" certain sharp-turn streets also was approved.

The plea of the Up-Town Association and others to remove the Latham horse-drinking fountain at Broadway, Telegraph and Sixteenth street was turned down. The old landmark will remain.

"The fountain was given years ago in good faith to the city," say the park directors, "and in good faith we will keep it. It is true that its removal would give a little more parking space, but the fountain is an addition to the beauty of the city and does no harm, even though horses are in the minority and their convenience is less necessary."

CURTAIN CALLS

By WOOD SOANES

FARCE has been eliminated from the entertainment diet of Broadway and its place has been taken by the wholesome and homely forms of comedy drama, the mystery melodrama and the artistic novelty.

This is the impression received by George Ebey, managing director of the Fulton Theater, who has just returned to Oakland after a month or more of play-shopping in Manhattan. He comes back with a host of new plays in his brief case

"There is only one farce on Broadway and that, in the parlance of the theater, is a 'flop,'" said Ebey chatting about his experiences and impressions "I refer to 'Banco,' with Alfred Lunt and Lola Fisher It is a deodorized French farce by Saboir, and it is still salacious despite Clare Kummer's attempt to cleanse it with white washed wit.

"This is a fair sample of the change in atmosphere on Broadway over night. Last season 'Banco' would have been a riot. Today it is a frost. Even Avery Hopwood, the father of farce, has changed his playwrighting tactics and his 'Why Men Leave Home' is a theatrical sermon

"The best show on Broadway? Unquestionably 'Loyalties,' by John Galsworthy, a twentieth century Shylock beautifully written and splendidly acted by an all-English cast. Next? 'So This Is London,' by Arthur Goodrich and George Cohan, but far behind 'Loyalties.'

"'The Greenwich Village Follies' is the best musical show of the year and our own Jack Sheehan is a veritable ten-strike in the role of the burlesque interlocutor Paul Harvey, too, is creating a lot of comment for his work in 'The Awful Truth,' and William Hanley, a U. C. boy, who made his debut at the Fulton a few months ago, is doing the finest bit of acting in 'La Tendresse,' Henry Miller and Miss Chatterton not excepted.

"All together Broadway today is a strange place. Shakespeare is being revived on an elaborate scale—the Theater Guild plays are meeting with favor, and the salacious farce has been relegated to the ash-heap. It all marks a step forward for the theater and puts to rout all rumors about the decline and fall of the American theater We are advancing with tremendous strides"

Long Runs Over in L. A.

Theater-goers in Los Angeles have finally been accorded a partial change of program in the legitimate field. Last week Thos Wilkes took 'The Rear Car' off the boards at the Majestic Theater after fourteen weeks. He replaced it with "The Champion" also featuring Nana Bryant and Cliff Thompson

Oliver Morosco likewise made a change. He removed "Abie's Irish Rose" after thirty-six successful weeks and presented "The Boomerang." Had the Irish Rose continued another week it would have equaled the record set some seasons back by "Civilian Clothes" At that the show was still playing to good business when it was withdrawn.

At the Eagan Theater, however, Maude Fulton continues with "The Humming Bird," which has held the attention of the theater-goers for twenty-one weeks This is not the initial presentation of "The Humming Bird," either. It was offered several seasons ago and had a run. Miss Fulton is planning to withdraw it in the near future, however.

EXITS AND ENTRANCES

At the Century Theater this week shows the new king of Greece engaged in the ceremonial business of taking charge of things. After the ceremonies he struts down the marble steps and is driven away in a small car of popular vintage.

"Persons Unknown," the most recent E Ray Goetz offering, has the distinction of having set a new record for 'clops' on Broadway The show lasted six performances Up to now the record was held by "Dolly Jordan," which was withdrawn after five days—seven performances.

Singer's Midgets are due for a return to Oakland This time it will be on the Orpheum circuit.

George Sidney is playing his original role in "Welcome Stranger," supported by the McLaughlin players of Cleveland. Henry Shumer will play the role here next week at the Fulton.

Marjorie Gateson will be the prima donna in Morosco's production of "The Little Kangaroo," in which James T Powers, the millionaire comedian, will be starred on Broadway.

Wilda Bennett is no longer the only star in "The Lady in Ermine" Walter Woolf, who sings the role of Colonel Belovar, made such an impression that he has been moved up and is now co-featured with Miss Bennett.

* * *

Mrs. Thomas Whiffen, who played in "Just Suppose" at the Fulton, has been engaged for "Steve," the play in which Eugene O'Brien will be starred by Geo. M Gatts.

Crane Wilbur is playing the role of the newspaper man in "The Monster" He assumed the part after the conclusion of the New York engagement which lasted for some fourteen weeks.

"The Bootleggers," a comedy of the moment, will open at the Thirty-ninth street theater on November 20. It is the work of Will A. Page and is not the same show which played in the west some years ago with Jack Sheehan featured.

Henry Walthall has deserted the movies and is rehearsing "The Unknown," by Ethel Clifton. It was tried out in Los Angeles

TWENTY SEASONS AGO TODAY

A new dramatic stock company is making its debut at the Alcazar Theater in San Francisco. Frank Bacon will play the leading role in "A Stranger in a Strange Land," the opening offering.

GOOD GRACIOUS! GERALDINE GIVES PAGES TO PUPILS

Yes, Get Tribune On Sunday and Read Two Pages of Inflammatory Stuff.

ARE YOU A DODDERING DERELICT OF TWENTY-SEVEN?

OR A HESITATING HAS-BEEN AT THIRTY?

YES, YOU ARE

YOU MAY NOT THINK YOU ARE

BUT YOU ARE ALL THE SAME

No, this is not an advertisement for a new brand of Pulpitating Purple Pills, nor is it an advance announcement of a "Success in Sixty Somersaults" correspondence course. It's something far more important, namely a DEADLY WARNING that on next Sunday morn, the nineteenth day of November, there will appear in the OAKLAND TRIBUNE two whole pages of Inflammatory Information composed and edited by THE STUDENTS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, THEMSELVES ALONE WHO WILL WRITE ON 'RAZZING AND JAZZING," "THE RISING GENERATION AND THE TOTALLY DECAYED," WHICH LATTER MEANS ANYTHING OVER THE PINCHBACK AGE.

For one day they will take over the Geraldine Department, and if there's anything left of the department after they've taken it over we'll radio President Harding that he can declare a national Thanksgiving as per usual But the chances are strong that for once the turkeys will get a day off Bethatasitmay, this column is about to see ructions And if you don't get the paper next Sunday morn it will be the saddest dime you've ever saved

The Easiest Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it This destroys it entirely To do this, just get about four ounces of plain ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring, use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.—Advertisement.

Which?

PURE WATER, or WATER Made PURE?

Here is a matter of importance to you:

Would you rather drink water that had always been pure, or would you as soon drink water that had been polluted and made pure by chemical process?

IF YOU AGREE with the officials of the East Bay Water Company that water which has been kept pure at its source, is preferred by artificial means, you will appreciate the value of the watershed lands and the care this Company takes in patroling them.

Just as the people rely upon the officers of the law to guard them, so do they look to this Company to protect them in the matter of the water supply. For this reason the East Bay Water Company maintains 42,000 acres of watershed lands and employs mounted patrolmen to keep them well groomed and safeguarded.

Please remember that the sanitary precautions taken by the Company are for your protection. The officers are vested with a grave responsibility. They would be blamed if any epidemic should develop as a result of impure water.

Co-operate with those who are striving to protect you. Appreciate the watershed lands and respect the Company's rules when on its property.

Auto Pilgrimage To Diablo Planned

An automobile pilgrimage to which the public is invited is planned for next Sunday, and the run is to be to the top of Mount Diablo, announced Harry G. Williams of Oakland today. Williams is president of the Mount Diablo state park council which made the arrangements for next Sunday's trip, and is also Grand President of the Native Sons of [illegible] which has taken the lead in urging the establishing of a great outdoor park on Mount Diablo.

"We who favor the creation of Mount Diablo Park would like to have more people get acquainted with the grandeur of the view that looks out from the crest of the central mountain of Central California," Williams said, "and that is why the general public will be welcome. When finished it will be a delightful resort for automobile parties.

"The Quist Mystery"—In today's [illegible] condition and it is expected that a great many machines will join in the tour, which takes a little more than two hours from Oakland.

Cruelty Charged In Divorce Suit

Donald R. Gillies, Berkeley manager of a telegraph company, has been sued for divorce in a complaint filed by Mrs. Phyllis M. Gillies who charges him with various outbursts of temper during which, she alleges, he used abusive language, struck her and on two occasions dragged her along the street.

She says she left her husband in October, 1921, when they lived in Portland, and came to her parents in Berkeley where a reconciliation was later effected.

Mrs. Gillies gives the date of their marriage in Oakland as May 14, 1921, their separation as May 16, 1922, and asks for $75 a month alimony.

Not Only How Well—But How Much

GENERAL ELECTRIC CO. TWIN CONVENIENCE OUTLETS—Provide an extra outlet, facilitating the use of decorative portable lamps, and furnishing convenient connections for vacuum cleaner, glow heater and other appliances. Double the usefulness of the wiring installation without sacrificing the artistic effect. Furnished in brushed brass or special finishes. Receives all standard plugs.

It is no longer necessary to tell women of the many advantages of doing their housework electrically.

That electrical appliances of standard make can accomplish household tasks quicker, better, and more economically than hand methods is now beyond question. But—just how much convenient service you may reasonably expect from your vacuum cleaner, washer, ironer, toaster, percolator, glow heater, etc., depends to a great extent upon the way your house is wired.

How many of your rooms have convenience outlets where you can connect your electrical appliances and floor lamps? Is your electrical system made up of standard materials, installed by competent workmen? Is it complete?

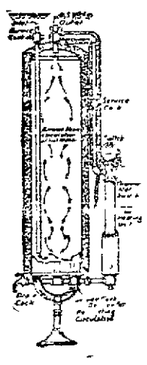

These are important questions to ask before you build, buy or rent a home.

You will find the right answer in the qualified electrical contractor—one who employs good workmanship, uses standard materials, and charges fair prices. Cut-rate contracting service is never economical. You seldom save more than one-half of one per cent—$50.00 on a $10,000.00 house—and you are likely to spend five times that amount later in replacing poor workmanship and sub-standard materials and supplying additional outlets and wall switches.

The Pacific States Electric Company, the largest distributor of electrical merchandise on the Pacific Coast, provides in its "check" seal a helpful guide both to quality in materials and appliances, and to the competence of the electrical contractor-dealer who sells and installs them.

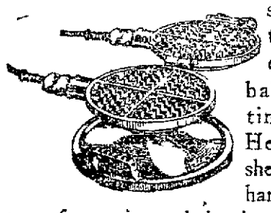

This seal identifies a complete line of standard electrical merchandise, chosen from the markets of the world, inspected and certified as standard. It is distributed through responsible contractor-dealers who are qualified in every way to give you the kind of service you have a right to expect.

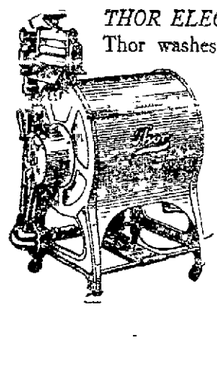

The electrical appliances shown on this page, together with other standard electrical products, certified by the "check" seal, are described in our new booklet, "The Electrical How for Householders". You will enjoy this booklet, with its many practical suggestions for the convenient and economical utilization of electricity in your home. It may be obtained free from any electrical contractor or dealer displaying this seal.

Convenient handles, hinges, etc. insure ease of operation and cleaning.

THOR ELECTRIC WASHING MACHINE—The Thor washes everything from fine laces to grimy overalls without any rubbing. It does the week's washing in half the time required by hand methods and eliminates all the hard work of hand rubbing and rinsing. The Thor is scientifically constructed and solidly made. You may safely entrust your fine glass and fragile china to the Walker. Has G-E motor.

G-E TUMBLER SWITCHES—The G-E Tumbler switch is the latest device for controlling circuits, and stands up better than any other device made for a similar purpose. It is self-indicating—up and it's on, down and it's off. It can be operated with the arm or elbow should the hands be full and is supplied in both flush and surface types.

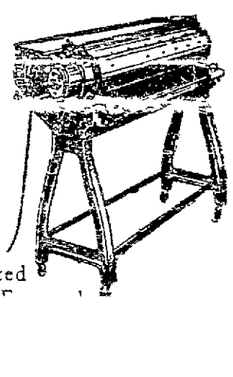

WAYNE ELECTRIC BELL RINGERS (TRANSFORMER)—The Wayne bell-ringing transformer, a General Electric product, eliminates dry batteries. It is connected with the household light circuit and adjusts the current to the requirements of electric bell systems. Once installed the transformer functions continuously at a negligible cost to the owner.

HOTPOINT RADIANT HEATER—A heater of the glowing coil, open fire place type which satisfactorily supplements the permanent cold-weather heating installations. Replaceable heating units, encased in polished nickeled steel reflectors which throw heat into the room. Built of pressed steel, black enameled; trimmed with highly polished nickel.

THOR ELECTRIC IRONER—Does the average family ironing in about one-fifth the time it takes to do it by hand—and does it better. It handles everything from household linen to lingerie. The cost of current is about 5 cents an hour. No special skill is required to operate the Thor. The control is automatic and there is no complicated with G-E motor.

Why Corns?

just say

Blue-jay

to your druggist

The simplest way to end a corn is Blue-jay. A touch stops the pain instantly. Then the corn loosens and comes out. Made in a colorless liquid (one drop does it!) and in thin plasters. The action is the same.

AD MEN URGED TO USE COLORS IN ADVERTISING

Meanings of Various Shades Are Explained By Guest At Weekly Luncheon.

"Say it with colors" was the advice given to the members of the Oakland Advertising Club yesterday by Harry T. Watson, San Francisco expert, who was the guest of honor at the club's weekly luncheon at the Hotel Oakland.

"Yellow is the liveliest of all colors," he pointed out, "and denotes youth, buoyancy, cheerfulness—according to the particular association in which it is used. Red is a hot color and stands for mental activity, strength, force, enthusiasm. It has aptly been called the blood of human interest. Pink carries red's suggestion of warmth, but adds the element of delicacy. Blue, the opposite of red, is a cold color, and denotes impartial justice, honesty, truth, sincerity. Green is a combination of yellow and blue, and therefore of liveliness and coolness, and suggests that which is refreshing. Purple, composed of red and blue, has been called the ashes of color and is stately, dignified, mysterious, weird.

"So, if you want to suggest any of these qualities in the article you are advertising, use the appropriate color and the desired suggestion will be carried to the reader without his realizing it."

Watson also described to the Ad Club members how to determine what colors best "go together."

"Having selected the color you want to use," he said, "look steadily at it for a moment, then look quickly at something white. You will see there, in a sort of haze, the color that best harmonizes with the other, and that will set it off to the best advantage. That is its true complementary color. In the case of yellow the complementary color will be purplish blue; of red, the complementary color will be green, and of blue, it will be orange."

Another speaker on yesterday's program was Jack Gillespie, field secretary of the Typothetae of America, whose subject was "The Educational Work of the National Organization and Its Value to Buyers of Printing."

DO you know that by far the larger number of the common ailments of women are not surgical ones; that is they are not caused by any serious displacement, tumor, growth, or other marked change?

DO you know that these common ailments produce symptoms that are very much like those caused by the more serious surgical conditions?

DO you know that many women and young girls suffer needlessly from such ailments? More than that, they endanger their health by allowing their ailments to continue and develop into something serious.

If treated early, that is, within a reasonable time after the first warning symptoms appear, serious conditions may often be averted. Therefore, at the first appearance of such symptoms as periodic pains, irregularities, irritability and nervousness, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be taken. It is prepared with accuracy and cleanliness from medicinal plants. It contains no narcotics nor poisonous drugs, and can be taken with perfect safety.

The Vegetable Compound acts on the conditions which bring about these symptoms in a gentle and efficient manner. The persistent use of it shows itself in the disappearance, one after another, of the disagreeable symptoms. In a word, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound acts as a natural restorative, relieving the present distress and preventing more serious trouble.

Uncle Wiggily

by Howard R. Garis

There was no fish in it

UNCLE WIGGILY GOES FISHING

JACKIE BOW WOW, the little puppy dog boy, came running to Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow one morning, all out of breath. His tongue was hanging from his mouth. I mean, of course, that Jackie was out of breath, and it was his tongue that was hanging from his mouth—not the bungalow's. Gracious! I hope you don't imagine for one moment that Uncle Wiggily's bungalow had a tongue!

"What's the matter, Jackie?" asked Uncle Wiggily, as he saw the doggie boy panting, for he had run hard.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily! Can't you do something for Baby Bunty?" asked Jackie.

"Baby Bunty! What's the [illegible]" rabbit uncle in surprise. "Don't tell me the Fox or Wolf has caught her!"

"No, it isn't quite as bad as that," said Jackie. "But she's very sick and she's at our house and she wants a fish."

"Baby Bunty is ill and wants a fish!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily, in great surprise. "I never heard of such a thing! Of course I knew Baby Bunty was visiting at your house, Jackie," said the bunny, for the little rabbit girl "visited around," as school teachers did in the country years ago. "But, land sakes! She wants a fish! Did Dr. Possum tell her to take a fish instead of a pill?" asked the bunny.

"Oh, no, Uncle Wiggily; you have it all wrong!" laughed Jackie. "Baby Bunty is just ill and fussy, my mother says. Nothing we can do for Bunty seems to please her. She was crying when I came away, and she wants a fish."

"Why does she want a fish?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Just to look at," barked Jackie. "Baby Bunty says if she had a gold or silver or even a nickel-plated fish to swim around in a bowl of water near her bed she'd have something to look at and watch and she'd feel better. And may be she would, Uncle Wiggily."

"Maybe she would," agreed the bunny, thoughtful like.

"So my mother sent me over to ask if maybe you'd go get Baby Bunty a fish that we could put in a bowl of water so she could watch it swim around and flap its tail," spoke Jackie.

"Yes, I'll go and try to get Baby Bunty a fish," said the rabbit gentleman. "Of course it is rather late in the year to go fishing," Uncle Wiggily went on, "but I'll do my best. As we want to catch a fish alive, I'll get Nurse Jane's large flour sieve. We'll dip that in the water and bring up a fish in it, if we can find one swimming in the brook."

Off started Uncle Wiggily to catch a fish for Baby Bunty. Jackie, the puppy dog chap, went with Mr. Longears. Soon they reached the brook.

"Now you sit quietly on the bank, Jackie," spoke Uncle Wiggily, "so as not to scare the fish, and I'll see if I can dip up one or two in the flour sieve. But I'm afraid it's too late for gold or silver fish, though I may get an iron or copper one, and he laughed as he said this, for he was joking.

While Jackie sat on the bank, Uncle Wiggily dipped Nurse Jane's flour sieve in the brook again and again. Each time the water, but there was no fish in it.

"Baby Bunty will be so disappointed!" sighed Jackie, after a while.

"Well, I'm glad I'm not going to be disappointed!" snarled an ugly voice, and from behind the bushes sprang the Fuzzy Fox. "What are you doing here?" barked the Fox at Uncle Wiggily. "Tell me what you are doing before I nibble your ears."

"I am fishing," gently answered the rabbit uncle. "And perhaps," he said, "you would would like to catch a fish, Mr. Fox, before you nibble my ears." And Uncle Wiggily spoke thus because he had thought of a trick to play on the Fox.

"Yes, I'd like to catch a fish," snarled the Fox. "How can I?"

"Sit on the bank of the brook with your back to the water, and let the tip of your tail hang in the brook," said Uncle Wiggily. "A fish will swim along, it will see the tip of your tail in the water and think it is something good to eat. The fish will grab hold of your tail, and all you'll need to do is to pull your tail suddenly out of the water and the fish will come with it."

"I'll do it," said the Fox. He sat on the bank of the stream with his back to the brook and his tail hanging in. Then Uncle Wiggily waved his paw to Jackie. The little doggie boy slipped quietly into the brook above where the Fox sat and swam down under the water until he reached the tail of the bad chap. Then Jackie reached up and bit the tail of the Fox very hard.

"Oh, wow! Oh, what was that? Oh, my tail is bitten off! What kind of a fish was that?" howled the bad chap as he ran away.

"That was a sort of dog fish!" chuckled Uncle Wiggily, as Jackie crawled laughing from the brook. Then Uncle Wiggily dipped the sieve in the water again and caught a fine gold fish, which was taken to Baby Bunty. And when she saw the goldfish swimming around in a bowl of water Baby Bunty was so happy that she got well at once.

But the Fox had to sit on the bank for a long time, and if the telephone doesn't whistle at the postman and make him drop his letters so he doesn't know how to spell cat, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's wireless concert.

Listen, World!

SAY, World, aren't you getting weary of this rage for feminine beauty? I am. I'm sick, actually seasick of this landscape of lovely, liquid-eyed, languishing Lizzies. I'm weary of Voluptuous Vamps, Dazzling Dames, Chic Chickens, Maddening Maidens and Gorgeous Girls. And I'm actually pining to see a few common, ordinary, homely women once more.

I'm not so very old but I can well remember the time when if you were born with a plain, soft pine dining room set of features you let well enough alone and went in for good works instead of art. Most everybody then knew by the time they were four that they weren't going to be one of the World's Great Beauties. It wasn't regarded as a calamity. You didn't expect anything else. You were supposed to qualify along quite different lines. The only ladies who earned their living by being Sirens didn't go to your mother's Sewing Circle at all. Not at all. So you dug right in and became a person instead of a Work of Art. The results were not ravishing, perhaps, but they were useful and comfortable, and distinct. Women faces and women personalities were as distinct as men faces and men personalities are now distinct. Lacking the camouflage of cosmetics and costly coiffures, Mary Ann shone forth as an Individual. Perhaps you didn't like her, but at any rate you could tell her from the woman next door.

But now, Winsome Winnie leaps directly from the cradle to the drug store and begins to turn herself into a Cleopatra. You must be either beautiful or— But there isn't anything else. Everyone is beautiful, or thinks she is—or is trying to be. All other standards are as extinct as the dodo. You may be born with the complexion of a turnip, the disposition of a bell pepper and the shape of a summer squash—it matters not. Use Madame Mixem's Marvelous Mud Manipulator and you'll get 'em on the run, girls.

An' goshallishhooks, how tired I am of it! Oh, for those golden days when every woman wore her hair in a pug and the only cosmetic on the pantry shelf was the insect powder!

Here's one of the finest letters that ever came to the column. Unconsciously the writer reveals herself as that rare treasure, a mother who is still a human being.

"Dear Jerry:

"The Sunday TRIBUNE of October 8 just read and can't wait to add a little to your good comments. Being the mother of a husky family and giving more or less study to these questions I would like to add a bit to the discussion of 'how much does a child owe its parents?' I truly believe, Jerry, that if parents can rear their children to enter the game of life with a 'social consciousness'—that is, to consider their fellow man with the same thought and feeling they give their own personal selves I am sure there would be little cause for grief in this old world. For 'man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn' is as well known as the hills that surround us. On the other hand, parents can't expect constant attention from their children once they are striving for their goal. I've seen more than one young life spoiled in the beginning by the selfishness parading itself as motherhood. I try to make the children understand that if I can send them forth to enter life equipped so that they may be a betterment to this old sphere I feel that my work has been well done. Even if in that beloved work I am forgotten, if the busy world takes them from me completely, yet I know they are bettering that world even though it be in a small way, I shall be content.

"I tell you, Jerry, I feel this responsibility very keenly. I love my children and am enjoying their growing years so much. Yet I pray that I shall never fail to 'see the light'—for I know I am often silly and selfish—that I often blunder and fall in spite of all my trying. So I don't put myself on a pedestal of virtue. My kids know I, too, can be very human and frail. But they also know I feel and appreciate very, very deeply the great things that make life beautiful on this old earth. So if I am only more or less of a chum, and NOT the invincible 'mother'—the mother who NEVER makes a mistake, I know they are closer to me. For there is little that goes on in their life that I don't know. FOR IT IS MUCH EASIER TO TAKE OUR TROUBLES TO A [illegible]

"Now for a comment on the reading of books. I wouldn't tell [illegible] I agree with you about 'Three Soldiers,' for I've written you that before. But I wish to add an actual experience. I gave my 10-year-old lad the story of 'Mateo Falcone,' by Prosper Merimee. Of course it was in the translation and some of the real beauty of the story is lost. Yet from the standpoint of the short-story it is a real gem, even in [illegible] I don't mean 'sweet, good, pure books,' for they read and enjoy Dickens, Kipling, Stevenson—writers who depict life as it was or is—and life isn't always beautiful and simple by any means. Keep hammering away, Jerry, your work is beginning to show its good results. I for one, go ahead with far more confidence than I used to for I know in the main the truths of life are the only things worth while. When I read your page it gives me the help I need—to have 'the courage of my convictions.' Just yesterday I heard my eldest boy tell his playmate, 'Come, let's ask my mother—she'll explain it to us correctly, and she'll tell us the truth.' That was worth a whole month's trial of trying to make one dollar do the work of ten.

"Success, Jerry, and as ever,

"A FRIEND."

Most of those who replied to "Bitter" have been home people who found their happiness and the solution of their troubles right there. There is one, who like Bitter, found it unbearable, but who worked it out in her own way. You may not agree with her solution of the problem, but at least one truth is emphasized—"Everything in life worth having must be earned some way."

"Dear Geraldine:

"I read with interest and sorrow the letter signed by 'Bitter' for I am sure that her bitterness is not all caused by the baby, but because she doesn't like the conditions brought about by having the little dear which she thinks she would so readily give up, but in her heart knows, if conditions were otherwise she would keep her always near.

"Bitter, resents the conditions attendent on her home life, well once when I felt the same way. I came across a saying like this, 'You are just where you are, and in that position so long as you will it to be that way. You can get out of it just as soon as you make up your mind to do so.' Surprised, yes, but it is true, you can be just what you wish to be regardless of everyone and everything, for if you have the will you will find some way out. And I surely did.

"I had a child who was much younger then, and could not bear to have me out of her sight, but I arranged to have her cared for, and I worked for more than a year, and don't think it was easy, for many times I came home to a cross, disgruntled husband, for it is almost impossible to care for a home, baby, [illegible] and work. But I have since learned that men are not cross and disgruntled without a reason. It is generally the fact that they are not able to get all the things in life that they would like to have for their little families. Remember if you are worried, there is no doubt that he is worried far more.

"If Bitter wants a Victrola and auto, she can have them if she wants to and a lot of other things and work more than she ever dreamed. Everything in life worth having must be earned in some way. There are plenty of nurseries where he child will be most well cared for and given well balanced food, and clean little bed to sleep in, and the cost is very small, in many cases 25c a day.

"So I will again say 'Bitter is just where she is because she wills to be there.' Now let's hear from her in two years from now and let us all know if she has bought the Victrola and Automobile she wants so much. Don't say your husband won't let you work, he CAN'T STOP YOU IF YOU REALLY AND TRULY have a SPINE and are NOT a JELLY FISH, which your letter almost, but now quite, succeeds in making one think you are.

"I have had many good big helps from you Geraldine, and many a lesson also. Many thanks.

"MAXINE."

Father—Why can't you do something? If I should die, you'd have to beg for money.

Jubilee's Pardner

by Judd Mortimer Lewis

Illustrations by Edwine

It took all the teachers to come out and pull us off.

Wednesday morning, and I was glad I left my britches on. It was cold when I opened the window to let Jubilee down, and when I took the first breath of the outdoors air it felt like it was cutting the inside of my nose, it was so cold.

When I got the fires made, and got outdoors with the pail it was not quite daylight yet, because it takes the daylight longer to get here in the winter time, and it goes away sooner at night. I guess the daylight does not like the winter so very well. I do not like it so very well myself, but I have not got any place to go. I would like it all right if the snow would come down and it would freeze on the very first day of winter and stay froze to the end of winter, and then the next day after the end of winter it would be summer and a fella could go swimming again. But it spends about half the winter trying to make up its mind to be winter and the other half of it it spends trying to make up its mind to be summer, so it is not good skating or sliding hardly at all.

As soon as we had had breakfast and my mother had told me to be a good boy at school, I went out and me and Jubilee chased ourselves down to the pond. There was thin ice all over it, and the bunch was there skating stones across it, which is a lot of fun, because when you skate a stone across thin ice it kinda whistles. We would have tried it to see if it would hold us up, only Banty, who is the one we always try it with had not come yet. I threw a brick out on it, and it did not break through.

We stayed quite a while, and Hopper started to school because he is a crip and cannot run like the rest of us do when we are late. Then after a while we skun out for school and when we got on [illegible] that we seen a big [illegible] that we did not know had pulled Hopper's green and white sweater over Hopper's head and was trying to get it the rest of the way off, but Hopper had hooked his arms down in it and was hanging on.

When the fella seen us he let go of Hopper and skun out, and we did not catch him till he was in front of the school house. I palsted him first and then we all jumped on him, and it took all the teachers to come out and pull us off, and he got up and run, and we were all breathing hard and my lip was swole, though I did not know when I was hit. Mrs. Degiun said it was very commendable of us when she found out about it. We do not let anyone hit our crip. Even the Lost Bag of Tripe would fight before he would let anyone hit Hopper. I told about it at supper, and everyone but my aunt said we had done right. I pulled Ju[illegible] up and we went to bed feeling pretty good.

THE GOLDEN ROSE.

Once upon a time there was a king and queen. They were very lonely as they had no children. One day a child was born to them. The king and queen were very much delighted. It was a girl and they named it Juanita.

On her sixth birthday Juanita was very happy. She received many beautiful presents. Her mother had invited all the fairies to attend the feast. One of the fairies did not give Juanita a present although Juanita did not notice it. She was telling the fairies about her garden (as she liked flowers very much.) When one of the fairies asked her if she would show her the garden. Juanita was very much delighted on hearing the fairy say this and said she would gladly do it. They were walking down the path slowly Juanita describing to the fairy all the flowers, which she examined closely. Soon they came to a beautiful rose which Juanita said was surely the most beautiful in the garden. But oh, said Juanita if it would only last forever. The fairy pulled out the root of a pansy and touched the rose with it. When it instantly turned to gold. Juanita was very much surprised and said it was a wonderful present.

A WITCH'S FIRST RIDE IN AN AUTOMOBILE.

When Zerubel, the oldest of witches, first heard of automobiles, she only laughed, for she thought only on her broomstick she would go so fast. It happened one day that while Zerubel was coming out of the mountain side she happened to see one go whizing by. This aroused her curiostiyt very much.

After thinking about it for a long time she finally disguised herself as a modern, fashionable woman and went to the automobile shop and bought one. The man showed her how to run it and she thought it wonderful how it would go by just turning a key and pressing a pedal to stop it, so on and on she went over hills and valleys, on mountains and sometimes on roads (but she didn't stay on very long.) Though she was a witch she was almost frightened to death.

Suddenly before her stretched the great, broad blue Pacific ocean. She thought sure that was the end of Zerubel. Just as she got on the beach it gave a big jerk and stopped short. After she examined it for a long time she found out that she had run out of gas, and it was no magic word of hers. It was a good thing it did run out of gas, or the witches would all be in mourning.

[illegible] story without a single wireless in it, but it's a dandy:

DEER HOUND.

Deer Hound lay in excruciating pain as the deer hide thongs cut into his wrists and the sun went higher into the sky. Deer Hound is a boy of 15 years, and being brought up in the Canadian wilderness, as an Indian brave of the Beaver Tribe, had been captured by old Wolf of the Snows, and was going to be tortured until he told the plans of the Beaver Tribe, who were the enemies of old Wolf of the Snows, who was head of the Eagle Head Tribe.

Going to be tortured is a very serious thing, as some people think, but Deer Hound knew that even if he told, he would be killed, as well as most of his tribe, so he set his heart and told old Wolf of the Snows that he wouldn't tell him, if he had to die.

Just then an Indian hunter burst in upon them, and said that they were surrounded by the Beavers. Old Wolf of the Snows went straight up in the air, and straight through the flap in the tent—with an arrow in his neck. Of course, Deer Hound was glad, and for two things—one was the old Wolf of the Snows was dead, and the other was that he would be again a brave of the Beavers.

A young Indian maiden awaited the coming of her lover, whose name I think you already know—Deer Hound; and the name of the maiden was Deer Fawn.

They were happily married, and they have two young fawns, or children. The girl's name is Deer Fawn, and the boy's is Deer-Hound.

THE GAME.

It was on the Fourth of July. Eureka was to play Arcata for a $400 purse. They went on until about the eighth inning, when both teams scored a run. It was the last of the ninth inning, and Eureka was up. Arunspiger got up and made an out. Larkin got up. Strike one, ball one. Derr, the Arcata pitcher, wound up. He thought he was going to fool Larkin, on his spitball, but just as the ball whizzed across the plate there was a crash, and the ball sailed over the center-field fence. Eureka won the purse by a close score of 2 to 1.

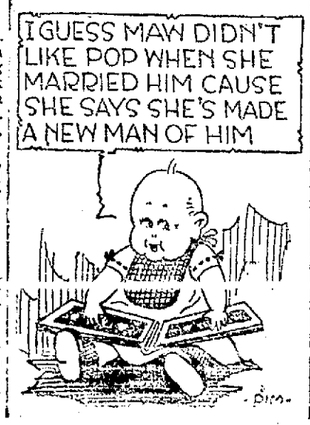

Larkin was the hero of the day.

THE LOST CHILD.

It was on the Fourth of July [illegible] were sitting on their porch looking at he fireworks. They did not want to take their child over by the fireworks because last year they had taken their other baby to the fireworks and he had wandered too near the fireworks and had been burned to death. But there was no use in being sad because they could not bring him back. God had taken him away.

Love's Token

Beneath the glow—
Of soft rose-tinted lights—
The lovers sat—
The youthful swain all full of sighs—
As deep he gazed into the eyes—
Of life's mirage—
Of youth's illusion—
And visioned this perfect thing—
That drooped so near him—
So needing his enfolding arms—
To brace her—this tender lilac—
So needing his firm manly breast—
On which to rest her marcelled crown of glory—
So misunderstood—
This wilting willow—
By all save him—and him alone—
None else had sounded the pure depths—
Of her sad heart—
None knew the cares that life had brought—
To her few years—
Her parents—those who nurtured her—
And sought to guide her wilful way—
And pampered her—
They were so dense of sacred fires—
That burnt beneath the sordid surface—
And she had told him all—
And he so quick to see—and understand—
Why should he not lay at her feet—his all—
His all or nothing?—
For though 'twas but a shabby hoard—
Still with it went an unsoiled heart—
A love without a tarnish—
For this—his first great joy—
Was all consuming—
So on his narrow knees he knelt—
In love's confusion—
And lisped the sweetest story ever told—
He breathed incense on every bead—
That ever hung on lover's string—
And soon her head drooped low upon his bosom—
Then fearing lest he break the spell—
Of her pure love emotion—
He slipped a modest wedding ring—
Upon her outstreatched finger—
Then with a sigh he bade adieu—
But not for long the maiden sat—
In huddled heap—her warm tears flowing—
But waited only till his steps—
Told of his going—
Then quick to see the ring he gave—
And as she gazed with full lights on—
Her keen eyes noted its true temper—
Its modest size—its lack of luster—
Then through her cupid's bow there came—
These words—as she held up his ring—
"Oh—Angus—you're a spendthrift bold—
A darling."

Clarice Patterns

A NEW $10 STYLE FOR GIRLS WHICH CAN BE MADE FOR $2.00.

(No. 1581)

Frocks that sponsor the popular left side closing are by no means limited to grown-up toggery, but are seen a great deal for the young girl and have already been branded with a mark of approval by even the most critical mothers.

This charming dress for very youthful femininity exploits that popular feature making an extremely simple style "tres chic." This style could employ serge at $1.00 per yard for its medium, and then the finished garment would cost about $2.00. A touch of embroidery in the form of gayly colored flower motifs lends a very smart and interesting note to so simple a frock as this.

The pattern No. 1581 cuts in sizes 4, 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 8 requires 2 yards 36-inch material.

My Marriage Problems

Adele Garrison's New Phase Of

Revelations of a Wife

A REQUEST MADGE COULD NOT EVADE.

For minutes that seemed hours, hours that dragged interminably like days, our train moved a few inches at a time, stopped discouragingly and repeated the performance until at least—when my nerves at least, and, I think, those of everybody else in the car, were frazzled to the last degree of endurance—we finally pulled into the station in New York City.

My agitation had not been soothed, instead it had been augmented by the presence of the mysterious foreigner in the next seat, who claimed to be a friend of my father's, and who showed so comprehensive a knowledge of m. affairs.

To do him justice, from the moment I had checked his references to the kidnapping of Junior, he had made no more personal allusions, and had really relieved the tedium of our long wait by desultory talk which sometimes ran along the level of commonplaces, and at times ascended to something akin to brilliance. But all the time, like a swift undercurrent to my own talk, ran my furtive scrutiny of the man, my speculation as to his real identity.

THE STRANGER PERSISTS.

For by this time I had definitely made up my mind that he was an American masquerading as a foreigner for some purpose of his own. This purpose I guessed was connected with my father's government work. That in some way he had known of my presence on the train, and had joined me deliberately, I was sure. My common sense pointed out the absurdity of this theory, but a queer little psychic intuition which I have learned to heed in the past insisted upon its essential truth.

This same psychic intuition also insisted upon something else—the conviction that behind the disguising Vandyke and mustache, and the thick lenses of the eyeglasses there was masked a face I ought to know. But I resolutely banished this thought as altogether too melodramatic to be worthy a second's consideration.

Of one thing, however, I was sure—that I must elude him at the station, should he give any indication of following me. There had been an excuse for his attentions on the stalled train, but there could be no possible excuse for his continuing his exaggerated courtesy. Yet there were distinct signs that he meant at least to see me safely to the station, something I could scarcely prevent without absolute churlishness.

Just before the train halted finally at the station platform he rose with a grandiose bow, went to his own chair, donned his military top coat, and brought his exceedingly smart traveling bag across the car, picking up mine as he did so. I suppose my face must have showed my involuntary protest, for he smiled enigmatically, showing a glimpse of extremely white and well-formed teeth, a glimpse which set my thoughts again whirling reminiscently and speculatively into the past.

MADGE LOSES CONSCIOUSNESS.

"I surely may be permitted to escort my old friend's daughter to her destination," he said, with grandiose courtesy, tinged with a subtle masterfulness which I resented without being able to express my displeasure, for he did not wait for my answer, but strode down the aisle to the door. I could do nothing save hurry after him, more than a little upset by the sudden recollection that my purse was in the bag being borne so swiftly toward the platform.

Was the man, after all, only a cheap thief? I dismissed this thought as quickly as I had the other, but my vague uneasiness persisted as I caught up with him at the door of the car, where he had waited for me, and saw by his expression and demeanor that he did not mean to lose sight of me for awhile at least.

And then, when we had stepped to the platform and had climbed the stairs, we found ourselves in a swirling mob of commuters, who for the very force of their hurrying each other dangerously about. From the exclamations and excited chatter about us we learned that the whole commuting system had been tied up for hours, and I mentally commented that in my mother-in-law's expressive language, most of the commuters were also "fit to be tied."

Jostled both unintentionally and with inconsiderate rudeness, buffeted on all sides, I was glad enough of the protection the mysterious foreigner's strong shoulders afforded as he made way for me through the crowd. But his very strength made me think again of the incongruity between this exhibition and his venerable appearance. This was no elderly man who compelled a passage for me, or else he belonged in a dime museum, as the champion of his age and class.

We had reached the swinging doors leading to the waiting-room, and he—burdened with both bags—had opened one door and held it for me to pass through. As I advanced toward it, a burly, arrogant-looking chap in the van of the crowd coming from the other direction suddenly pushed against the door in such a way as to tear it loose from my escort's hand. I saw the door swinging violently toward me, tried to get away from it, caught the full force of its swing across my forehead, and [illegible] falling into blackness.

Father—He probably got it from his nurses.

Queen Quist, the pretty daughter; Miss Amick, the housekeeper; Tooties, the fat detective; Harris the butler, and even Mrs. Ada Quist, the widow, are involved in the shifting as suspects through circumstantial evidence.

Tooties, acting in a strange manner, declares that "Invisible Fingers," mythical New York crook, is guilty, and discovers evidence impeaching the butler's statement that no one was in Quist's study just before his death. The butler admits that Queen Quist took her father in a drink that might have contained the poison.

Testimony of the other servants corroborates butler's statement involving Queen. Tooties discovers acid mixed with gum wrapper on the floor. Speed sees Tooties pilfer evidence.

Queen accuses, hears Ottoman accuse her with murder, and faints in Speed's arms.

Speed [illegible] out on front porch and tries to bluff Ottoman by telling him Queen has retained him as her attorney.

Queen breaks on Speed, who commits Mrs. Quist and daughter. Mrs. Quist reveals that her husband was known to police as the "Bankruptcy King" and states that Quist ruined Napoleon Knott Sr. and caused him to commit suicide. She thinks Patsy Knott killed Quist.

Speed questions Queen, who can throw no light on the subject but bears his pain. He promises to help her.

Dr. Ottoman reveals that Miss Amick has been sailing under false colors. A search of her room shows that she has been an amour of Quist and discloses a vial of the deadly poison used in the murder. The Oakland police, headed by Inspectors Scott and Gilbert, take charge.

Speed tells the police that Mrs. Quist has made a confession.

He reveals that Quist, once known as the "Bankruptcy King," had swindled Napoleon Knott Sr. and caused him to commit suicide, indicating a motive on Tooties' part. Mrs. Snoop arrives. Scott formally arrests Queen.

CHAPTER II

SEALED LIPS.

The others stood about, blank faced, incredulous at this latest denouement.

Mrs. Quist and Mrs. Snoop unclinched and the old lady walked toward her daughter with the evident intention of usurping the functions being performed so gratuitiously by this brazen college fellow. The recent intruder crowded back against the honeysuckle arbor and buried her face in an immense red handkerchief, which she had produced from the old handbag.

Tooties yawned, stretched his limbs like a lazy dog and beamed on the girl yearningly. In Knott's baby blue eyes there came an expression that savored of devotion. Clearly he was a fat man with a hungry soul. He glared at the providential football gridiron hero jealously.

Harris, the butler, was the first to speak. He confronted the officer and his whole attitude showed intense emotion. His eyes had narrowed down to slits, his face was creased in wrinkles and his long, skinny fingers opened and closed, leaving red nail prints in the palms of his hands. He indicated Queen with a gesture.

"You cannot suspect her," he said huskily. "Surely, sir, you cannot believe—"

"I must arrest Miss Quist," said Inspector Scott, coldly. "Gilbert, will you get one of the servants to bring a cloak and hat for this young lady? Burton, you and McNeal will remain on duty here until you are relieved. O'Hare will guard the outside gate and allow no one to enter here without instructions from me. I'm not through with the examination of these premises. Nothing must be

Harris passed his hands through his hair dazedly and then groped at his mouth with palzied fingers.

"You can't take Miss Queen," he said, in a low tone that was almost a mumble. "I have something to tell you. A stranger was in this house—"

He whirled as if seeking a face in the group.

Speed was watching the man closely. Harris' face registered a look of profound surprise and pain. He slapped at his neck with the edge of his hand as if to brush off something that had bitten him.

"It stung me," he said. "Stung me on the neck." He had lost his train of thought. He swung around and pointed his finger at Queen. "She is innocent," he said, in a quavering voice. "I have told the truth. I do not know who killed the master. But queer things have happened here. A stranger came—"

Again his glance traveled over the group, as if seeking the stranger to whom he referred. Speed saw his eyes become dim. The old fellow's body stiffened.

Harris swayed slightly, clutched at his heart and sank to the ground with a convulsive movement of the legs.

An agonizing cry, a moan of anguish, pain, escaped his lips.

Dr. Melbourne was at his side instantly.

"Keep back," commanded Inspector Scott, as the others crowded forward. "Give him air. He's fainted."

Dr. Melbourne felt of the butler's pulse, looked at his eyes and then ran his hand under the servant's shirt. When the physician rose his face was ashen and his hands trembled.

"He's dead," exclaimed the M. D., as if stating an impossibility.

Speed felt Queen's [illegible] his arms. His mind was filled with a chaotic jumble of thoughts and emotions. Mrs. Quist's wail came to him remotely.

Inspector Scott's police whistle shrilled and uniformed men appeared.

The athlete eased the girl into a chair, bending over her. She was trying vainly to regain her composure, but she was painfully shaken, stunned, dragged roughly out of a life of peace and ease into a tragic situation fraught with terror inspiring incidents.

Inspector Gilbert's voice sounded loudly, commanding.

"Let no one leave the grounds," he ordered. "Everyone remain where you are. You, Officer Breeze, see that the dogs are turned loose in the brush. Have all the gates locked. This is another murder."

Speed took Queen's small hands in his two large, warm ones and chafed the cold fingers.

"You poor little rich girl," he exclaimed, compassionately, and in that moment he wondered at the emotions that choked him.

Someone brushed him aside. It was Mrs. Quist.

"I'll attend to my daughter," she said coldly.

Speed dropped by the form of the stricken butler between the doctor and Tooties. The thoughts of the football game had been obliterated from his mind. He was now as absorbed in this tragedy as if he were a member of the Quist family. It seemed just as vital to him now as his own life, although his danger was minimized by the evidence implicating Queen and Miss Amick.

"I can't make out the cause for this death," said Dr. Melbourne. "The man apparently was well, although feeble. He acted like his heart had gone back on him."

"Raise his head a bit, will you?" requested Scott.

The doctor complied and the Inspector bent close, examining the neck minutely. Presently he drew back, with a sharp intake of the breath.

"Look at that, doctor," he examined. "Look through this microscope. What do you make of that."

"It's a speck of blood," said the physician, probing the wound with fingers that now were professionally steady.

"He said something stung him and he slapped himself on the neck there," Speed reminded the investigators.

Dr. Melbourne rose to his feet. "That is only a pin prick," he said. "It is not deep enough to cause death. A sting wouldn't draw blood. There is nothing imbedded in the flesh at all. This may mean that a pin in his clothing prodded him. Yet this man must have died of paralysis of the heart, otherwise he would not have dropped in his tracks like that."

The doctor addressed Mrs. Quist. "Did Harris suffer from heart trouble?" he asked.

"No, never," replied the old lady wringing her hands. "He never was ill. Oh what a terrible misfortune! What a curse has been visited upon us!"

"This is more mystifying than the Quist murder," said Scott, "because it happened before our very eyes. Yet I am convinced there was foul play. His lips were sealed at exactly the right moment."

"Even suppose Harris was killed by that tiny wound, who inflicted it, and how?" queried the doctor. "What secret means of assassination was used?"

Inspector Gilbert appeared in the doorway with a husky policewoman.

"You will step in here one at a time and be examined," he ordered. "No one is exempted. The policewoman will search the women in that room and I will superintend the examination of the men over there?

The baying of the hounds released in the brush, the clanking of metal gates as the approaches to the Chateau were locked and the sharp commands of the inspectors transformed the place into a scene of dramatic action.

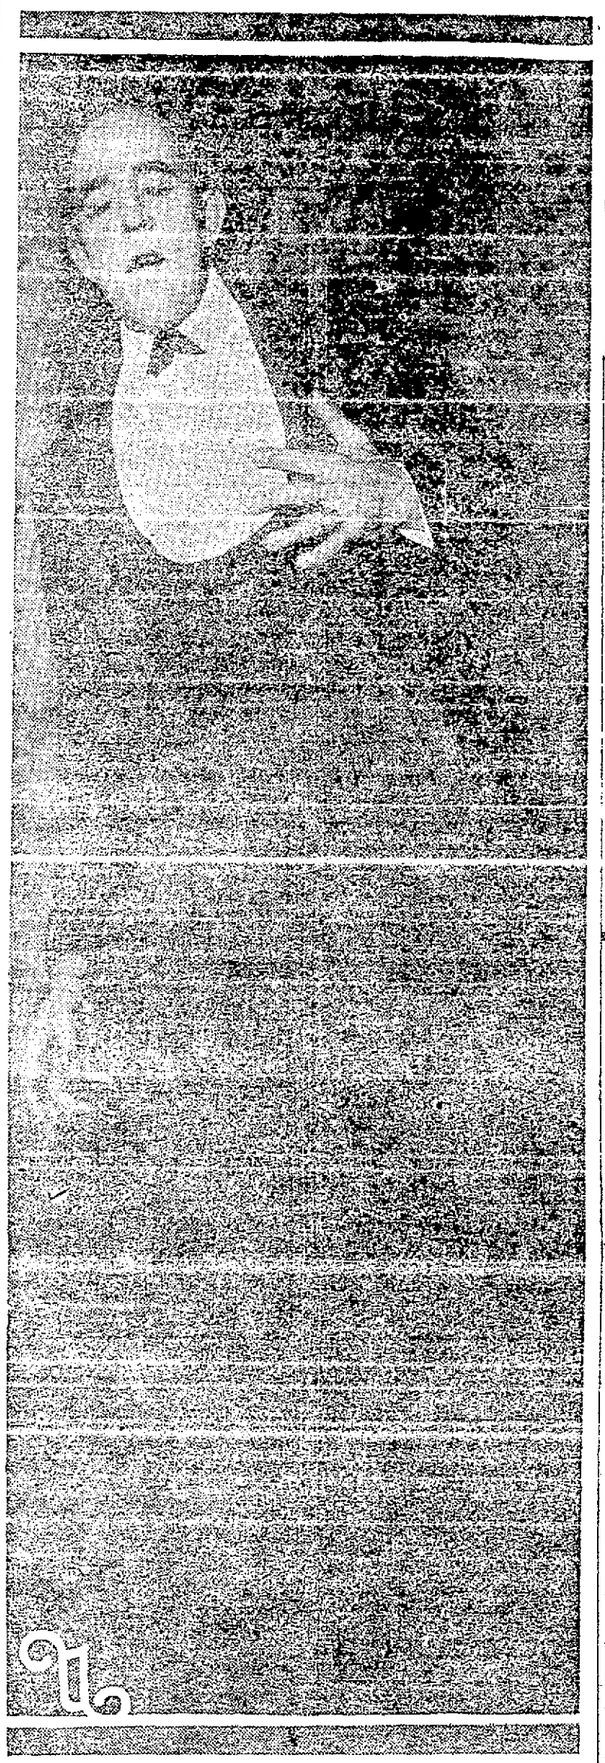

While the stripping and examining of the men and women, in search for a weapon, was in progress, police officers ransacked the house, outbuildings and grounds. The ground in the immediate vicinity of the porch was scanned for footprints or other signs of an intruder.

Neither the search of the persons present nor of the buildings and grounds produced results. The police found that no one had entered, or left the gates since Dr. Ottoman made his exit immediately after giving his information and exhibits to Inspector Scott. Mrs. [illegible] a patrolman, was the only exception.

Not a clue had been unearthed. Certainly no one on the porch had slain Harris, since the officers had taken instant precautions to locate any weapons that might have been concealed. A minute examination of the porch had yielded nothing. The wild dogs had scared up not a thing in the brush.

The Quist Chateau suddenly had been transformed into a house of terror and death.

MY FAVORITE STORIES by [illegible] S. COBB

The Evidences of Regeneration.

By a unanimous vote of the plantation hands one Henry Johnson was held to be the wickedest man on the place. He shot craps, he had served a year on the chain-gang for swinging a wicked razor, and, generally, lived a wild, free, reckless life. Accordingly, there was rejoicing at Zion church when word spread that Henry at last had seen the light and had been converted.

The revival meeting whereat he had been redeemed culminated one Sunday in a grand baptizing on Goose Creek. Henry had an eight-mile tramp to reach the appointed spot. When he started from his cabin after breakfast he stowed a dozen cold biscuits in the front of his shirt, meaning to refresh himself on the way. But in his new-born exaltation he actually forgot to eat.

A great host was gathered on the creek bank and, at his appearance, loud hallelujahs arose in a fervent chorus. The preacher laid hands on Henry and, aided by two of the deacons, escorted him to the middle of the stream where the water was waist deep. As the clergyman, pronouncing the words of the ritual, immersed Henry deeply in the water the lowermost button of Henry's shirt slipped from its button-hole and rapidly, one by one, four huge cold biscuits arose to the surface and went bobbing down the current.

From the shore a devout sister raised a sudden cry:

"Oh, Lordy, Parson, dip 'im ag'in—dip 'im ag'in, in de Lord's name! His sins is comin' up in lumps.

The Hat of His Father

TODAY'S SHORT STORY by Ad Schuster

THE most conspicuous things about "Kernel" Tims were his hat and his air of dejection. An old man and the wealthiest in Minden, he was in appearance the simplest and most unassuming.

Kernel Tims' hat was, in a way, an invention of his own. Originally it had been a low crowned derby. When the sans and dust changed its black to brown the "Kernel" applied carriage paint to its surface. Then, as an additional protection against rain, he treated it to a coat of shellac. The result was a wooden and solid appearance, a hat unlike any ever seen before. In time it was associated as intimately with the "Kernel" as was his drooping gray mustache, his shuffling walk and the cane he had fashioned from an umbrella handle.

For all of his economies in personal appearance there was no one who could say Tims begrudged anything to his wife and son. The Tims home was one of the largest in the city and the boy, Morton, went through high school and college.

"Father," said Morton during his first vacation home from the university, "would you wear a new hat if I bought it?"

The "Kernel" looked at the boy sadly. This was the start, he felt, of something which would be troublesome.

"Mort," he answered, "you've got all the hats you need, haven't you? It seems to me the attentions you pay to fixing yourself up are enough to bestow on the sartorial question. You leave me and my hat alone."

[illegible] his mother. Kernel Tims held to his pride and his hat and vowed no college boy with fancy ideas was going to change his way of living. Generously, he never reminded his son whose money it was that paid for the elaborate wardrobe the younger man possessed.

When Mrs. Tims died the "Kernel" grew still more careless in his appearance, but never once did he stint on the son.

"He'll go through college if it's the last thing he does," he said to himself. It's making a conceited dude out of him but he'll get that taken out of him later."

Morton Tims, graduated from college as the best dressed man in the class, was ashamed of his father. Lacking in tact, he tried direct methods which did no more than increase the stubbornness of his parent. There were open quarrels.

"Until you ditch that hat," the lad threatened after one of these scenes, "I'll not be seen on the streets with you." The "Kernel" tucked his umbrella stick under his arm and went for a long walk. After that father and son met only at dinner. Minden, except for certain members of the younger set, sympathized with the old man.

In the stores of Minden where the "Kernel" visited each day, he offered no complaint. Men saw he put less spirit in the tales he was fond of telling and it was noticed he was failing. Whenever Morton walked by, resplendent in his finery, the old man stroked his mustache and smiled. There was something of admiration and amusement in the smile, as if its wearer were saying to himself, "he's a fine looking boy with a lot to learn."

It was to Morton's credit that when the "Kernel" became ill the vagaries of fashion were forgotten and each of the old man's whims were humored.

"Hang my hat on the bedpost," said Tims knowing it would be a task to test the youth and he smiled when his son complied. "I think, Son, it needs a new coat of varnish."

They still discuss "Kernel" Tims in Minden and the right and wrong of what he did. There are some who point to the son as an example of the wisdom of an unusual course while others regard it as cruel.

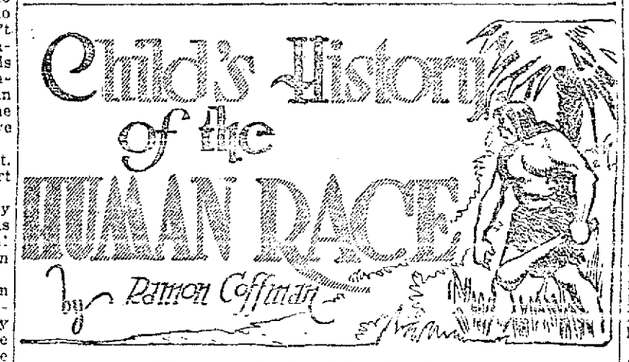

Morton Tims will never forget the year following his father's death. Suddenly large wealth was his—with a condition that for twelve months he must wear the old hat which hung on the bedstead.

Child's History of the HUMAN RACE

by Ramon Coffman

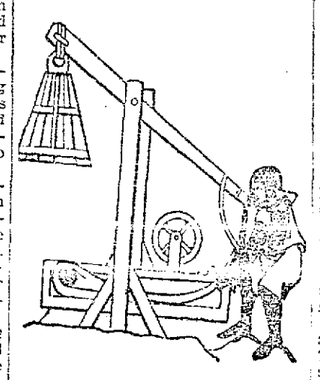

Fighting in the Middle Ages

DURING the Middle Ages, bishops and abbots were often forced to go to the battle-front.

An order of a king of the Franks to the "abbot of Fulda" was as follows:

"We command you to come with your men well armed. Go to the proper place so you can fight

This "cannon" had the same idea as a sling. When the weight at the left was let fall, the cannon ball flew out.

(The king spoke of himself as "we." That was a custom of kings.)

The abbot was also told to bring with him "baggage carts, axes, hatchets, iron shovels, arms and food."

Perhaps you wonder what kind of arms were used. There were no guns. Powder to blow bullets had not been invented. Instead of rifles bows and arrows were used.

Men who could afford it liked to ride horseback. They carried shields, light spears, swords and daggers. Sometimes horsemen carried bows and arrows, but that was more usual with soldiers on foot.

As time went on the fighters took more and more pains to guard themselves. Shields were not enough. A custom of some Roman soldiers had been to wear armor. The Franks and other Germans finally admitted this was a good idea.

The armor was made of iron. The kind that each man wore depended on how rich he was. The poor[illegible] could afford only breast plates and helmets. Others covered almost every bit of their bodies [illegible] and clumsy, but it warded off many an arrow and spear thrust.

Even without gunpowder, olden armies had weapons like cannons. The Roman "cannon" hurled heavy stones instead of iron balls.

Such an affair would look like a [illegible] if one of our death-dealing machines had been fired at an army of the Middle Ages, I'm sure that army wouldn't have stopped running for days.

DELICIOUS SALADS.

Apple Ball Salad.

Peel four or five large, tart apples, then cut into small balls with a vegetable cutter. Make a light syrup of three-quarters of a cupful of sugar and a cupful of water, cook four minutes, then skim. The syrup is then ready for the apples. Drop in the balls and cook until they are clear-looking but not soft. Drain and cool the balls, dip them in mayonnaise made with mustard, and roll them in very finely-chopped walnuts, white celery leaves and a little paprika. Lay five or six balls in nested lettuce and heap with a little mayonnaise lightened with whipped cream. Dust the tops with paprika.

Apple Cider Salad.

Dissolve two rounded tablespoonfuls of gelatine powder in a quarter of a cup of hot water. When melted, add three large cupfuls of pure cider, a half-cupful of finely minced celery, a half-cupful of sugar, the juice and a little of the grated rind of one lemon, a minced red pepper, two tablespoonfuls of minced mint leaves, and a half-salt-spoonful of salt. When the mixture is blended, let it stand until it begins to thicken, then add two finely-chopped bananas and turn all into wet mould to set and chill. Serve this salad sliced on lettuce leaves with a light mayonnaise or a sour cream dressing, garnished with thin strips of red pepper.

Liver Savouries.

Add to a package of fresh cream cheese two chicken livers boiled tender and chopped fine, the juice of an onion, a tablespoonful of finely-chopped white celery leaves, a half-teaspoonful of salt, a teaspoonful of sugar, half a red pepper minced fine, two small sweet-pickeled gherkins chopped fine, a half saltspoonful of red pepper and enough sweet cream to make a moulding paste. Mould this [illegible] into small balls and [illegible] them to chill. Serve the balls on lettuce leaves with a little mayonnaise lightened with whipped cream and garnish [illegible] with stuffed olives that are firm and well drained.

Winifred Black Writes about FOLKS AND THINGS

FOLKS WHO DISAPPEAR.

Norfolk, Va.—not such a big place when you go to look for it on the map. Delightful, old-fashioned, quiet, with an atmosphere all its own—oh, there are people of blood and lineage in Norfolk, let me tell you!

Some of them live in dear, old, shuttered houses with picket fences around them, and on some walls in Norfolk hang portraits of the great and famous who have been long asleep in the quiet graveyard, within sight of the blue water.

WHAT ARE THEIR STORIES?

The missing-person bureau at police headquarters in Norfolk, has exactly three hundred and seventy-seven names on the list.

What sort of stories are there behind that list, I wonder.

Did you ever know anyone who disappeared?

I have known six persons in my life—and four of them were men and two were women—and every one got up one fine morning and "disappeared."

One of the six was a young man, full of life and gay spirit. He had everything in life to live for—youth, health, good looks, a good position, fine prospects—and he left Boston on a lovely Saturday morning to go west and take charge of a good business.

He kissed his mother good-by and his young brother went to the station with him, saw him on the train and came home, half envious and half proud.

That young man was never seen or heard of again.

The mother spent thousands of dollars trying to find her son.

She is always hoping and praying—and all this happened nearly twenty years ago.

I knew two middle-aged men, both of whom went downtown to business in the morning—and never came back.

When one of them had been gone ten years, the wife he left behind him got a letter from South America, asking where his body should be buried.

When the other had been gone fifteen years, his wife sat down next to him in the kitchen in Chicago, one rainy afternoon.

He was as surprised to see her as she was to see him.

He said he disappeared because he couldn't bear the way she had of moving her hands, and he didn't like the way she cooked fish.

IS IT JUST BOREDOM?

The wife found upon investigation that a young person in the next flat had told him that she knew exactly how to cook fish to his liking, and she never moved her hands at all when she talked.

But it turned out afterward that the young person could not cook anything at all, much less fish, and that she did not have energy enough to move even her feet, let alone her hands, so the man's disappearance was a good deal of a failure.

He tried to get his wife to take him back—he said he was tired of fish, anyway. And I think the woman would have taken him home with her, but she had a husky son who had his own opinion in the matter, and he told his father to "disappear" again and "stay—disappeared."

One of the women I know who disappeared, was the wife of a minister in a small town. She couldn't bear prayer-meeting another time. She left a note behind her to say so.

I saw a middle-aged woman who looked very much like the minister's wife, the other day. She was cashier in a restaurant in a railroad eating-house.

When she caught sight of me she turned pale—and "disappeared."

They said she was faint. I wonder if it really was the minister's wife!

Is there always a big tragedy behind a disappearance, or is it just some little fussing worry, some bit of boredom that cannot be endured another hour?

Wouldn't you like to round out those three hundred and seventy-seven people they are looking for at the missing persons bureau in Norfolk and get them to tell you just exactly why they disappeared!

OAKLAND SLEUTHS NEAR SECRET IN QUIST MYSTERY

Affair Between Slain Man and Miss Amick Hinted in One Answer

TRIBUNE readers are good plot-makers.

And some of them are good detectives.

A number of contestants in the "Who Killed Quist?" game have come very, very close to guessing the secret upon which The Quist Mystery hinges. The prize winners will be announced soon after December 1 when the contest closes. The best answer wins $25, second $15, third $10 and fifty others will receive pairs of tickets to the T. and D. theaters.

C. A. Jackson of 5456 Locksley avenue, has a very ingenuous solution. He says:

"Alexander Quist was murdered by giving him a poisoned drink mixed by the cook, Mrs. Anderson, on orders given her by Mrs. Quist, who was insane on the subject of spiritism, and the cook was subject to her influence.

"Queen Quist is the daughter of Miss Amick, who was in love with Quist. Queen, testing the drink to see if it was warm enough, did not take enough of the poison to harm her, only enough to upset her and she went to her room. Quist could not love a woman like his wife. He admired beauty and neatness. His fear was revenge from father, brother or husband of Miss Amick. She loved him and disguised her beauty. Only some very strong passion would cause a woman to conceal her charm. Sargent lost his pocketbook in the house a week before. Queen does not know her mother's secret. The causes leading to th murder were jealously and neglect."

Answers should be sent to QUIST, Oakland Tribune.

Miss Eloise Cushing, attorney at law and trustee of the Alameda County Law Library, has been named president of the organization working for the establishment of a Women's Free Employment Bureau in this city. The movement is toward taking over the employment department maintained by the Young Women's Christian Association. A constitution and by-laws have been adopted. Associated with Miss Cushing in launching the bureau plans are: Mrs. George A. Rigg, president of Alameda district, C. F. W. C.; Miss Emily G. Palmer, division of vocational education, University of California; Mrs. Winifred G. Wise, representing the Y. W. C. A.

Placements to the number of 135 were made during the month of October, according to the records of Mrs. Benjamin W. Johnson, who is acting as secretary for the employment organization. More than 500 conferences were held during the month.

At the regular social meeting on Wednesday, November 22, a part of the program will be devoted to one of these interesting lectures and discussion.

Melrose Heights Parent-Teacher Association is regretting the necessity which is taking Mrs. Charles Brandt from the active work in the organization in which for the past seven years she has been a leader. Her removal to Lodi has caused her resignation as treasurer. Formerly she held the positions of vice-president, recording secretary and chairman of publicity. Mrs. O. P. Tucker has been elected to succeed Mrs. Brandt as treasurer.

The Del Valle Farm project will be presented before the Friday program of the Melrose Heights school by a representative of the Alameda County Tuberculosis Association. Mrs. Tucker will present a reading, "The Bishop and the Caterpillar." Music will be contributed by a student.

You'll Get Rid of Blackheads Sure

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads, that is to dissolve them.

To do this get two ounces of calonite powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear. Blackheads are a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions that form in the pores of the skin. The calonite powder and the water dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition.—Advertisement.

Dr. Daniel G. Carey, of Elmira, N. Y., Eminent Kidney Specialist, Retires

Leaves His Famous Prescription, No. 777, Known for Years as "Marshroot," to the World. Says It Has Helped Thousands

A brilliant physician, a diligent student and, above all, a man of great intellect, he made the study of these diseases his life's work.

During his forty years of constant practice Dr. Daniel G. Carey devoted almost his entire life to the study of this most important branch of medicine and his success, as is well known, was almost phenomenal.

If Dr. Carey never did anything else in his long, praiseworthy career but originate his famous Prescription No. 777, his fame would live long after his useful life had ended.

Carey's advice. The tiniest signals often indicate that the kidneys are ailing and need attention. Dry skin, for instance, and little specks floating before the eyes. Sometimes the feet feel heavy as if your shoes were full of lead. Often the joints ache or you have quick, darting pains through the back or side. Then again that frequent desire to empty the bladder, cold clammy feet and just a little puffiness under the eyes. Occasionally the hands or feet swell slightly and the palms of the hands are moist. Don't neglect them—you cannot afford to take any chances with your kidneys.

If you ever have the faintest suspicion that your kidneys are weak or your bladder is irritated the wisest thing you can do is to get a bottle of Dr. Carey's Prescription No. 777 at once. Many thousands of cases could have been helped by Marshroot if taken in time.

Hereafter you can always get this effective prescription at reliable pharmacists the country over. Keep in mind the name, Dr. Carey's Prescription No. 777. No other medicine can take its place. Owl Drug Company and all druggists.—Advertisement.

FOOD FOR OPTIMISTS.

When the battle on the hookworm started in Richmond County, Virginia, thirteen years ago 82 per cent of the inhabitants were said to be afflicted with the disease. A recent survey placed the percentage of sufferers at two per cent and it is now claimed there is not a case in the county.

When armies clash and pestilence stalks a world finds material for pessimism and discouragement. Another side of the picture is this one of preventive medicine. According to the National Geographic Society three announcements of almost unprecedented import to mankind are expected to be made at no distant date.

One is that yellow fever has at last been banished from the face of the earth and that the germ which causes it has become extinct along with the dinosaur, the dodo, the great auk, and the passenger pigeon.

The next is that hookworm disease which has been called "the handmaiden of poverty," an associate of crime, a destroyer of energy and a menace and obstacle to all that makes for civilization can be driven from any community which has the will to get rid of it. Richmond County is offered as proof.

The third statement is no less surprising. It is to the effect that large-scale demonstrations have proved malaria can be eradicated from almost any community that has enough vital force left to push a thorough, though expensive, campaign for its extirpation.

Of all these demonstrations, that in combating hookworm is the most drastic. In the severe cases 90 per cent of the red coloring matter of the blood is destroyed and yet the methods of curing are so effective and so rapid that those who recover quickly regain their health and are so overjoyed that they call wide attention to what has taken place.

If it be true hookworm and malaria can be driven out of any community and the yellow fever germ is extinct it should not be difficult for the optimist to fortify himself with facts to balance with some of those others which are occupying attention. These are announcements founded upon heroic work and sacrifice. They may be, even, a part of a battle that is greater than any of cannon and rifle balls.

At the Exhibition of Public Health and Safety to be opened in Oakland the visitor will see a graphic presentation of the advancing line of public health.

WHERE DIPLOMATS MEET.

The Lausanne, where the allies are trying to get an unwilling Turkey to the table, has been known as the hostess city and as the home of the man who designed the Mansard roof. Francois Mansard had a beautiful chateau near the city.

In 1910, by count, nearly one-fourth of the 46,000 residents of Lausanne were citizens of other countries than Switzerland. The war shifted the ratio, but once more, in 1922, it is restored.

The luster of famous names clings chiefly to the University buildings. Though the institution did not achieve a formal university status until 1891, it has been famous since its founding, in 1537, the year after Berne took over the control of Lausanne. Previously, it had been said, Lausanne "lay dormant at the base of its many churches." The tide of the Reformation swept in with the Bernese affiliation. A school was needed to train young preachers quickly to spread Protestant doctrine.

Thus Pierre Viret, a tailor's son, became the John Harvard of Lausanne. Then came Conrad Gesner, whose fame rests on a solid pedestal of more than threescore works in science, ranging from philology to botany. Overtopping this prodigious research was his enumeration of some 500 plants not hitherto recorded. Most humanly appealing of these early scholars was Theodore Beza, who graduated from the adventures of a cavalier, a sort of medieval "man about town," and forsook the writing of sprightly and risque verses for the chair of Greek and morals at Lausanne. Then he turned his pen to Biblical dramas before he went to Geneva to be Calvin's chief aide.

The Simplon tunnel assures Lausanne's future. The city now lies along the main rail route from Paris to Milan.

It is in this peaceful city on Lake Geneva, an idyllic spot known for its university, its canned milk, the Mansard roof and dainty confectionery a world war may be brewing. And it is in no way the fault of Lausanne that Europe's diplomats picked it for a meeting place.

SENSE OF HUMOR.

If you would be successful in business or love, says a university professor, cultivate a sense of humor. The advice, unless it be overdone, is well-timed and sound. The world is in need of more self-starting, modest, and genuine senses of humor.

So far the trouble has been in discovering the man or woman who does not own this convenient sense and who does not believe it to be an exclusive possession. If one is to credit what he hears, it is the sense of humor which sets each man apart from his fellows, makes of him something just a little different, a little more tolerant, and a little more successful than the rest. It is too bad no one else ever has a sense of humor.

In the campaign to develop the appreciation of the humorous in everyone, then, it is necessary to convince the general public that this is something which, like a bonded indebtedness, may be shared by all. Then it would be well to define what is meant by sense of humor and here, it is probable, will be encountered obstacles all but impassable.

A sense of humor, according to one man, is that which prompts the kidnaping of a bride and groom. Another man thinks the antics of adults who take themselves seriously are funny. There are those who experience extreme delight in the reading of sophomoric articles from the pens of young university men who are fired with the double ambition to be as smart as Mencken and to "get a rise" out of the faculty.

A well developed sense of humor, such as is advised as a part of the equipment for success, will often be embarrassing. The possessor will find it difficult to keep from laughing during many a luncheon club address; he may snicker when he sees the neighborhood grocer in full lodge regalia, and he may be discredited for the lightsome way he treats celebrities or dignitaries.

Except as a professional humorist, no man ever won success for having the sense too well developed. Many men have been handicapped, have been defeated for reelection to high office, because the public expected nothing from them but jokes and set them down as buffoons. Professor Ferrier is right. The sense of humor is necessary for success in business and love, but too much is dangerous.

REDUCING NATIONAL DEBT.

In three years' time the national debt has been reduced at a rate of more than a billion a year. This announcement by Secretary Mellon is most gratifying.

The peak national debt of $26,596,000,000 was reached in August, 1919. It stands today at $22,812,000,000 and there has been a steady progress in the reduction which bespeaks its continuation. Such fluctuations as are reported are borrowings for refunding purposes or temporary deficiencies in current revenues, due to the monthly variations between the periods of receiving revenues and of public expenditures.

In April of last year there was more than $7,500,000,000 of short-dated debt maturing before the end of the present fiscal year. Of this $4,500,000,000 had been retired or refunded by October 31 last, leaving but $3,000,000,000 to be refinanced before next July. Secretary Mellon says this can be accomplished "without strain on the country's financial machinery and without disturbance to the market for outstanding securities."

In this record of reducing the national debt is an accomplishment which will be received with general satisfaction.

The sale of the Liberty shipyards, piecemeal, promises a number of new industries for the Eastbay. Announcement of the plans of the new owners will be awaited with interest and upon them will depend whether or not the community has fared better through the several sales than it would have had one large concern purchased the entire acreage.

The sale advertised to the world that $405,000 was too low by one-half for the estuary property and proved that a large number of industries from other points were interested in sites on the east side of the bay. A lumber company from the north and a shipping firm from San Francisco are among those to make bids and $6200 an acre was a price received.

The sale offered unusual opportunities for investment on the Oakland inner harbor and such an opportunity as could come only with Government disposal of lands secured in war time.

In Wisconsin one is not allowed to put his foot on a brass rail while he quaffs a soft drink. There is no other state which recognizes, with Coue, the power of the imagination to such an extent. We should not be surprised if a man could become intoxicated drinking water—provided he place his foot on a rail and stand in front of a large and not overly clean mirror.

A Poor Stick.
(Emporia (Kan.) Gazette)

For many years he walked quietly along in the straight and narrow way, harming nobody, running over no one, shoving none out of it, and now and then pulling some weaker brother back into the path. He paid for everything when he bought it, minded his own business and was not inquisitive about the affairs of others. He never gossiped, and always did his duty as he saw it. Consequently a good many people suspected him of playing a smooth game of some sort, and the rest regarded him as a slow-going old fogy with no great amount of sense, and to prove it called him "Uncle Johnny" during the last thirty-five or forty years of his life.

The principal export of the new Angora government, of course, will be cat whiskers.

Why would it not be a good plan, when interviewing a distinguished visitor from across the sea to ask him or her "what do you think of the American flapper?"

Turkey may have a foothold in Europe, but it has a wishbone and light and dark meat in the United States.

And the American boy who draws the drumstick has a foothold on Turkey.

Now that a celebrated English physician has advised women to smoke pipes instead of cigarettes the old problem of Christmas gifts, so far as our legion of women friends is concerned, is settled. It is our intention to send them pipes.

There is dear Aunt Lettie, who lives near Milpitas. What could be more appropriate than a corncob? We shall decorate it with pink ribbon, pack it in a neat box and ship it off at once. Cousin Mary, the athletic girl whose neck and arms never lose the tan of last summer's vacation, shall have a pipe in it, we know—so that's settled. Then with a dear Dudheen for grandmother, an immaculate clay for sister, and a snappy briar for our great aunt, we are through.

It has long been our idea women should smoke pipes. Why else should they wear hat pins if not to clean pipes?

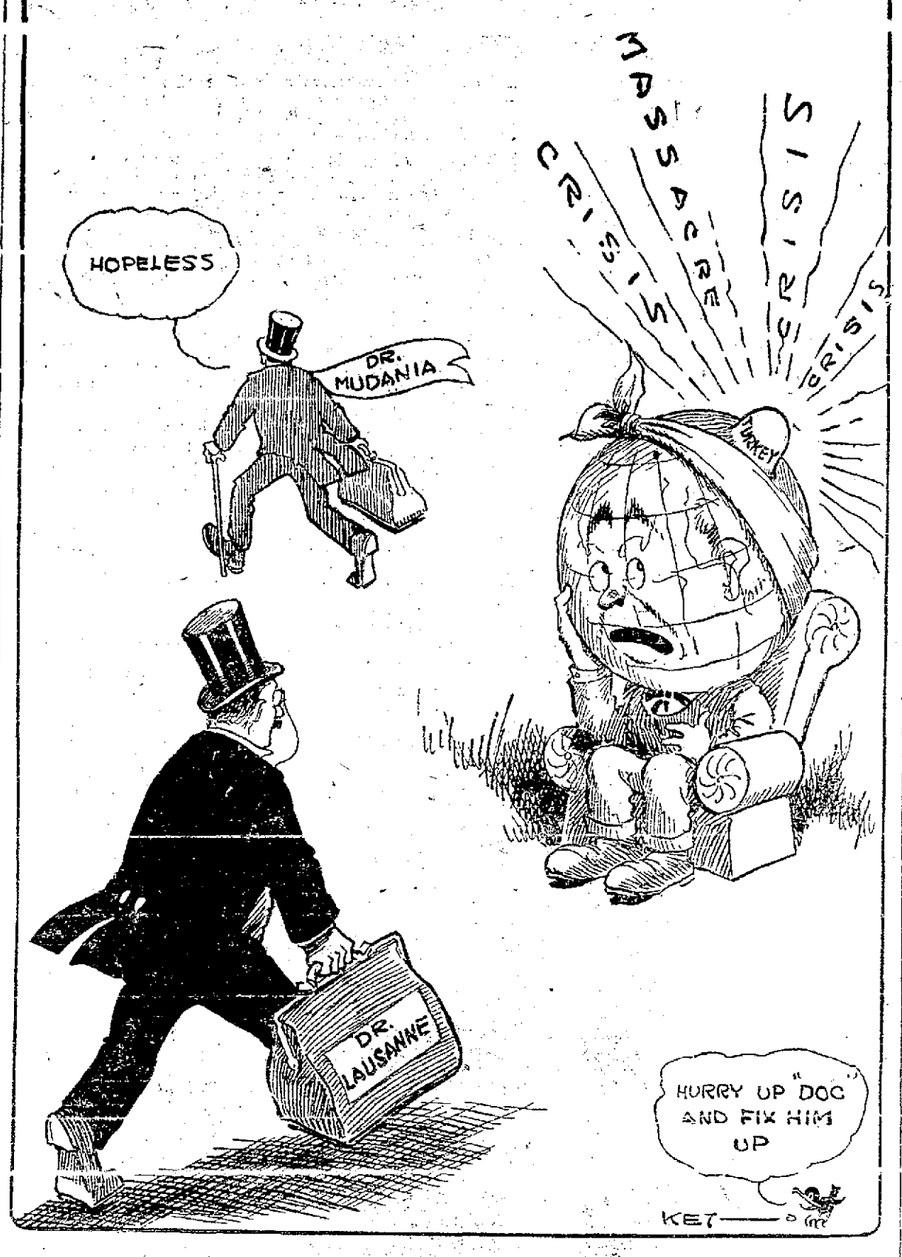

Then, again, think of the pleasure the dear souls will have in smoking up glass humidor after glass humidor of tobacco. Each woman may smoke herself a race to see if by fall she will have enough humidors to contain the winter supply of chili sauce.

In Her Room.
(Chinese verse)

In her room, a bowl on the teakwood table
Holds a bunch of [illegible] and pink asters,
The wall hangings of ancient tapestries,
Picture mountains, calm blue lakes
Flowers garlanded in gay colors,
Maidens, children with mothers.
I hear the soft rustle of silk,
The lady comes.

NOTES and COMMENT

New York Sun on the non-stop effort: "What Macready and Kelly sought to accomplish in the flight from San Diego to Fort Benjamin Harrison, beyond Indianapolis, has made much less impression than the gallantry of their attempt. Harry Hawker, had he succeeded in his last flight (and it appears to have been but an odd chance that he did not) would have flown 2930 miles: Alcock and Brown actually did succeed and flew 1936 miles. Both these flights took place three years ago. British and American non-stop long distance records had remained fairly static from then until the present, in spite of the increase in speed and dependability of planes."

New York Times on the meaning of car shortage: "The largest loadings of railway cars and the largest car shortage are naturally reported together. At the same time, the railways' earnings are little more than half of the 'guarantee' under the transportation act. But few care how the car shortage affects the railways. Many care how it affects the public. The federal reserve board, in its bulletin for November, says that the car shortage is 'an important factor in the current industrial situation.' Being interpreted, this means that lack of railway cars limits profits and wages in all industries."

The Oregonian tells of an incident: "He was in search of a wife and thought a newspaper office was a good place to get a start. So he offered the girl at the classified window a little ad setting forth his wants. When informed that the paper would not accept this kind of advertising he was surprised. 'Don't see why people can advertise for dogs, phonographs or other things and not for a wife,' was his comment as he left."

The Seattle Times cackles thus: "Western Washington has made an important addition to its long list of honorable and praiseworthy achievements in establishing a new record for egg production. With the price of eggs going up, the world might well pause to admire the White Leghorn pullet at the Puyallup agricultural experiment station which produced 335 eggs in twelve months."

Now that the election distractions are over the Salt Lake Tribune doesn't see why real important things can't go ahead: "Smoke arising from the political battle of last Tuesday having vanished, there is no good reason why business should not show a marked improvement from this time on. Labor is well employed and the wage scales are higher than they were before the great war. Crops and livestock are being moved to the primary markets and money can be had at reasonable rates of interest. The prosperity outlook in the United States is far better than in any other country in the world."

This is how the Brooklyn Eagle takes account of it: "'And so these two were wed'—but the bells did not ring merrily. The eager desire for secrecy, the falling rain, the jeering crowd of correspondents, photographers and villagers at the gates of the Doorn estate, the ivy wreath 'to the silent sufferer' deposited before the Potsdam tomb of Princess Hermine's predecessor were more appropriate to yesterday's event."

SPIRIT of the STATE PRESS

After the victory, what? Smug complacency on the part of the victors and clever defiance on the part of the vanquished? That is frequently the aftermath of a close election, and when asked the condition of the trees on Estudillo avenue, said that 90 per cent of the old locust trees are a menace to the public and should be removed, and that the others could be saved by proper care. — San Leandro Reporter.

The directors of the Six Minute Ferry Company report that from what they can see money is not needed by some of the stockholders of the ferry concern as they have over $10,000 in the treasury that is waiting for the owners to claim. JUST FOLKS

WHEN REDSKINS BIT THE DUST.

Do you remember the days that were,
The days of "Chunky" and Bill and Joe,
And you and I and the thrill and stir
Of the books we read in the long ago,
"The trashy things," as our parents said,
And frequently burned in their deep disgust,
And the joy of us as we sat and read:
"Then two more redskins bit the dust"

Those were the days of the Golden West,
The days of Custer and Buffalo Bill,
When we followed the scouts to the mountain crest
And breathlessly watched them shoot to kill.
We knew the meaning of curling smoke,
The signs to fear and the guides to trust,
And we thrilled with joy when the rifles spoke
And two more redskins bit the dust.

Out in the barn in those golden days,
In a secret place were our pamphlets hid,
And there we followed the trapper's ways
And gloried in all that they said or did.
Adventure gripped at each youthful throat,
For we knew the meaning of savage lust,
But this was the line that we loved to quote:
"Then two more redskins bit the dust!"

Now we have boys and they're reading books,
Books of splendor and books of worth,
But the tales we kept in our secret nooks
Have passed away from this bettered earth.
And I sit and smile as I watch them there,
And I think of the days when our tales were just
The barks of rifles upon the air—

EXPLANATION OF ANTHEM.

Congressman Julius Kahn, of California, tells of an old sailor who drifted into a San Francisco church one Sunday morning and, for the first time in his roving career, heard the choir sing an anthem. He was very much pleased with it, and talked about it considerably after returning to his ship. One old tar, of Johnny Bull extraction, asked: "I say matey, what's a hanthem?"

"Do you mean to say you don't know what an anthem is?"

"Blime me if I do."

"Well, then, I'll tell you. If I was to say to you, 'Here, Bill, give me that handspike,' that wouldn't be an anthem. But if I was to say, 'Bill-Bill-Bill-giv-giv-giv-giv me, give me that—Bill, give me, that hand, hand-spike, spike-spike, Bill, give me that that handspike, hand-spike-spike-spike, ah men; Bill give me that handspike-spike, ah men!' Why, that, my boy, would be an anthem."—National Republican.

About YOUR HEALTH

Water You Drink Is Pure

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
Commissioner of Health, New York City.

Unless a community is blessed with a good water supply, it can have little else to commend it. Fine schools and churches, attractive shops and places of entertainment, demand for labor and prospect of worldly success—all these are of little importance unless the water supply is above suspicion.

It is not common now, but it used to be an ordinary experience to read of some community where an epidemic of typhoid fever was raging. In my boyhood and, indeed, at the beginning of my medical practice, typhoid fever was almost as common as diptheria is today.

Diarrhoeal diseases, cramps, typhoid fever and cholera may be traced to infected water supplies. No community is safe unless there is an abundance of pure water.

When I speak of pure water, I do not mean water free from minerals or necessarily free from color or cloudiness. "Pure water" is understood to mean a water free from harmful bacteria and harmful chemicals. It is a water safe for drinking and for cooking purposes.

Polluted water is water contaminated by animal or industrial waste. Such water is unsuited and unsafe for human consumption.

The quality of water depends on its source. Most surface waters are unsafe. This is due to the contamination which takes place from its travels over the earth.

Rain water is the purest of all waters if caught in clean vessels. Unfortunately, however, it flows over contaminated surfaces and is rarely found in condition to be safely consumed.

Water which comes from the earth is pure or impure, depending on the substances dissolved or suspended in it. Such water may carry no harmful bacteria, but may be filled with mineral elements. The quantity of lime, for instance, may be so great that when a little is sprinkled on glass, a white deposit forms where every drop fell.

Milkiness and opalescence of water are due to suspended particles of clay or to compounds of iron. Such ingredients are harmless enough for occasional uses of water, but if turbidity is due to sewage, dead animal or vegetable substance, or to organic matter of any sort, the water is unsafe.

The odor of water does not determine its safe or unsafe properties. Many waters of disagreeable smell are safe to drink, and some sparkling and clear waters are dangerous.

A similar rule applies to the taste of water.

All water from open wells must be viewed with suspicion. A nearby cesspool or privy-vault may contaminate the water. The slope of the ground does not settle this question, because the underground flow may not correspond to surface conditions.

Make sure that the water supply of your household is from a safe source. Never drink from an abandoned water supply or from one which is in the least doubtful.

Health and life depend on the daily consumption of large quantities of pure water.

WIDESPREAD SWINDLE ON BANKS BARED

Chief Manipulator of Bogus Bank of England Notes Is Arrested With Loot; Oakland Bank Detects Fraud

Police investigation today into the facts regarding the arrest yesterday in San Francisco of Ivan Glavadanovic, 35, who has confessed to passing more than $6000 worth of bogus Bank of England notes on several local and San Francisco banks, disclosed that, out of all of the banks Glavadanovic visited the Commercial Trust and Savings Bank of this city alone did not exchange the counterfeit notes.

Glavadanovic's attempt to have the paper exchanged at this bank was his last before he was arrested at Third and Townsend streets, San Francisco, as he was about to board a southbound train, the police say, and it was suspicion created at that institution which was largely responsible for his capture, according to police. Officials at the banking company refused to believe the notes genuine, and suggested that Glavadanovic deposit them and take a partial payment. Fearing that he was losing time, Glavadanovic refused to do this and departed hurriedly.

Glavadanovic stated that he arrived in San Francisco yesterday morning from Los Angeles and immediately after banks opened canvassed several institutions in that city and then came to this side of the bay.

According to detectives, who put in several hours today grilling the prisoner, he has admitted swindling the following institutions:

In Oakland—Oakland Bank of Savings, $440; Central National Bank, $440; First National Bank of Oakland, $440.

In San Francisco—Bank of Italy, $660 (150 pounds); Liberty Bank, $660; Union Trust Company, $660; Anglo-California Trust Company, $440 (100 pounds); American Express Company, $880; Bank of California, $660, and American National Bank, $660.

TRUCK RUNS DOWN GIRLS

Two girls were injured, one possibly fatally, when they were run down by an automobile truck at Pleasant Valley avenue and Moraga road today. Dorothy Little, 20 years old, residing at 67 Wildwood avenue, suffered a probable fracture of the skull, a fractured right arm and bruises. Her companion, Helen Fake, was bruised and cut about the scalp and upper part of the body. The address of the Fake girl was not obtained.

The truck was driven by J. Nanagisawa, a Japanese. According to witnesses, the two girls were crossing the inter-section of the two thoroughfares when the truck bore down on them. Miss Little was struck to the street. Miss Fake was carried fifteen feet on the front of the machine.

J. H. Nylen, 545 Seventeenth street, conveyed the girls to the Merritt Hospital in his automobile. No charge was placed against Nanagisawa.

Pair Indicted on Charge Of $10,000 Bunco Deal

Secret grand jury indictments, issued two weeks ago, and made public today for the, are directed against W. H. Loftis, alias Chetwell, and R. S. Sadler, alias L. H. Sterling, alleged accomplices of John Lakeman, in the buncoing of William G. Woolfrey of Moose Jaw, Canada, out of $10,800 in an Oakland deal.

Sadler and Loftis are at present under arrest in Denver, as the result of a raid conducted six months ago by Federal authorities on an alleged international bunco ring, whose criminal operations, it is charged, have approximated $5,000,000.

Although the indictments were brought in against the two by the Alameda county grand jury two weeks ago, their existence was not disclosed by the county authorities on account of the fact that Sadler was out of jail at the time on $10,000 bonds, and it was decided to keep the indictments secret until he again should be placed in custody or his bail be raised.

ONE CONVICTED.

Lakeman recently was convicted by a jury in Superior Judge George Samuels' court of having participated in the buncoing of Woolfrey.

According to Woolfrey, he met Lakeman and another man on a ferryboat while here on a visit from Canada, and was induced by them to share in a plan which they told him was a "sure-fire" method of beating the stock market.

Woolfrey said the plan was made so attractive to him that he returned at once to Moose Jaw and gathered up all his cash and securities, amounting to $10,800. This he brought here and turned over to Lakeman, the other man, and two new associates of theirs. After many delays and explanations, he said, the scheme fell through, and his money was never returned to him.

FACES OTHER CHARGE.

Woolfrey has identified both Sadler and Loftis as two of the men who were associated with Lakeman in the bunco game practiced on him in Oakland. He was taken to Denver by the local police authorities following the arrest of the two men there by the Federal authorities.

Sadler is soon to be taken to St. Augustine Fla., to face bunco charges there, while Loftis is to stand trial in Denver, as the result of the Federal accusations against them. If either should be acquitted, he immediately will be rearrested and brought here for trial on the local indictment.

CITY CLERK DISAPPEARS

Special to The TRIBUNE.

STOCKTON, Nov. 15.—Town Clerk W. H. Gibson of Newman is mysteriously missing from his home here. Search for him began today.

Gibson's absence completely ties up the city's official business. The city trustees are unable to proceed with their regular business without him, and are unable to appoint a man to act in his place temporarily, as this appointment rests with the county supervisors.

Gibson left home last Wednesday, saying he was going to spend two or three days with relatives at Visalia and would return on Monday.

The hotel which Gibson conducts at Newman, and in which he is interested to a considerable financial extent, was left in charge of a friend of Gibson.

The missing man had been in poor health for some time and friends fear he is ill, but fail to understand why there has been no word from him. Foul play is not being considered possible, as he handled none of the town's funds and had no large sum of money on his person when he left home.

MACLAFFERTY DEPARTS FOR WASHINGTON

Congressman-Elect Says He Will Continue His Policy of Work.

"You were all good to me; may you never be sorry!"

This was the final message of Congressman James H. MacLafferty, delivered today from the observation platform of the east-bound train to a host of friends and admirers gathered to wish him god-speed on his voyage to official Washington.

Nearly a hundred well-wishers gathered at the Sixteenth street station before the train departed and the congressman-elect and Mrs. MacLafferty were showered with gifts ranging from roses to fountain pens.

GO TO SEE START.

The assemblage represented city and county officials, civic, improvement and fraternal organizations. The members of MacLafferty's family present were his daughter and her husband, Mrs. Antha and C. P. Goemmer, and their three daughters, Kathryn, Virginia and Phyllis; his son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. James H. McLafferty Jr., and their infant daughter, Ruth Alice.

Yesterday MacLafferty was feted by the Women's McLafferty Campaign Committee and was urged to support the Alameda naval base, the erection of a new Oakland postoffice, a bridge across the bay, a federal airplane plant, and the development of Oakland harbor. He reiterated his statement that he goes to Washington unpledged.

POLICY IS WORK.

"My only policy as a congressman is work, work, work," said MacLafferty on his departure. "This has won me success in the business world and it will win success in the public service. I will make mistakes, but I will be doing something all the time. I will carry to the east the message of the Japanese menace and will educate the easterners to the knowledge that this is not a California, but a world problem.

"I feel today like a schoolboy. I shall be treated in Congress as I was in school. The boy entering school is a nonentity until he has his first fight. If he wins he is recognized by his fellows. I hope I shall win my first ght. I am 51, have made my little 'pile' and am now at the beck and call of the public until I die.'

Then the conductor waved the "all aboard' signal. Congressman Julius Kahn of San Francisco swung onto the moving train, the crowd shouted a farewell to MacLafferty and his seven-year-old grand-daughter, Phyllis, in all seriousness, called to Mrs. MacLafferty: "Don't fall out of bed on the train, Grandma!"

The foreign consuls at Hankow report apprehension throughout Honan over the increasing activities of the outlaws. American legation figures show that there are 340 Americans, mostly missionaries, scattered through thirty towns in Honan province.

The Chinese foreign office has promised to exterminate the bandits.

'Doc' Call Brings Cops; Dr. Stork Wins Race

Score another one for Doctor Story! This time he proved conclusively that he can outfly the beat-pounding pedal extremeities of the genus policeman.

Early today Frank Rossick, clerk to Captain of Inspectors Richard McSorley received this telephone message: "Send a cop quick to 1745 Fourteenth street." Rossick, undaunted, screamed for Lou Agnew and William Marshall, inspectors who guarantee to do a hundred yard dash in thirty-six flat. Aided and abetted, by a police flivver these two worthies hastened to the scene.

Ahead of them, though they did not know it, was Doctor Stork himself.

They arrived at the place. There was some doubt about admitting them. Believing that they were on the trail of crime they forced their way into the house. They heard sounds that led them to believe that their presence was needed. Then they were stopped by a busy and competent woman.

"I told that fat-head to send me a 'doc,' not a 'cop,' averred the lady. Anyway, it's too late."

And the lusty cries of "His Nibs" bore witness to the fact.

WRECK INJURIES ARE NOT FATAL

ALAMEDA, Nov. 15.—Robert Gillette, 27 years old, residing at 9625 Cherry street, Oakland, and David Carmichael, 42, of 776 Fourteenth street, Oakland, are recovering today from injuries received yesterday when the automobile truck in which they were riding was destroyed by fire after being struck by a westbound Southern Pacific electric train at the intersection of Paru street and Encinal avenue in Alameda.

The train struck the truck near the rear, hurtling it through the air onto a lawn in front of the Encinal apartments, throwing both men clear of the wreck. The car took fire and the Alameda fire department was summoned.

The injured men were rushed to the Emergency hospital where they were treated by Dr. Ralph Sanders. It was found Gillette was the most seriously injured, having sustained a severe laceration of the scalp and a dislocated right hip. Carmichael was only slightly bruised and cut.

"Avoid accidents—life and limb cannot be replaced," is the slogan under which the American Railway Express company's forces in Oakland are participating in a national campaign for public safety inaugurated by that company.

According to M. G. Lickteig, general agent of the company, twenty-four motor and fourteen horse-drawn vehicles are employed by the American Railway Express in Oakland, and it is necessary for these vehicles to operate in the business district all day, while street traffic is at its height.

Illustrated posters urging caution in the handling of vehicles and impressing the seriousness of accidents upon drivers are being displayed in local express depots, garages and terminals.

Dog Bite May Fix City Status for Chiropractors

What is the exact status of a chiropractor in the eyes of the city administration, and to what extent should the advice of a chiropractor be followed?

This knotty question was laid before City Attorney Leon E. Gray today by the Oakland Civil Service board, which asserts that the question concerns a specific case, and which declares complete neutrality in the State-wide argument of pro-chiropractors and anti-chiropractors.

The case applies to a library board employee, who was bitten by a pet dog. The employee said that the incident, and not necessarily the bite, made her so ill that she desires a two-week leave of absence. She asserts that after the incident she went to her chiropractor, who was somewhat taken aback by the unusual situation and was not sure that the usual treatment would help her. However, he advised her to take two weeks' rest, and she has made the official request to the civil service board.

"If the chiropractor's advice is rated as medical advice she will probably get her leave," says Secretary C. C. DeWolf of the board. "If not, she stays at work."

City Attorney Gray's verdict may mean the official classification of chiropractors in the city, according to the officials.

USE OF WHISKY AS A MEDICINE GIVEN SCORING

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 15.—Whisky as a medicine was denounced today as useless, except in rare cases, by Mrs. Martha M. Allen, superintendent of the department of medical temperance of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, at the afternoon session of the organization's world convention. Mrs. Allen mentioned many hospitals throughout the country that never employ alcoholic stimulants, even for pneumonia, and cited figures to the effect that the death rate from pneumonia was greater when whisky had been used than when it had not.

The question of narcotic drugs was discussed by Sara Graham Mulhall, former first deputy commissioner of the New York state department of narcotic drug control, and Dr. Joseph Chamberlain, professor at Columbia University. Both speakers agreed that world-wide unity would be necessary to prevent the illegal use of drugs. Miss Mulhall said that there had been no increase in the taking of narcotic drugs since prohibition.

President Harding tonight sent a message of good wishes and success to the convention. The telegram was read to the audience and was received with great applause.

Mrs. Gordon Wright, president of the Canadian National W. C. T. U., said that government control of liquor in Canada had proved a failure.

WIDOW COMMITS SUICIDE BY AUTO EXHAUST FUMES

Santa Clara County Coroner Holds Inquest On Death of Mrs. Josephine Bell.

SAN JOSE, Nov. 15.—A coroner's jury brought in a verdict of suicide after hearing details of the death of Mrs. Josephine Bell, 45 years old, who killed herself by one of the strangest methods ever recorded in this county.

Mrs. Bell entered her garage, closed every crevice, door and window, muffled her head in an auto robe which covered the exhaust of her automobile engine, started the engine and sat down to await death, according to evidence introduced at the coroner's inquest.

The poisonous fumes of the engine did their work quickly. When she was found the engine was still running.

Mrs. Bell had repeatedly threatened to kill herself during repeated fits of melancholy, it was said. Her sister, a San Jose woman, had spent a number of days with her at her ranch near Gilroy, where she was in the habit of living alone following the death of her husband. The sister left her a few hours before her death, somewhat fearful at leaving her in so melancholy a condition.

Mrs. Bell made her preparations carefully. She stopped up small cracks in the garage walls with newspapers. Then she methodically started her motor and tucked the robe about her so that it would effectively keep out every trace of fresh air. It is estimated that only a few minutes were required before her purpose was accomplished.

Mrs. Bell's body was found by George W. Perkins, her next door neighbor, who noticed the automobile engine running for a long period without any one apparently near it. It was several minutes after he flung the garage doors open, before he was able to enter, so dense was the smoke of the exhaust.

Venire Exhausted in Solano Murder Case

FAIRFIELD, Nov. 15.—Owing to the large amount of publicity given the former trial of Bernard Kryks, charged with the murder of J. C. Hurley, his former garage partner of Dixon, the selection of a jury for the second trial now in progress is progressing slowly, the original venire of jurors having been exhausted and a new venire drawn and ordered to appear this morning.

The attorneys went through a venire of sixty yesterday without obtaining any satisfactory results, many of the prospective jurymen stating that they have already fixed opinions regarding the murder which could not be changed by hearing evidence.

Others to a small extent were against the death penalty, which is being asked by the prosecution.

It is not probable that testimony will be taken before tomorrow.

Sheriff William Hlecks, who is personally investigating, believes the burglars were well acquainted with the habits of the family and watched their opportunity to make a rich haul.

Spoons, Bottle Top, Hairpins Removed From Dog's Insides

A valuable Boston terrier, the property of Jack Russell, well-known actor, has undergone a unique operation performed by Drs. N. J. I. Nelson and G. W. I. Nelson, Thirty-eighth and Broadway. The operation included blood transfusion from a sturdy bulldog and removal from the terrier of the following articles which it had swallowed from time to time: Two silver ice-cream spoons, the stopper of a perfume bottle, and a hairpin. The operation, said to be unique in veterinary annals, was highly successful, and the terrier is said to be getting along well.

Dr. N. J. I. Nelson stated that the dog was first brought to the hospital last week, when it was diagnosed as suffering from pneumonia. After treatment the pneumonia was cured, but complications set in. Dr. Nelson then decided to have an X-ray taken of the dog's intestines and stomach, and this disclosed the presence of the motley collection of hardware within the valuable canine.

As the animal was very weak [illegible] nia, it was decided to stimulate it by a transfusion of healthy blood from the bulldog. Both the transfusion of blood and the subsequent operation for the removal of the foreign substances were highly successful. The bulldog shows no bad effects from its loss of blood, Dr. Nelson states.

HAYWARD COLD STORAGE PLANT HELD CERTAINTY

HAYWARD, Nov. 14.—Construction of a cold storage plant here is a certainty, according to an announcement by E. L. Macabee, manager for a large canning corporation here and chairman of the Chamber of Commerce cold storage plant committee. Macabee said it is probable that no definite action on construction of the plant will be taken until the first of the year, but that the establishment of the plant is a certainty.

The plant will be constructed either by the formation of a local stock company, or by a corporation already established here, Macabee said. It is believed that an attempt will first be made to finance the plant by the formation of a local stock company.

Orchardists, packers and shippers are unanimous in their approval of a packing plant. It is pointed out that there is no such plant between San Jose and Oakland, and that Alameda county's fruit and green vegetable yield, already tremendous, is increasing so rapidly that proper shipping and handling of it is already a problem.

The establishment of a cold storage plant here, it is believed, will make Hayward the shipping center of lower Alameda county. Fruits and vegetables from Hayward, Mt. Eden, San Lorenzo, Niles, Newark, Irvington, Centerville and the Castro Valley district, it is pointed out, would then be almost entirely handled through the plant. During the past season two packing houses here handled 56,000,000 pounds of fruit and vegetables.

Turlock Votes $25,000 Bonds To Drain City

TURLOCK, Nov. 15.—The question of whether Turlock was to be properly drained or whether the city and surrounding districts were to be left in the hands of fate so far as the surplus waters of the city were concerned was decided Monday.

The bond issue put before the voters was for $25,000, and it carried almost unanimously. There were two propositions to vote upon, one for the carriage of the sewage to a point where it could do no harm to the surrounding farm lands (this being a flat country), and the other to provide for extra facilities for the caring of the drainage in the city proper. The voting on the former proposal was: For, 185; against, 9.

On the proposal to further facilitate the city drainage the noes, for some unknown reason increased to 42, with 142 for the proposal to adequately drain the city proper.

The result of the vote will be a most welcome one to the city trustees, who are faced with several suits for damages to farms that are alleged to have been harmed by the excessive waters that have manifested themselves on the various farms through want of proper drainage.

It is understood that with the carrying of the vote, and the fulfillment of the drainage program the suits will be withdrawn, and the city will be saved many thousands of dollars in legal battles.

BOYS WEARY OF SHOW LIFE AND HEAD FOR HOME

SAN JOSE, Nov. 15.—Admitting that the gay appearing life of a traveling minstrel show loses its glamor after a few weeks, Roy Ralston, Ted Glade and Jake Glade, 14, 15 and 17, respectively, today expressed themselves at the probation office as willing and anxious to return to their San Luis Obispo homes.

The lads did what every lively youngster at some time in his life desires to do—ran away with a show, in this case a minstrel show instead of a circus. The itinerant group of minstrel comedians so caught their fancy at the San Luis Obispo opera-house, where the lads watched them enthralled from gallery seats, that they determined to enter upon so glamorous a life immediately.

They traveled well toward the northern boundary of the state during their month's itinerary, being allowed to do odd jobs around the show company. Hard knocks and late hours, however, soon caused the life to pall and, penniless, the youngsters started back for their San Luis homes.

They made the trip to San Jose in safety and were just "hopping" a freight for the final leg of the journey when they were picked up by Police Detectives Charles Hertell and Theodore Swanson and Railroad Officer Larry Finneran. They told a straightforward story and will be permitted to return to their homes in a few hours.

NEW POSTOFFICE AND DEPOT BORN IN CONTRA COSTA

Sequoia, in Redwood Canyon, Is Latest Addition to Mail and Railway Guides.

SEQUOIA, Contra Costa County, Nov. 15.—Sequoia is the latest name to be added to the postal and railway guides for California. It is the new station on the Sacramento Short Line railroad, a few minutes' run out of Oakland, in Redwood canyon, between Canyon and Wilcox stations. It has just been made a postoffice by the government, and W. J. Martinez has been designated as the first postmaster.

Sequoia became a railroad station and a postoffice on the same day this week, and simultaneously with the announcement from Washington that Martinez had been appointed postmaster came word from the general offices of the Sacramento Short Line that Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Olson, proprietors of the summer park at Sequoia, had been selected to act for the railroad company as station agents and baggage masters. An attractive rustic station house has been built by E. L. Wakeman and other citizens of the community for the convenience of patrons.

Sequoia is in the Moraga Redwood Heights district of the Redwood canyon, near Pinehurst and Madrona, and comprises a group of about 150 homes, many of them occupied by business men and women of the bay cities who commute after business hours. The town has a general store, telephones, electric lights and other facilities.

NATIVE FLOWERS WILL EMBELLISH CARMEL STREET

Former Dean of Boston Tech. Submits Plan to Beautify Parkways.

CARMEL, Nov. 15.—At a recent meeting of the Carmel trustees, Dr. Alfred E. Burton, chairman of the City Planning Commission, presented to the board a plan for planting the parkways on Ocean avenue with plants native to California. These park spaces are particularly the sections along the center of Ocean avenue. It is also supposed that the sidewalks shall have a uniform width of eight feet, regardless of material used, with four feet along the curb for planting.

The board accepted the recommendation of the planning commission for improving the appearance of Carmel's main street, and will act on it accordingly. A day, not earlier than the 22d of this month, will be set aside as planting day. The following plants, which will require little care or watering, have been approved by the committee in charge of this day: Wild currant, lilac, spirea, snowberry, the fuchsia-flowered gooseberry, browa genista, the artemesia Californica (sage), cascara, foxglove, and common myrtle. Under the supervision of Frank West, Arthur Vachel and C. Sumner Green, these plants will be arranged.

Dr. Burton was formerly dean of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He began his scientific career on the Geodetic Survey in 1879, with the late Admiral Perry, discoverer of the North Pole. When Perry left the survey to join the navy, Dr. Burton joined Boston Tech. Many years later Dr. Burton accompanied Admiral Perry on one of his polar expeditions to Greenland. Here he made pendulum observations on the shape of the earth. This work is Dr. Burton's specialty. In 1900 he was in charge of an eclipse expedition of the Boston Tech, which was sent to Washington, and in 1901, he was at the head of another expedition to Sumatra.

Since making his home in Carmel, Dr. Burton has taken a prominent part both in the political and dramatic life of the town. In his political capacity he serves as chairman of the City Planning Commission. He is also an enthusiastic promoter of the little theater movement in Carmel.

Goldfish Called To Breakfast by Man's Whistle

SAN JOSE, Nov. 15.—Maybe in your day you have whistled to Fido to come and get his breakfast, but did you ever whistle in the same manner for the goldfish?

If you haven't, Herman Krause, local interior decorator and designer, has.

Every morning Krause can be heard in the yard of his home, summoning the shining goldfish to their morning meal with a short, repeated whistle.

"People won't believe it, I suppose," says Krause. "They'll brand it as just another 'fish story,' but it is as true as the gospel. Every morning my fish come from the far end of the pool when I whistle, scurrying around each other in a mad scramble for the handful of shrimps that I feed them. Even at times when they are not hungry they will respond to my whistle, just to see what's up."

Krause has a large outside pond for his fish, a fad which, he says, is spreading rapidly. He has already designed many such ponds for new homes in the fashionable residential districts of the city.

New Hayward School Is Nearly Completed

HAYWARD, Nov. 15.—Completion of Hayward's new $150,000 grammar school building on upper Main street is expected by the first of the year, it has been announced by J. J. Thorup of the school system's construction force. Thorup says that twenty men, under Thomas Miller, foreman, are now working on the building.

The building, when completed, will be one of the most modern grammar schools in the state. Separate manual training and domestic science buildings, a large auditorium and amphitheater and an extensive playground are features of the school.

With the building completed it will be the headquarters for all upper grade pupils of the district. The present main school, on B street, will be devoted to primary grades, and the present system of warm schools will be maintained.

PEAR PRODUCERS PRAISE MEETING ON U. C. CAMPUS

Valley Growers Refer to It As Most Successful of Their Association.

SAN JOSE, Nov. 15.—Pear men from all over this valley are back at their orchards today after what they characterize as one of the most successful conferences in the history of their association.

The meeting took place at the University of California and was terminated by a banquet attended by 325, which is about twice the number that attended last year.

Problems of vital interest to the pear men were discussed. It was brought out that the loss through blight annually in the Sacramento valley alone is $1,000,000 and that improved methods must be marshalled to cut this figure.

That the pear acreage is increasing by leaps and bounds was the statement of speakers, it being declared that the marketing of the crops of the trees soon to come into bearing will be an important problem. Advertising to increase consumption was given as one solution for expanding the markets.

The problem of transportation was thoroughly gone into. President Sheehan of the Grape Growers' association, read a paper in which he declared that the railroads of the country are no longer able to care for the shipping of California fruit to eastern markets and that the purchase of refrigerator ships is the only "out."

Among those attending from this region were: W. T. McCurdy, J. Derol Chace, George Hamilton, F. A. Wilcox, F. A. Brachre, Gus Hunter, Mrs. A. M. Rodel, Al Standish, Douglas Sim, John Patton, V. V. Greco, H. A. Spencer, Harry McComas and George Monet.

IN A BOTTLE!

The producers of Mazola realize that absolute purity and the complete sterilization of vegetable oil are best insured when the oil is packed in tin. Oil sold from barrels, or in refillable glass bottles, may be unsanitary and of inferior quality.

The best imported oils are sold in tins. So is Mazola.

Mazola is packed only in full-measure cans, plainly marked on the label. It is never affected by the action of sunlight. Nor does Mazola ever become rancid. You need not keep it in the ice box, even in the hottest weather.

Mazola has the greatest sale of any brand of cooking or salad oil. This is because millions of American housewives have proved its superior worth in cooking, and its delicious taste as a pure and wholesome salad oil.

TECHNICAL HIGH WILL MEET OAKLAND TUESDAY IN GAME FOR FOOTBALL CHAMPIONSHIP

University Is Defeated by Technical Hi.

Schneider, Edwards and Cowes Do the Scoring For the Winners.

Last week the Oakland Acorns hung a 27 to 0 defeat on the University High Cubs, and yesterday the latter team was beaten by the Tech Bulldogs by just one point less, the final score being 26 to 0. These scores indicate a battling game when the Bulldogs and Acorns meet next Tuesday for the championship of the O. A. L., although student sentiment favors the Twelfth street school.

The entire Tech team played fine football against the Cubs, while the latter fumbled frequently and failed to work together. Johnny Edwards, Bill Cowes and Fred Schneider did all of Tech's scoring. Cocky Davis starred for the losers.

The first score came in the opening quarter, after the Bulldogs had torn enormous holes in the Cub line, for several first downs. Johnny Edwards carried the ball over, running through a broken field. Cowes kicked goal. Several minutes later, Pratt gained through center, and a pass, Chastain to Edwards netted a second try. The try-for-point was not completed. Edwards ran back a punt to the Cub 10-yard line and Cowes went over for another touchdown. In this same period Schneider received a pass from Cowes and ran it to the goal line for the last Tech score. Cowes kicked goal.

The line-ups:

Suffering has gone from your face, mother!"

S. S. S. Is the Great Builder of Red-Blood-Cells and Rheumatism Must Go! Just Try It!

"Rheumatism? Me? No, indeed, it's all gone, every bit of it! It's sunshine and joy for me now for the first time in years. I feel a wonderful glory again in the free motion I used to have when my days were younger. I look at my hands and think of the twists and swellings they used to have. I bend way over to the floor. I haven't been able to do that in many years. I can thank S. S. S. for it all! To me it was a rising sun of joy and liberty. Brothers and sisters in misery, do not close your eyes and think that health, free motion and strength are gone from you forever! It is not so. It is here and now for all of you. S. S. S. is waiting to help you." There is a reason why S. S. S. will help you. When you increase the number of your red-blood cells, the entire system undergoes a tremendous change. Everything depends on blood-strength. Blood which is minus sufficient red-cells leads to a long list of troubles. Rheumatism is one of them. S. S. S. is the great blood-cleanser, blood-builder, system strengthener, nerve invigorator. It stops skin eruptions, too, pimples, blackheads, acne, boils, eczema. It builds up run down, tired men and women, beautifies complexions, makes the flesh firmer. Start S. S. S. today. It is sold at all drug stores in two sizes. A Clever Shot Out of a Sand Trap at the Sequoyah Club

GOLF

By W. D. McNICOLL.

With a new par of 78 for the women members at Sequoyah, Mrs. Milton Barnard and her handicap committee will have to overhaul their entire list of handicaps. The present list has been quite satisfactory in club events, as trophy winners have been well distributed, but the Sequoyah members have been invariably under handicap when competing in open events. Mrs. Bernard, who was present at the recent meeting of the Women's Northern California Golf association, had this in mind when she suggested the new par for Sequoyah. In the recent city championship at Lincoln Park, neither Claremont nor Sequoyah competitors had much chance of success on the old handicap rating.

Miss Barbara Lee's brilliant showing, in which handicapping did not figure, was the only outstanding success the Sequoyah players made.

In winning the recent championship at Lincoln Park, Jack Neville, the Claremont representative, performed a feat in golfing that most experts recognized him capable of accomplishing, but his greatest feat was in capturing the appreciation of the Lincoln Park galleries where local feeling has in previous [illegible] favor the local boys. Jack Neville has done more than any other [illegible] consistent effort to introduce sportsmanship which makes golf a gentlemen's game.

Deceive Outstanding Feature of Horse Show at New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Deceive, the second old warhorse to uphold the traditions of the army at the National Horse Show, is occupying the limelight today that Moses, also representing the cavalry school at Fort Riley, Kansas, enjoyed yesterday.

Deceive is a thoroughbred gelding and rivals Moses in age, being nearly twenty years old. His particular feat in the present show was the winning of the Beresford challenge cup presented by Colonel Lord Decies.

As a jumper Deceive is said to have no superior. He won from a large and select field in taking the Beresford cup. Bred by A. H. Reed, in Lexington, Ky., and bought by the Army for $165, Deceive is as traveled as his army mate, Moses, who learned to jump on French battlefields. He has won prizes in Stockholf and Antwerp, and is known in every military post under the American flag as "the best horse in the army."

Head of A. L. Peeved Over Draft Rule

Prexy May Find Clubs in Own League Bucking Him on Issue.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.
International News Service Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Another of those political flareups for which major league baseball has become famous long since is in prospect when the joint meeting of the American and National leagues is held here in December. This one, so we are informed, is to be an issue between Ban Johnson and Judge Landis, baseball autocrats, past and present, and while the draft ostensibly will be used as a basis of argument, it will be nothing else than a fight to swing the balance of power over to the man who has become something of a baseball figurehead.

Johnson has promised to drop a bombshell into the major league meeting. This, it seems, is to take the form of a demand that the American League either force the five large minor organizations to swallow the draft, in toto, or suffer a boycott.

Such action would break the major-minor agreement, by the terms of which the American Association, Pacific Coast League, International League, Southern Association and the Western League were declared immune from the draft, and automatically would line up Johnson and Landis on opposite sides of the fence.

The National League would, of necessity, line up with the commissioner, since it went on record as late as last year as opposing a similar plan, introduced by Charley Ebbetts. And there you have the ingredients of another [illegible] little family brawl.

Some go so far as to intimate that an inter-league war is brewing. That, we believe, is stretching the possibilities too far. Johnson still is a power in the American League, and if a showdown came no doubt would have the St. Louis, Cleveland, Philadelphia, Washington and Detroit clubs with him, but showdowns are often unpleasant and expensive.

He must realize that he cannot hope to gain a decision over a rival league, standing in a body behind baseball's supreme head.

The weak spot in Johnson's armor is the adverse attitude of the New York, Chicago and Boston clubs toward him. It was this trio that opposed Johnson some three years ago in the famous Mays controversy and later favored Landis when baseball was reorganized and the famous jurist put at its head.

Pennsylvania Star Is Out on Injury

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 15.—John Dorn, the University of Pennsylvania star football center, will be out of next Saturday's game against Penn State because of a torn cartilage in the knee. Charles Adams of Spokane, Wash., who has been subbing for Dorn, will start the game in his place, it was said today.

Player List To Be Closed Late Tonight

Class A Managers Are Standing Pat On the Present Teams.

When Mr. John Clock strikes the hour of twelve tonight, the secretary of The Oakland TRIBUNE Midwinter League will breathe a sigh of relief, for it will mean the windup of one of the biggest jobs a secretary of any baseball league has ever had. When 12 o'clock is reached, the ban will be on all clubs signing for any players to participate in games of The Oakland TRIBUNE Midwinter League. The secretary had a great job on his hands keeping tab of the dozens of releases and signed players each week, but after tonight he will sit back and watch the boys all fight it out for the pennants in the different divisions.

It was believed that many releases of players would be turned in last night and Monday, but much to the surprise of the league directors, just a little more than a dozen releases were announced in the two days since Sunday. The Class A managers in most cases intend to stand pat on the teams they have, as only a few of them turned in releases. Bill Clancy of the Fruitvale Eagles, and Frank McCormack of the Del Monte Packers No. 6 were the only Class A managers to hand in releases last night. Clancy has made Elsworth White and Charles Bartoli free agents, while McCormack put the skids under H. Bertolomei and J. Simonsen.

But [illegible] managers handed in releases last night. Old Orchard Camp W. O. W. has released James O'Donnell, R. Laublin and C. Simon. The West Berkeley Merchants released Walter Oldenkamp and William Thomas.

Managers must have all signed contracts of new players into The TRIBUNE office not later than midnight tonight. A last request is made that if any managers intend to release players, they phone in the names of such players as early as possible so that the players will have a chance to catch on with another club.

CALIFORNIA READY TO WIND UP SEASON IN BLAZE OF GLORY

"We Just Struck Our Stride Against Washington," Says Erb; Nevada and Stanford Are Remaining Games

By DOUG. MONTELL.

Andy Smith is well satisfied with the Golden Bears. Andy, usually non-commital regarding his opinion on this or that, said so right out open-like upon the return of California from the Northwest and he was so certain that he was right that yesterday was declared a holiday for all concerned, practice to be resumed this afternoon. After their triumph in the north, the Bears can afford to coast this week, with Nevada. Bunny Hug and all, expected to give the second string but a mildly interesting afternoon. The Bruins hit top form against Washington, of that there is no question. Working to a peak with the idea of again decisively trouncing Bagshaw's boys, the Bears made good with a punch.

Yesterday the California campus echoed with tales of the game last Saturday. Grid players were cornered here and there whenever they showed themselves and were forced to relate all that occurred over and over again. We were fortunate enough to get in a few remarks edgewise to Captain Charlie Erb, muchly bruised as a result of his escapades on the gridiron, but all there.

Was No Walkaway Against Huskies.

"I'm here to tell the world that it was far from a walkaway, nowhere near the easy game that the score would indicate," said Charlie. "You must give Washington credit for having the second best team on the coast this year, I needn't say that California is first. Washington could give U. S. C. cards and spades and still walk away with the game and in my opinion there is no comparison of those two teams. Our showing in the south against U. S. C. was the poorest we have made in three years and had we played the Trojans last Saturday instead of Washington we would have waded through them to a far higher score than was hung up against Bagshaw's team.

Clean? Yes, the game up north was the hardest, cleanest game of the year. Both teams went at it hammer and tongs, hit hard and stayed up to the end, but it was a clean game through and through and Washington can be proud of her fight."

Washington Favored For Penn State Game.

And Charlie Erb knows whereof he speaks. For Charlie was out amongst those present on the gridiron throughout most of the game. The Bears, as a whole, faired well in the north, Archie Mishet, laid out by a cut over the eye early in the game, will be in shape for the game Saturday, although it is doubtful whether he will be in a suit. Morrison, Nichols, Spalding, Dunn, Burgess, in fact all the backs, are in the pink of condition and Andy Smith could shut his eyes and draw any combination with a feeling of security that his selections would make good.

It would seem that the opinion expressed by returning California players, would indicate that Washington is the logical team to be named for the game with Penn State New Year's in the south. Of course the Californians might be just a little prejudiced, especially when the report reached their ears that when the scoreboard at Pasadena last Saturday showed Washington leading 7-6, all hands and the cook cheered plenty. Just a little peeved with their southern friends, are the Bears.

FOOTBALL FACTS worth knowing by SOL METZGER

(Copyright, 1922, Sol Metzger.)

Q. Is it unsportsmanlike conduct for a back to slip a head gear under his arm and run as though he held the ball? Such a play was pulled on us and allowed.

A. It certainly should be considered unsportsmanlike conduct and should be penalized. Rule 21, Section 7 covers this ruling.

Q. A Southern team ran an end run to side-line occupied by opponents. End on that side claimed he was hurt and a substitute was sent out from his side-line clear across field to replace crippled end. End didn't stepped on field, just a matter of a few steps. Other end then started toward his own side-line, limping. When he got to center of field ball was snapped back and forward pass made to this end, who caught same and ran for touchdown. Was this play legal?

A. Nothing in the rules that covers this case. If the substitute reported in proper way and the man he was substituting for was off the field when the play was made, we cannot see how any official would be justified in ruling against the play. However, it is our opinion that it was "just within the law."

Q. If center is playing on end of line is he eligible for a forward pass?

A. Yes. The man occupying the extremity of the line of scrimmage is eligible to receive a forward pass. It does not matter who he is. If the center is on the extremity he is eligible. Rule 17, Section 7.

Q. If center is playing on end of that line means that one end is playing either a tackle, guard or central position in line. Therefore, doesn't this end thereafter lose his right to go into backfield less than 5 yards on offense?

A. No, he does not. In many shift plays the center is left on the end of the line of scrimmage. Plays that follow leave him in the center. The men who shift do not lose their right to act as they were prior to the shift. Rule 9, Section 4.

Q. In our last game, we had a man lay down near side-lines in order to make a forward pass to him. Rooters yelled at the other team and referee penalized that side for coaching from side-lines because that information prevented this team from executing this play. Was that right?

A. It seems to me that you were going as close to the limit of the rule as possible in hiding a man on the sidelines. However, if your man was on the field no penalty could have been imposed upon you. However, if the coaches or substitutes called out to the other team a penalty should have been inflicted. Rule 22, Section 1.

St. Mary's Expects to Give Olympics a Hard Tussle

Breaks Were Against Local College Boys in Game With Arizona, Says Coach Madigan

The Saint Mary's footballers are home from Arizona and are hard at work preparing for their game with the Olympic Club at Recreation Park on Sunday. There will be no shakeup in the Saints' lineup, as "Slip" Madigan has expressed himself as being satisfied with the showing of his team against the Wild Cats. According to Madigan, his team was out of luck entirely as far as the breaks were concerned while the backfield at critical moments lacked the drive to put over touchdowns. The Saints made far more yardage than the Arizona team and were inside of the opposition's five-yard line on seven occasions. Grant punted for an average of forty-five yards, while twenty-two out of twenty-four passes were completed. Yet Saint Mary's went scoreless. Either there is a well defined jinx in pursuit of the Oakland collegians or there is a cog missing somewhere, and to kill the jinx or to find the missing cog will be Madigan's job this week.

Madigan is a rather shrewd judge of football and he is not given to optimism, but he has expressed himself as being certain that his team can take the measure of the Olympics on Sunday. Put it down to determination, if you will, or credit it to a desperate attempt to put themselves back in the running, but both Madigan and his players are set on trouncing the greatest team that the Olympic Club has turned out. Most critics say that this can not be done. Madigan says that it can. Which is right we'll learn somewhere around 4:30 on Sunday.

One thing to cheer the followers of the Saints is the fact that the Oaklanders came out of the Arizona game without further injury. For the first time this season Madigan will have every man on his squad ready to get into the fray and this reserve strength will stand him in good stead against the clubmen. Undoubtedly the Saints have an excellent defense and at Recreation park they should show to better advantage than when playing away from home. The aerial attack at Arizona showed that the Saints have a great weapon of attack, for any team that can pull off twenty-two successful passes is far from a weakling in the offensive line. The Olympics have never looked overly good defending against this style of attack and unless their secondary defense has improved Madigan will cut loose with pass after pass on Sunday.

If Grant can kick anywhere like the fashion he did against Arizona, the Saints may be able to offset Patrick's punting to a great extent. Lane and Murdock, Saint Mary's ends, have mastered the art of hurrying the kicker and Patrick showed against Santa Clara that he was not at his best when he was rushed. Madigan has never depended upon a kicking game this season, but with Grant working in good form, the Saints' coach may employ this type of game to keep the play in the Olympics' territory.

BOXING CHATTER

The Navy Receiving Ship at San Francisco is giving a smoker and boxing carnival on Yerba Buena Island on Friday night. Seven high class boxing bouts are scheduled to be held in the drill hall of the main barracks at 7 p. m.

"Kewpie" Calendar of the Marine barracks at Mare Island vs. Earl Force of the Star Athletic club of San Francisco and Tommy Harris of the Star Athletic club vs. Soldier Patti are scheduled to share honors in a double main event that will be preceded by five preliminary bouts composed of the best service talent available.

Calendar, who has met Tod Morgan and many other good fighters on the coast, in matching with Earl Force has an opponent who has ten straight wins to his credit and so this fight will just about decide the featherweight title of the local service posts. Tommy Harris, who is another sailor fighter, will settle the bantam weight championship with Soldier Patti.

"Hippo" Burns made the matches. Other bouts listed on the program are "Cyclone" Nallaris vs. Bobby Pierce, Sailor Nenorte vs. Young Figueroa, Tommy Atkins vs. "K. O." Sanders, Sailor Joe Burger vs. Soldier Decker, Sailor Roberts vs. "Wop" Minoleum.

Visitors from Oakland should leave Key System pier at 6:20 p. m.

Hanford Inspected For Portland Camp

HANFORD, Nov. 15.—Fred E. Rivers, secretary and stockholder of the Portland club of the Pacific Coast Baseball League, came here yesterday and conferred with the directors of the Hanford baseball club relative to making Hanford the spring training quarters of the "Beavers."

Leaving for San Francisco after the conference Rivers said he felt certain that Hanford would be adding that as far as arrangements here are concerned "everything is very satisfactory." But that there are matters that must be considered by the directors of the Portland club before a definite decision can be made. Rivers had the Seattle team in training here in 1920.

Dan Edwards Loses To Johnny Curtin

Washington Huskies Leave North Today

SEATTLE, Nov. 15.—Coach Enoch Bagshaw and 25 University of Washington players are to leave here this afternoon for their contest Saturday at Palo Alto with Stanford university. They are due in Palo Alto in time to practice Friday afternoon, and are to be quartered at San Jose that night.

Coach Bagshaw is not making much of a workout Saturday in the struggle with California. He is drilling them in signals and admonishing them to employ more variety in their play.

The squad was to have light practice before leaving today. The return from California is to be on the steamship H. F. Alexander, which is going to give a football banquet.

Frank Chance May Re-Enter Baseball

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 15.—Rumors that Frank Chance, formerly manager of the Chicago National League baseball club and of the Los Angeles club of the Pacific Coast League, planned to re-enter baseball in the East were revived here today when it became known he had sold his ranch at Glendora, near here, where he had been living much of the last 12 years.

The rumors connected Chance with one of the major league clubs of Boston, but Chance himself was not quoted.

Missouri U. Coach Quits in Midseason

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 15.—Henry Gharrity, assistant coach, and S. G. Clevender, director of abilities, today were in charge of the University of Missouri football eleven, following announcement that Tom Kelly, head coach, had resigned.

No reason was given for Kelly's resignation.

Battling Ortega Loses Another One

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 15.—Sailor Tom King, middleweight champion of Australia, beat Battling Ortega at Milwaukee in ten rounds last night. The battler was almost gone in the tenth, but managed to stick it out. It was hammer and tongs slugging match throughout, with King on top of Ortega most of the way. In the fifth Ortega staggered King momentarily, with stomach punches and a couple of rights to the jaw but in no other round was the sailor in trouble.

In the semi-windup Johnny Trambitas won a technical knockout over George Welch of Seattle in the third round of an eight round bout.

Jess Williard to Show in Exhibition

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 15. — (United Press.) Jess Willard, former world champion heavyweight, will appear in a couple of two-round bouts with Tom Kennedy and Joe Bonds at the stadium here tonight. It will be Willard's first appearance in the ring since he began training here in the hope of getting a match with Jack Dempsey.

High School Teams Could Defeat Cards

Bad Knees, Shoulders and Colds Make Stanford a Sick Looking Outfit

By TOM IRWIN.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Nov. 15.—Andy Kerr's eleven couldn't beat Milpitas high school today. The Stanford squad is a mighty sick man. Both Wilcox and Doughty are in bad stages of despair, Fred Ludeke is just about all in with a bad shoulder, which makes him a companion to Joe Douglas, Bud Woodward still has a bad wrist. Cleaveland has an impossible knee, and Murray is in a bad way with a twisted ankle. Guy Dennis is limping on both legs from too much clipping, Dud DeGroot has lost fifteen pounds and can hardly speak because of a sore throat, every man in the line otherwise has a temperature, and the whole gang is temporarily on the rocks. As Tiny Thornhill said last night, the Stanford team ought to take a week's vacation in some mountain fastness where they might recuperate undisturbed. As it is, they will be pretty badly disturbed this week-end when Bagsy Bagshaw comes down from the north to forget about last week's game.

Kerr's men have been in poor condition ever since their return from their mud battle with the Oregon Aggies. Most of them caught cold and those who didn't soon contracted sore throats or coughs of some kind through contact with each other in the dressing rooms. Not one man on the squad can be said to be in good condition. Of course the rain last week didn't do any of them any good, but now that it has cleared up for a while at least some of them may begin to feel a little better.

DUD DE GROOT IS GAME.

Both Dud DeGroot and Norman Cleaveland, center and halfback, both mentioned as especially good in Saturday's game with the Trojans, had temperatures of over a hundred. And Cleaveland was doing the punting with a knee swelled up as big as a loaded balloon and passing with a stiff wrist. It is a wonder that U. S. C. didn't intercept every aerial attempt Wilcox's substitute attempted. Dud DeGroot, who normally weighs 208 pounds, went in weighing 195.

The Stanford captain's sickness probably accounts for his weakness in offensive play. Burning with fever and nervous to the point of unmanageable excitement, DeGroot broke through the opposing line time after time on the offense to get the secondary defense out of the way, but failing to care for the first line. The skipper's fight and grit saved many a Stanford rooter from convulsions when Campbell and Anderson carried the ball toward the Cardinal's goal.

That man Anderson who Art Wilcox stepped in the first quarter of last Saturday's game did not show that he was hurt after the Stanford back tackled him, but judging by the look of his knee Saturday night, he will be out of the game longer than Wilcox. Anderson did not feel the effects so quickly as Wilcox, who was merely shaken up and knocked out of business for about fifteen minutes, but when the results did begin to show they had a lot of force.

WILCOX A BUSY MAN.

One funny part about the Card-Trojan game was the fact that Wilcox made more yards in the half quarter he was in than any other Stanford back made in the whole game. And then people wonder where the Card's punch went. The wonder of the whole game is that Stanford made any yards at all.

Kerr will not allow any of his men to get into heavy scrimmage this week. They are all worked down to a fine point now in addition to being rather off their feed. He will simply run them up and down the field with the old signals and new plays for the Sundogers, who, it seems, are not such a much even on their own grounds. They ought to be easier for the Cards to tackle than the Trojans turned out to be and they will just about have to be if Kerr is to win. The Cards are in no shape this week to play any team within six points as good as U. S. C. What they should have is another Nevada game such as [illegible] rivals meet in the annual classic of the coast.

Jones' System Will Get Test At Princeton

Bulldogs and Tigers Appear To Be On Even Terms For Contest.

By JACKSON V. SCHOLTZ.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15. — The Jones' method of coaching, which has been under some criticism, will have its acid test Saturday, when Old Eli goes against Princeton in the second of this season's big three games.

Yale has been showing great improvement of late, and from where we sit it looks as if the Bull Dog and the Tiger would play a tie.

Of course, a favorite will pop up before game time. There has to be a favorite because the general football law, as in any other sport, demands something to wail about if the favorite loses, or an excuse to stage a snake dance if the under dog comes through.

Princeton is trained to take advantage of the breaks, and has shown ability to do this in practically every game this season. There will be breaks in the Yale game as in any other game, and if the Tigers are on the job, as usual, it looks like a score.

On the other hand, the Bull Dogs have shown a slowly increasing strength that will in all probability burst forth into something resembling real football in their first big three games. With the unquestionable strength and quality of Yale's material in the line and backfield, inspired by contact with an ancient rival, it is doutful if the Tigers can keep their goal line from being crossed.

College Declines To Replay Contest

MISSOULA, Mont., Nov. 15.—An offer to play another football game Saturday to settle the controversy arising from the game last Saturday won by the University of Montana by a disputed score of 6 to 0 was declined by the authorities of the Montana State College.

The controversy arose from a dispute of the timers as to when the game ended. The University made the winning touchdown in the last few seconds of play, according to one timer while the other alleged the touchdown was made after time was called.

In reply to the offer of the University the college suggested that game be decided by a committee selected and agreed upon by the heads of both schools.

New Course Record Made by Kerrigan

BRANNVILLE, N. Y., Nov. 15.—A new record for the course of the Siwanoy Country club has been established by Tommy Kerrigan, the club's professional, who ran third a year ago to Jock Hutchison and Roger Wethered in the British open championship.

Playing in a three-some with Dr. and Mrs. J. B Thomson, the latter one of the top-notch players in the women's association, Kerrigan yesterday covered the course in 66-32 out and 34 in.

Berdek Is Offered Lucrative Salary

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 15.—Hugo Berdek, state college football coach, has been offered a salary larger than any manager in the National League except John J. McGraw, to manage the Phillies for the next three years it was learned today. It is expected he will sign to lead the Quaker team.

NAPA-VALLEJO TO PLAY.

VALLEJO, Nov. 15.—Napa will play the Vallejo High School football eleven here in a C. I. F. contest on Saturday. The Napa team is considered one of the best in the C. I. F. League this season.

Santa Clarans Playing Safe In Easy Games

Coach Buckingham Not Letting His Regulars Take Any Chances.

UNIVERSITY OF SANTA CLARA, Nov. 15.—With one more gridiron battle on its schedule before the "little big game" with St. Mary's College, at California Field, on Thanksgiving Day, members of the Santa Clara varsity started preparations for their meeting with the Nevada wolf pack, at Reno, on Friday, November 24.

As Head Coach Buckingham used substitute players almost exclusively against the Mare Island Marines here on Sunday, every man on the first string eleven is in excellent shape. The fact that the Mechanites defeated the Marines by a score of 34 to 7 is considerable of a boost, for the "second stringers."

Santa Clarans will tackle Nevada just six days before the St. Mary's classic and Coach Buckingham is considerably worried. Anxious to win and at the same time keep his first string players from suffering any severe injuries is considerable of a problem. As to just what plan Buckingham will adopt is a matter of conjecture.

Plans for holding a monster football rally at the Hotel Whitcomb in San Francisco on November 29, the eve of the St. Mary's game, are rapidly maturing. Chief O'Brien and Lieutenant Jack Casey of the San Francisco police department are in charge of arrangements for the affair, which promises to be one of the most spectacular affairs of the kind held in San Francisco in years. Assisting on the committee is Errol V. Quill, Rev. Edmond J. Ryan, S. J., Rev. Victor White, S. J., and Joseph Murphy.

Tickets for the Santa Clara-St. Mary's game have been placed on sale at Spalding's and it is reported that there is a steady demand for tickets to the Turkey Day football classic.

Schaefer to Face Roger Conti Today

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Two of the winners and two of the losers will meet here today in the matches for the 18.2 balkline billiard championship of the world. In the afternoon match Welker Cochran, of San Francisco, who showed indifferent form in losing to Roger Conti of France, 500 to 376, yesterday, will meet Erich Hagenlacher of Germany, who was beaten by Jake Schaefer on Monday. In the evening, Schaefer, the present champion, will face Conti.

Billiard fans are still discussing the splendid showing made last night by Willie Hoppe, the former champion, in disposing of Maynard Hermans. This match, Hoppe ran out his string in nine innings, for an average of 55 5-9.

J. Simonich Takes Terrin Into Camp

BUTTE, Mont., Nov. 15.—Joe Simonich of Butte won from Sammy Terrin of St. Paul in the tenth round here last night. The St. Paul boxer was in distress and his manager, Mike Gibbons, tossed a towel into the ring, ending the bout. The men are welterweights. Farmer Lodge, 220 pounds, also of the Gibbons stable, stopped George Pappas, 188, of San Francisco in the second round on the same card.

35 CENT COTTON IS SEEN BEFORE CROP OF 1923

World Shortage Develops With Mills Making Efforts to Obtain Stocks.

BY CONSOLIDATED PRESS.
Special to The TRIBUNE.
By J. C. ROYLE

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—The world is faced today with a shortage of cotton supplies unparallel since the Civil War

If supply and demand continue to make their laws felt for the remainder of the season and they have in the last month, thirty cents a pound cotton in the near future is a certainty and the price from 35 to 40 cents is probable before the next crop becomes available. That is the general opinion of the best informed cotton men in the South and in New England as expressed in reports received by wire within the last 24 hours.

The coton situation is of pressing interest to every man and woman in the United States for each is affected to a greater or less degree by the price and supply of this basic commodity.

CROP OUTLOOK

Foreign grown cotton is estimated this year at 6,500,000 bales or 2,000,000 bales less than normal. The American crop, according to the most accurate authorities is in the neighborhood of 9,500,000 bales of lint, or about ten million bales including linters. There will be therefore approximately 15,000,000 bales of American cotton including the carry over from last year of 4,900,000 bales, available for the 12 months ending next August 1

Consumption in the last cotton year was 12,850,000 bales. There is every reason to believe it will be greater this year but assuming that only 12,000,000 bales will be consumed this 12 months, there would remain on August 1, 1923, but 3,000,000 bales. Another million bales would be required in August before the new crop began to make its appearance. This would reduce the stock to 2,000,000 bales or [illegible] less than the American mills would need as reserve stocks. Europe, facing a shortage of 2,000,000 bales of foreign grown cotton will be even more dependent than ever on the American supply. These [illegible] an eminent [illegible] the belief that an 11,000,000 bale American crop would [illegible] 27 cent cotton at Southern ports. Since that time, the foreign crop has dwindled to 1,000,000 bales and the American crop even more

BIG PRICES SEEN

Such an outlook makes any price possible especially as a large part of the current crop has passed into the hands of co-operative associations and strong holders who declared today they would not sell under 30 cents. Anything that tends toward uncertainty as to next year's crop may lift the price above the figure, for it will take two good crops to supply the needs of the world and provide an adequate surplus.

Feverish activity of cotton mills to lay in heavy stocks is reported Southern mills have been heavy buyers from the time the crop started to move and textile men in the South declared today they were in a position to undersell the world on cotton goods. They have all the business they can handle and many of the orders recently booked would yield a profit [illegible] higher than it is Southern employers declare they are menaced by no labor troubles

Boston reported today that cotton goods manufacturers recognized the serious shortage of cotton and brokers who have made tours of the South are advising their clients to cover their requirements at anything like present prices.

30 CENTS EXPECTED

The feeling in New England is that cotton may go to 30 cents or higher. Present prices for cotton goods, they say, have not shown advances equal to those of raw cotton, although they have jumped from fifteen to 25 per cent in the last few weeks. Manufacturers are anxious over whether consumers will pay prices for cotton goods commensurate with higher costs of the raw staple

Farmers generally in the cotton states will plant every available acre next year but the largest acreage planted is not likely to produce more than 11,000,000 bales unless the production per acre increases greatly over what it has been the last two years. The size of the next crop is dependent largely on the amount of calcium arsenate available. That chemical is said to be the most practical weapon yet discovered against the boll weevil.

California Oil For U. S. Ships

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Contracts for 1,000,000 barrels of fuel oil to be delivered by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and 1,000,000 barrels to be delivered by the Texas Company, were awarded today by the shipping board The prices fixed represent an advance of about 50 cents a barrel over that paid in the last previous purchase.

The Standard Oil contract calls for a price of $1.30 to $1.57½ a barrel, varying according to the ports of delivery and for a price of $1.36½ to $1.64 a barrel on barges The Texas Company port price ranged from $1.39 to $1.49 a barrel and the barge price $1.55½ a barrel.

Delivery will be between November 15, 1922, and December 31, 1923. It is understood that the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey in fulfilling its contract will secure the oil from California fields instead of from Mexico as in the past.

BUSINESS and FINANCE

An inevitable rally in prices occurred today when it became evident that the recent liquidation and bear selling had depressed prices to levels which attracted strong buying. Re-purchases by the shorts were on a large scale and public buying was also a factor in causing many adavnces of 1 to 15 points. Sales approximated 1,200,000 shares on Wall street.

Initial prices of the New York Stock Exchange today were slightly mixed with special shares showing a repetition of yesterday's liquidating sales, especially Consolidated Gas, which dropped 4⅝ points in response to the new capitalization plan Dupont was also off 3 points. American Sugar preferred 2½, and Chesapeake & Ohio and Punta Brothers. A one point. Union Pacific advanced 2½, Chicago Northwestern 2 points and New York Central, Delaware, Lackawanna Reading, Texas & Mexico and Lake Erie preferred 1 to 1½. Standard Oil of New Jersey was up 1½ and California 2 points Baldwin and General Electric gained 2 with Lima Locomotive 1. In the miscellaneous list advances running from 1 to 2½ were scored by National Biscuit Famous Players, Allied Chemical, U S Alcohol, Columbia Gas, American Woolen, May Department Stores Montana Power and Atlantic Gulf

The market registered an extensive [illegible] of substantial advances during the morning. Hurried coverings of shorts impelled by indications that over-selling had been carried too far in various issues, and signs that current prices were attracting the attention of bargain hunters caused active bidding for stocks with resultant advances of one to four points in many instances. Cessation of the recent liquidation in foreign bonds and domestic issues were apparent also. European issues rising ½ to 3 points while domestic liens gained 1½ to 2 points. The rapidity of the advance in stocks caused some realizing which lowered Union Pacific, Gulf States Steel, Chicago Northwestern and Utah copper 2 points from their best prices Weakness also was shown by General American Tank Crucible Steel, Canadian Pacific. Royal Dutch [illegible] Atlanta and Jones Brothers Tea which fell 1 to 2½ points under yesterday's final figures. [illegible] tending downward at [illegible] the weight of [illegible] selling which were quite effective in the steel group. Bethlehem [illegible] a point under yesterday's close.

Call money opened at 5 per cent.

Business on a large scale featured the early bond market. While there was a period of hesitation at the outset in which losses running from ½ a point to 1 point were scored by some of the foreign, public utility, speculative railroad and industrial issues with Liberty bonds also receding from 10 to 32 points, the entire market moved vigorously upward later. French 7½s moved up 3 points, Tokio 6s, French 8s, and Paris-Lyons-Mediterranean 6s, 2 to 2½. Much of yesterday's severe decline was recovered elsewhere, gains of one to two points being accomplished in St. Louis and San Francisco income 6s and adjustment 6s Chesapeake and Ohio convertible 5s, Pennsylvania General 4½s, Southern Railway 4s Erie General 4s, Canadian Pacific 4s, Norfolk and Western Convertible 6s, Interborough Rapid Transit 7s, Brooklyn Rapid Transit certificates 7s, Chile Copper 6s and 7s, Cerro de Pasco 8s and Goodyear Tire 8s of 1941.

Standard Oil issues were in good demand on the curb during most of the day [illegible] moving up with much vigor after mixed movements in the early trading. Standard Oil of New Jersey came into more prominence because of increased demand from various sources. Some of the Standard Oil issues, however, reacted after showing strength during most of the day Independent Oil stocks were fairly well held, but several of the speculative issues were in supply, among them Southern States Oil, which sold down to a new low for recent trading Gulf Oil was strong and made a gain of over 1 point. Mammoth Oil reacted after selling at 4⅞, but was steady on that recession. Seaboard Oil sold ex-dividend of 2½ per cent Mining stocks showed increased activity New Dominion was one of the firm issues.

SEPTEMBER LOOMS BIG IN CALIFORNIA FINANCING

The volume of new corporate bonds and note issues in California was very substantial during the month of September. Since Cyrus Peirce & Company commenced their monthly record of such financing only the months of January, May and June, 1922, have shown larger totals of offerings.

At the same time the total of capital issues in the United States for that month was very great—aggregating $565,824,897, including railroad, municipal and foreign bonds and stock issues. The volume of bonds of the classes covered by the Cyrus Peirce & Company compilation was necessarily also large, having been exceeded in only three previous months.

California [illegible] its theoretical proper proportion of 3.23% of the new offerings. The [illegible] subscribed in this state was 7.26%, which was made up of 8.96% of the utilities and 6.63% of the industrials.

NATIONAL BANK WILL OPEN BRANCH UNIT

The first branch of a national bank to be established in Northern California will be opened in temporary quarters at 3320 East Fourteenth street Saturday by the Central National Bank of Oakland, according to an announcement today by J. F. Carlston, president of the institution. The branch will be known as the Fruitvale Agency of the Central National Bank.

National bank expansion is made possible through a recent ruling of the Controller of Currency D. R. Crissinger, who granted the Central Bank permission to establish the Fruitvale office

A site for a permanent banking building has been purchased at the northeast corner of East Fourteenth street and Fruitvale ave. Plans are now being drawn for the structure, which it is estimated, will cost approximately $100,000. The ground floor of the new building will be handsomely equipped as an up-to-date banking room with modern facilities for handling every transaction pertaining to banking, it is stated.

George Hans, who has been a resident of the Fruitvale district for many years, has been engaged as manager of the Fruitvale office

NOVEMBER POSTAL SAVINGS SHOW GAIN

Postal savings deposits November 1 aggregated $134,837,000, it was announced by the Postoffice Department today, which said there were "signs of returning health noted in operations of the savings service during October."

Withdrawals for October were largely offset by increased deposits, notably in West coast cities, but the balance at the end of the month was given as $788,000 lower than September 30.

The department, however, said that withdrawals, which have characterized several previous months, apparently have been checked.

RICH SULPHIDE VEIN OPENED IN BENSLOW MINE

Sensational Strike Is Made Also in Tanner; Slab of Quartz Is Worth $600.

MURPHYS, Nov. 15.—Rich sulphide ore has been encountered in the Benslow mine near here. The extent of the strike has not been made public, but it is known to be of unusual importance and may be taken to indicate the presence of a big ore chute.

The Tanner mine has made one of the most sensational strikes in years. Specimen gold has been encountered at depth, one slab of quartz having been taken out which was valued at $600. The mine has every indication that it is on the eve of a highly prosperous future, the ledge being large, well defined and giving every evidence that it will contiue to great depth.

Engineers for the Oro Plata Tunnel company are on their way here from New York, and wire that as soon as they arrive the long-delayed work of driving the tunnel to tap the rich gravel channel beneath this historic mining town will begin. It is believed that the work can be completed within nine months. Of particular interest is the fact that the tunnel will cut six or more known quartz ledges at depth, all of which have paid handsomely near the surface. The tunnel will drain off the great flow of water which prevented the early-day miners from drifting under the town.

SONORA

SONORA, Nov. 15.—The old Omega mine, once a splendid producer of yellow metal, is to be reopened and developed on a thorough scale. P. A. Herivel, one of the principal owners, is here from Los Angeles and announces that he will personally supervise exploration work as soon as the underground workings are unwatered. Mr. Herivel and his associates are prepared to spend a large sum of money in their undertaking, which embraces a comprehensive plan to [illegible]. The mine is situated near Jamestown and is 600 feet deep. It has been idle for a number of years.

NEVADA CITY

NEVADA CITY, Nov. 15.—The hydraulic mines at Brandy City are being placed in shape for the winter season. Improvements have been made to the flumes, sluices and restraining barriers, and the giants will be placed in commission as soon as sufficient water is available. Huge banks of auriferous gravel have been placed in shape for hydraulicking. The Brandy City property is one of the largest hydraulic mines operating in Sierra county. George F. Taylor has resumed his old position as superintendent.

RANDSBURG

RANDSBURG, Nov. 15.—With more than twenty strong companies actively at work, the silver bearing section of the Randsburg field is showing increasing activity. The California Rand and a number of other companies are producing, and before the end of the present year the Ben Hur and other Nevada companies promise to enter the productive list. The Ben Hur company's heavy machinery has arrived and as soon as the new hoist is in place shipments will be made steadily to the Baltic mill, recently taken under lease, and to the Humboldt smelter at Prescott, Arizona. Ore of excellent grade is reported exposed on the 200 and 300 levels.

The Ben Hur Extension is completing installation of equipment purchased from the Ben Hur company and will soon start sinking.

YREKA

YREKA, Nov. 15.—Although early snows have forced suspension of work at many quartz properties in the higher elevations placer mining is about to start on a large scale in the Salmon river district. The Oak Bottom Placer syndicate and Victory Mining company, two of the largest operators in Siskiyou county, are energetically prosecuting work in the Salmon river field and preparing for the most [illegible]. The Oak Bottom Placer syndicate recently completed installation of a large hydraulic plant, including a flume line costing approximately $15,000. The company controls one of the largest placer propositions in Northern California.

Placer mining is very active at Happy Camp, Sawyer's Bar and other points with several rich deposits reported uncovered in the past few months. In the Humbug district Bannister and Dowling [illegible] slope of Humbug mountain. The discoverers state that apparently a hillside of excellent gravel has been found and arrangements have been made for extensive operations.

RETAIL BUYING IN PAST WEEK SETS RECORD OF YEAR

Trade Barometer All Over Country Registers Big Purchasing Wave

By Consolidated Press
Special to the Tribune.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—More money was spent in the department stores of the country the past week than in any six-day period this year.

The drop in temperature all over the country has been followed by a corresponding rise in the barometer of retail trade. The real indication of the trend of business, however, is found in wholesale and jobbing circles Wholesalers and manufacturers are being called on to meet a belated demand which active buying has forced on the most pessimistic retailers

Even the farming communities are buying, although the complaints of the agriculturists are legion. They assert that in spite of the increase in grain prices they are suffering more severely than any other line of industry from car shortages. They complain of the unbalanced supply and demand and of the rises in commodities which they have to buy in exchange for the crops they raise.

Back of all these perfectly true statements, however, there lie the facts that crops have cost less to produce this year than at any time since the war, that the nation is realizing on the asset of thrift for the last two years and that both farmers and merchants have paid their debts and reestablished sound credits.

Orders now on the books of the steel manufacturers show conclusively that the majority of them could run at present production until the end of next spring if not another order were received. The steel makers are accepting orders for next year. The average percentage of output throughout the country is well over 75 per cent of capacity, and dozens of plants are approaching 100 per cent. Some are adding new units to existing plants, for the first time since the war.

There are two dominating factors in the agricultural and manufacturing fields today. They are cotton and wool Each is in short supply. World demand indicates that neither immediately will fall appreciably below present levels and that the prices for products manufactured from them will experience a still further advance.

Dealers today paid prices for Texas fall crops of wool that would have been scoffed at a year ago. Cotton growers are talking confidently of thirty-cent cotton. Buyers of cloths are rushing into the market before further advances become operative. What the ultimate consumer will pay is not entirely determined but present indications are that the inevitable swing upward in retail prices will stimulate rather than check consumer buying.

The demand for paints is holding up higher than ever before at this season of the year although profits have been affected slightly by advances in raw material, especially lead. Building materials have not advanced in the majority of districts.

Apples and potatoes are drugs on the market. The coming of excessive production and slow marketing enforced by car shortage has been fatal to profits in many sections. Poultry, in excellent supply both from the farms and from the storage warehouses, is selling at reasonable prices.

"A Little Knowledge"

Is a dangerous thing—unless it is intelligently applied. A little knowledge of an automobile engine may save a world of trouble and expense by indicating to the owner the need for expert advice.

Similarly, something more than a superficial knowledge of investments is an excellent thing, though it will probably not enable the average investor to dispense with the benefit of the expert knowledge enjoyed by his financial advisors.

Among the publications of this office is the "Investor's Catechism," which many of our clients have studied with profit. It has made them familiar with the rudiments of investments and financial conditions, with the consequent profit and enjoyment which a well-chosen hobby brings in its train.

The investment of savings is a very serious and important matter to the success of which intelligently applied knowledge and expert advice are necessary.

We believe the "Investor's Catechism" is a helpful little booklet, and will be glad to send it to any investor entirely without obligation.

HAM AND BACON PRICES SHADED; LAMB IS HIGHER

Cranberries Keep Edging Upward As Thanksgiving Draws Near.

Ham and bacon of the better grades have taken a drop in the past 24 hours of from one to two cents per pound. Fresh lamb, on the other hand, is getting into the class where it is all by itself as a good luxury.

Turkeys, both dressed and live, are plentiful in the markets, both wholesale and retail. Dressed stuff is quoted at 48 to 50 cents with 52 for the prime quality.

Indications are for another jump in the price of cranberries as the Thanksgiving dinner time approaches. The rate of $20 a barrel was expected by dealers to be jumped to $21. This is for Cape Cod and Jersey fruit. The Oregon variety is selling for from $5.75 to $6 a box.

Arrivals today included two cars of potatoes and two of apples.

The carlot movement of 14 important fruits and vegetables for the week ending November 11 was 15,044 cars, a decrease of more than 5000 from the preceding week, according to the weekly market review of the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

About half the loss was due to a lighter potato movement. Shipments of boxed apples, lettuce and spinach were slightly heavier, but all other lines moved in lighter volume.

Potato markets were firm in the east, but weaker in other sections. Cabbage declined and other lines showed few marked changes.

Building in New England Slows Up

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—Building in New England is beginning to slow up, which is natural at this season of the year, but enough work is in progress to indicate much larger operations than usual throughout the winter. It is still difficult to obtain deliveries on heating and plumbing supplies and many buildings contracted for weeks ago, will not be completed until after the turn of the year.

The cotton textile mills are running close to capacity except where labor troubles prevent. Wool and worsted manufacturers are increasing operations and shoe manufacturers are enjoying a normal business.

UNDERWEAR HIGHER

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Manufacturers of underwear have increased the prices of their offerings for next spring about 15 per cent. Many manufacturers have sensed the return to two-piece garments and are making their plans accordingly.

Industry Loans Urged on Banks

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 15.—Addressing the sixth annual meeting of the Bankers' Club of Cleveland last night, Chas. M. Schwab, chairman of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, urged bankers to look with greater favor upon industrial securities. About 600 bankers and business men from Ohio, Pennsylvania and Indiana attended.

"In my opinion securities of properly managed industrial companies are the best for bankers to loan on." Mr. Schwab said. "They are not subject to the vagaries of legislation to such an extent as our railroad stocks and bonds, but for some reason our industrial issues have been greatly hampered."

Lumber Tied Up By Car Shortage

[illegible] today cannot supply cars to move the lumber out from the Alabama and Mississippi mills to consumers here. Dealers in portable saw mill equipment have done a record business this fall and independent lumbermen are working over small farm tracts in order to supply the demand.

Harmony Urged In Rate Making

Will Work in Harmony With State Boards.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 14.—Plans for co-operation between Interstate Commerce Commission and State Railroad Commissions in regulating railroad service have been carried sufficiently far to insure their ultimate success, Chairman McChord of the federal body declared today in an address before the national convention of railway and public utilities commissioners. The joint exercise of state and national authority with elimination of conflicts between them, he said, would put the transportation utilities of the country to their greatest use.

"Within the realm of commerce there should be no state lines," Chairman McChord said "and the building up of symmetrical rate structures for the use of interstate and intrastate shipper can best be accomplished beyond question, by harmony of purpose and action among the respective regulatory bodies.

"There can be no conflict of authority in harmonious action laid down in the present plan, and for the development and effectual application of the plan we need no statutory authority or assistance."

McChord explained that the method adopted was that of having state commissions associate with the interstate commerce in decisions on matters of mutual interest and having state commissions issue all necessary orders upon matters affecting service in their own state.

EASTERN MARKETS

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—Notwithstanding a hesitant start, fresh strength quickly developed in the wheat market today. Active buying on the part of houses with eastern connections was responsible for the upward swing of values. Uncertainty at the outset was associated more or less with news of the overthrow of the Wirth administration in Germany, but offerings of wheat were scarce and the market readily advanced when buyers became aggressive. The opening, which varied from ⅛c off to ⅛c up with December 1.17¼ to 1.17⅜ and May 1.15½ to 1.15⅝, was followed by a moderate sag and then by sharp general upturn to well above yesterday's finish.

Corn and oats largely paralleled the action of wheat. After opening [illegible] 70¼c the corn market underwent a little setback, then rose above initial figures, December touching a new high price record for the season. Oats started ⅛@¼c lower to ⅛c higher, December 42¾ to 42⅞c and later scored slight gains all around.

Provisions lacked support.

Conference of international bankers under the lead of J. P. Morgan opened in Paris today.

Special meeting of National Biscuit stockholders is being held today to ratify a proposal for a 75 per cent dividend.

Census bureau reports October cotton exports 738,664 bales including 1,555 bales linters.

Royal Dutch Petroleum stock is reported from international financial circles to be exceptionally well bought on the market decline. For some time past there have been stories in circulation suggesting important developments in the way of new acquisitions by this concern. Reference was made to General Asphalt in this connection during the break in the latter issue.

Valuable Russian oil equities are understood to have been acquired this year.

The excellent earnings statement published by Marland Oil showing $1,662,000 for the first nine months of 1922, after payment of previous dividends is largely responsible for the resistance displayed by this stock to market decline. It is said the company is earning its dividend of $4 a share annually with at least a margin of $3 additional. Merger rumors have been circulated in connection with Maryland but nothing has developed up to this writing in that respect. The company is a strong financial condition with outstanding bank loans said to have cut down to less than a million dollars.

American Bankers Association has elected, Executive manager, Fred N. Shepherd; treasurer, F. A. Irish, president First National Bank, Fargo, N. D.; general counsel, Thomas B. Paton, and secretary and assistant treasurer, William G. Fitzwilson.

Western Light & Power Co. Earned a balance of $234,231 for year ended September 30, as against $124,894 for 1921. Blyth, Witter & Co. announce. Gross earnings for September were $109,449, as against $92,333 a year ago. Operating expenses were $76,386, as against $72,291; and net earnings were $33,063, with $20,042.

Oil operators of the Salt creek field have decided to take 40 per cent of the production from now on according to a Denver dispatch yesterday. This means an increase to about 75,000 barrels daily, exclusive of any oil from the Teapot Dome.

Net income of the Marland Oil Company during the nine months ending September 30 was $2,672,023, after all deductions.

The Prairie Oil and Gas Company is expected to be the next member of the Standard Oil group to declare a stock dividend. According to rumors heard in the financial district yesterday the board of directors may also vote an extra cash distribution. The stock dividend, it is said, will be so arranged that present shareholders will receive ten new shares for each share now held.

Customer ownership sales of preferred shares of the operated public utility properties of Standard Gas and Electric Company during October resulted in 2175 transactions.

Rumors afloat to the effect that directors of the Consolidated Gas Company are about to announce an offering of new preferred stock to be sold direct to the public with a possible additional offering of common stock.

Advances of 10 to 15 per cent made by some broad silk manufacturers a few weeks ago when raw silk prices began to soar sharply are now being duplicated gradually by the entire trade. Some few mills are still selling on the lower basis, but the majority have brought their quotations up nearer to replacement levels.

Everybody Keep Feet on Ground

S[illegible] (By The Associated Press.)—If everybody "keeps his feet on the ground," widespread prosperity will soon be here, Robert M. Cowie of New York, vice-president of the American Railway Express Company, declared today in a speech before the Noon Day Luncheon Club.

Explaining that the business of the express company is a commercial barometer, he said this indicated that the only essentials for commercial prosperity now are "cool headedness, cheerful outlook and confidence in the future."

"The transportation system has been sick for a considerable period," he said. "It has been doctored and dosed with nostrums by the State and Federal governments, in an effort to keep it alive. What is needed most now to rejuvenate this body is to stop the giving of these medicines and to allow the system a chance to recover, with the assistance of a proper tonic. That tonic is to be found by the production of capital that is necessary to build up the body to a healthy condition."

"The [illegible] has been injured," he declared, by the coal and rail strikes, adding that both the "rail carriers and the express companies are on their toes bending every effort to restore normal service."

CAPT. NORBERG IS SUSPENDED FOR WRECK OF TANKER

U. S. Inspector Also Takes Away License of Pilot Benner For Three Months.

Captain John A. Norberg, commander of the Walter A. Luckenbach, and Captain George A. Benner, acting pilot, were suspended for three months by Captain John K. Bulger, inspector of hulls and boilers, yesterday. Captain John Cloyd of the Lyman J. Stewart had a charge of prematurely abandoning his vessel lodged against him. He was exonerated from all blame of collision by Captain Bulger, however.

The collision which resulted in the total loss of the Lyman Stewart occurred October 7 in the Golden gate. The Stewart is still on the rocks off Point Loobs.

The findings blame the Luckenbach boat because of careless navigation. Captain Bulger states as follows: "In view of the testimony, I am of the opinion that the steamer Walter Luckenbach was carelessly navigated by Captain Norberg, who was at the time piloting the vessel while entering the harbor, and that Captain Genner left the Lyman Stewart without attempting to render assistance in placing or attempting to place a line on the Lyman Stewart after receiving a wireless message from Captain Cloyd to do so, or leaving a lifeboat and crew from his vessel before entering the harbor to render the assistance to the crew of the Lyman Stewart, if the case were necessary."

Captain Bulger further stated that the evidence of the officers and crew of the Luckenbach was conflicting, especially as to speed and engines.

Fishing Boat Burns Crew Saved in Dory

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14.—News of the burning of the fishing boat La Touche off Point Dume, 20 miles west of Santa Monica last night was brought to Los Angeles harbor this afternoon by Captain Dominque Martinez and his crew of five men who escaped in a small boat.

A back fire from the motor of the LaTouche started the blaze and the craft sank soon after the men got away from her. She was valued at $20,000. Martinez and his men landed near Point Dume and passed the night in the Santa Monica mountains, making their way back along the coast to Santa Monica and thence to the harbor today.

Montana to Start Bremen Service

The International Merchantile Marine freighter Montana, now on this coast under charter to the Luckenbach line, will inaugurate a new service between Hampton Roads and Bremen, Germany, upon completion of her present intercoastal voyage, according to Capt. Thomas W. Garlick. The Montana was chartered to the Luckenbach line for one round trip and will be turned back to her owners on the East Coast early in December. The Montana will load at Hampton Roads, alternating with her sister ship, Montauk. The new service is being established following the discontinuance of the Kerr line from Norfolk to Hamburg and Bremen, according to Captain Garlick.

WILHELMINA IS LAST OF SUGAR FLEET FOR 1922

Sugar Season in Hawaii Brought to Close For Year —550,000 Tons Output.

The Matson liner Wilhelmina is bringing the Hawaiian Island sugar season to a close with her present cargo, according to Matt Lindsay, traffic manager of the Matson Navigation Company. No more large consignments will be dispatched.

The freighter Hyades, which arrived Wednesday, carried 73,000 bags of sugar, but the liner Maui, arriving the day previous, had none. The 1922 grinding season in the islands is at an end.

Since all of the Hawaiian sugar exports were routed to San Francisco this year, none going to the East Coast as in previous years, a record total of approximately 550,000 tons passed through the Golden Gate. About 125,000 tons were sent to the North Atlantic last year, and this figure fairly represents the gain in the San Francisco tonnage.

The movement of canned pineapples also is nearing a finish for the season, and the eastbound Hawaiian trade will be dull until next year's crops are available.

The Isthmian freighter, ROBIN GRAY, commenced the discharge of a large cargo of window glass, tin plate and metal sheathing at the Lawrence Terminal. Nearly all of this is being absorbed by local building operations.

The Dog Watch

By FRANK CLIFF.

The United States Bureau of Fisheries and the hydrographic office are making extensive experiments in an endeavor to determine the course of coastal currents on both the Atlantic and the Pacific sides of the continent. The object of the Bureau of Fisheries is to determine certain current drifts in order to determine the possible movement of shoals of fish along the two coasts and their probable congregation points. In an effort to trace these currents and the movement of the finny inhabitants, 1500 bottles were recently thrown overboard from bureau and other vessels.

The hydrographic office on the other hand is endeavoring to determine the coastal currents in order to give better aid to navigators operating especially in the intercoastal trade lanes. Several bad wrecks have occurred within the past few years because of the lack of this knowledge. A request has been made by the bureau for steamer captains to co-operate in both gathering and dropping bottles and in informing the office of results obtained. These results are plotted and made public for the benefit of other investigators along the same lines and for mariners. Much valuable information has already been brought to light as a result of the work.

VEGETABLE OIL FROM MANILA.

The motorship Donna Lane arrived in port yesterday with 6000 barrels of vegetable oil stowed away in her holds. This was put aboard in Manila and is one of the largest shipments of this kind that has entered the Golden Gate. The Donna Lane also had aboard a shipment of 750,000 feet of hardwood lumber.

SEVEN SHIPS PURCHASED.

W. L. Comyn has returned to San Francisco after having purchased or made arrangements for buying seven ships to be placed under the flag of Panama. The boats will be officered by German officers, all of whom are now American citizens, according to Comyn. They will be manned by Chinese crews. The boats themselves are ex-German vessels.

The Ida is now en route to China with a cargo of case oil. The Arcadia is en route to Curacao with coal. After discharging this she will proceed through the canal to Chili for a cargo of nitrate. The Pequot is due in California for lumber this week. The Insonomia will leave Norfolk for California next Saturday. She is also to load lumber for offshore ports. The Antipodes is on her way to Ketichikan to take on a cargo of spruce timber for Australia. The Casco is still in New York. Another vessel, the Pawnee, is undergoing repairs at Philadelphia. The boats all range from 6000 to 9000 deadweight tons.

Because of the easiness of the Panama navigation laws and the fact that American crews do not have to be carried or American wages paid, several shipowners are registering or preparing to register vessels under this flag. Some local shippers complain that because of this fact insurance rates may be affected as the laws are too loose for safety of shipments.

The barkentine Hesperian from Newcastle, Australia, is expected daily at this port with a cargo of coal. The Hesperian is owned by the James Rolph company. She is making a slow passage due, probably, to calms and adverse weather.

The ship E. K. Sterling is en route here from Newcastle with a coal cargo but is not expected until next month.

MONONGAHELA IS SLOW.

The ship Monongahela is making a long passage from Manila. She left that port on August 23 and should have reached here within sixty-five days. It is thought that her bottom is foul as she has been lying idle at Manila harbor for the past two years. The barnacles which would accumulate in that time would make for a long passage.

PLATE GLASS AND TIN PLATE FORM CARGO AT QUAY

Isthmian Line Freighter Robin Gray Unloading Shipment Here.

Plate glass and plate tin comprised the cargo of the Isthmian line freighter, Robin Gray, which started unloading at the quay wall yesterday afternoon. Most of this shipment was stowed into the holds of the big freighter when she was at Philadelphia. A couple of thousand tons were piled directly into the freight cars which lined up on the wharf alongside the steamer.

The Robin Gray also carried out a considerable shipment of local canned goods. This exchange of cargo has become a regular feature of local port activity. Hardly a ship that brings cargo into port but also carries an equal amount or more out.

The main item of import at the present time consists of building material. This is coming into port in various forms, ranging from the window glass such as the Robin Gray had in her holds, along with sheathing material of both metal and fiber, which also formed a goodly portion of the material which was swung overside from the big Isthmian liner, steel girders, reinforcing steel for concrete buildings, roofing paper, nails, paints and the vast quantities of lumber being brought into port on the lumber schooners from northern California inshore ports and the Puget Sound region. While a certain portion of this goes back into the interior of Central California the greater part is absorbed by the building industry right in Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda.

DIFFERENCE IN WAGES A CAUSE FOR NEED OF BILL

So Claim Proponents of Proposed Shipping Bill Present Tables as Proof

Proponents of the proposed National Shipping Bill have compiled tables showing the difference between the wages received by American officers and those in the British merchant marine service as an argument in favor of the bill's passage. The latter receives aid similar to that asked by the bill. The figures are compiled for crews of ships of 6000 tons register such as are engaged in North Atlantic commerce.

The following is the scale in effect in both merchant marines at the present time:

	American Scale (Privately-Owned Ship) Per Month	British Scale Per Month
Mate	165	20	10	0
Second Mate	140	16	0	0
Third Mate	125	13	0	0
Carpenter	70	12	10	0
Boatswain	..	11	10	0
Able Seamen (6)	285	60	0	0
Ordinary Seamen (2)	70	11	0	0
Chief Engineer	250	24	10	0
Second Engineer	165	20	10	0
Third Engineer	140	16	0	0
Fourth Engineer	125	13	0	0
Deck Engineer	70	11	10	0
Oilers (3)	165	33	0	0
Firemen (9)	450	94	10	0
Coalpassers (3)	120	30	0	0
Steward	105	14	10	0
Cook	90	13	10	0
Second Cook	70	9	10	0
Messboys (3)	90	8	13	0
Radio	90	13	10	0
	$3,060	£493	0	0

The British pound in the calculations is based upon an exchange of $4.43.

The bill's proponents claim that the increased compensation is necessary in order to meet the competition of British lines and their low wage. It is also explained that this is the reason why so many ship owners are seeking to change registry to that of Panama and other flags, because private operators are compelled to meet this big difference out of their own pockets.

THE FONG WAN HERBS

are effective to sufferers of all nationalities. The following testimonial is given by one of the eminent Chinese:

MENINGITIS RELIEVED

Oakland, Cal., Feb 2, 1921.

My nephew had meningitis and was isolated in a hospital over in the city. I was told he was so sick that he may die. I went to the Fong Wan Herb Co. and told them his condition. He took their herb tea for a week, then began to feel better. Continued for two more weeks and now he is completely well.

T. T. DANG, 264 8th St., Oakland.

Mr. T. T. Dang became a manager and interpreter of a late established herb company. The boy, his nephew, came to U. S. and was stopped at Angel Island. He had terrible headache, the doctor called it "Meningitis." His condition was so critical, it was necessary to remove him to the hospital at San Francisco. He got no improvement from the treatment. Fong Wan Herb Tea was taken over to him. He was completely relieved.

Fong Wan Herbalist has ten times the number of testimonials than any one in the list. It means he has relieved ten times more sufferers. Also the herbalist pays more taxes to Alameda County and City of Oakland than the whole list. His children have been born and raised in Alameda County and he paid big taxes to the same. Why should not the Fong Wan Herbalist deserve every sufferer's trade and consultation.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

I take this method of expressing my sentiments of appreciation to Dr. Wong Him for the wonderful cures he has effected in cases where several members of my family, including myself, were afflicted with serious maladys.

I also desire to be the means of guiding any one who is in need of medical advice, as he will find Dr. Wong Him to be a thoroughly reliable herb specialist and absolutely conscientious. Through an occurrance experienced by a member of my family, I can, with the greatest regard for sincerity, state that after a consultation unless Dr. Wong Him is convinced that his herbs will effect a complete ... no circumstances accept the case.

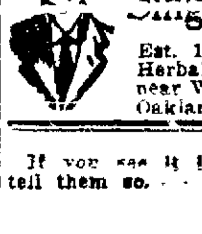

Very truly yours,
JULIUS ZUNINO.

DISTINCTIVE HOMES—No. 38

A Pretty Little Bungalow With a Wide Porch.

This bungalow has three rooms and a breakfast room, in the living room is a wall bed. Through the installation of this bed, one has the same accommodations as in a five room dwelling, with a considerable less outlay of money. In building the home after this type of plan, there is considerable saving of time in housework, heating and furnishing.

A small hall connects all rooms and there are plenty of closets.

Printed by courtesy of The Home Designer Magazine (of Oakland), which is prepared to furnish prints and specifications to readers of The OAKLAND TRIBUNE at a special and very reasonable figure.

(By the Oakland Real Estate Board)

Few designs for homes adapted to the requirements of the small family are presented which offer more for the investment required than does the plan here shown. Its construction can be adapied to almost any location and is suitable to general use in a ciy of varying topography such as this. It is esimated that the construction will cost from $3200 to $4000, according to the builder's test in finishing, and a site may be found in a score of Eastbay localities quite suitable to this cottage at from $500 to $1000. Its simplicity makes it a house which would harmonize with almost any other type of cottage and can therefore be properly placed in almost any middle class residence district of the Eastbay cities.

Any Realtors dealing in residence properties would be able to select a suitable site for such a structure and at a price properly commensurate with the cost of building and proportionate to the financial total investment.

Dry Chief Placed On Congress Grill

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—(By International News Service).—Prohibition Commissioner Haines was severely grilled today by the members of the house appropriations committee, who are preparing the treasury supply bill.

Failure of the prohibition office to enforce prohibition strictly, waste of government funds, local discriminations in attempted enforcement, violation of constitutional rights of the individual citizen by prohibition officers and agents, conduct of an unfair and misleading prohibition propaganda, and other abuses under the Volstead act, were charged to Haines at the hearing.

Commissioner Haines asked for $9,000,000 for prohibition enforcement during the fiscal year 1923-24, beginning July 1 next, and authority to employ 200 additional field agents to assist in the enforcement. This estimate of the cost of the prohibition bureau had been approved by General Lord, director of the budget.

NEWBERRY WILL RESIGN FROM SENATE, CLAIM

Since His Supporters Met Defeat It Is Believed He Will Yield Seat.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—(By International News Service).—Senator Truman H. Newberry, Republican of Michigan, storm center of one of the biggest political sensations in recent years, has virtually decided to resign his seat rather than subject the Republican part yto the embarrassment of his certain ousting at the hands of the Democrats in the sixty-eighth congress, according to reliable information current in political quarters here today.

Senator Newberry's decision is understood to have been reached after a series of conversations with Republican leaders in Washington

URGED TO RESIGN

No official announcement was made here today of Senator Newberry's decision because there was nobody here authorized to speak for the Michigan senator, but the expectation that an announcement will be forthcoming shortly prevailed in inner Republican circles. It is no secret that Senator Newberry has been urged by a number of influential Republicans to resign his seat since the election, when Michigan defeated his chief senatorial sponsor, Senator Townsend, and elected a Democrat for the first time in seventy years.

A poll of the new senate, which will take office next March 4, has shown almost beyond any doubt that his foes will have sufficient votes in the sixty-eighth congress to unseat him, and in the face of this situation, Senator Newberry has been urged to renounce his claims to the seat rather than subject the party to the embarrassment of his being ousted.

OPPOSED TO BONUS BILL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—President Harding, although soldier bonus forces in the election gained sufficient strength in the senate to pass an adjusted compenation measure over his veto, is still strongly opposed to the bill, it was officially stated by a spokesman for the executive at the White House today.

The President delegated this spokesman to deny reports that the executive's attitude toward the measure had been changed because of the elections, in which anti-bonus senators were defeated and the state bonuses approved in five states.

KNIGHTS FEAST, INSTALL CHIEFS

St. Philip Conclave No. 23, Knights of the Red Cross of Constantine, held its annual meeting and election of officers last night in the Blue Room of the Hotel Oakland. H. C. Capwell presided as Most Puissant Sovereign and was ably assisted by his officers.

Judge E. C. Robinson, Louis J. Breuner and William A. Rogers were initiated into the order, and participated in the deliberations of the conclave.

The election was followed by the installation of the new officers, namely, Joseph R. Knowland, most puissant sovereign; Fred M. Hunter, eminent viceroy; Robert B. Garland senior generall; Arthur F. Chambers, junior general; Charles J. Heesemah, treasurer, and D. E. Perkins, recorder.

The initiation of the candidates was followed by a dinner over which H. C. Capwell presided.

Ad Club Nominates Board of Directors

The election will be held December 5.

The committee, which is to take charge of the club's Christmas jinks, was announced yesterday as follows: Miss Elizabeth Watson, Mrs. Herman Johnson, Mrs. Edward Huebbe, rMs. Grace Burroughs, George Cummings, B. F. Sanders, August Lutz and Horace [illegible].

De Mille, producer, he announced today. Eight pries of $1000 each instead of one will be distributed, it was stated. The Events Leading Up to the Tragedy

Fifteen Minutes of Radio Daily

by Edward M. Davis

LESSON NO. 212.

(All rights reserved by United Feature Syndicate. Reproduction Prohibited).

Remember, that:

The most efficient working wave for a transmitting station is usually about 70 per cent greater than the fundamental wave length of the antenna system.

A counterpoise is always preferable to other types of grounding arrangements, although frequently the more efficient stations have ground wires connected to all the surrounding pipes, well, etc.

Always light the filament to normal brilliancy before the plate voltage is connected to the tube circuit and in shutting down always disconnect the plate potential first.

The antenna ammeter will not read double when two sets are operated in parallel, although the output may be more than doubled. The output varies as the square of the current.

When operating transmitting tubes from a step down transformer the best place to connect the controlling rheostat is in the primary circuit of the transformer rather than in the filament circuit itself.

The useful life of the tubes is often increased by using alternating current for filament lighting rather than direct current. Tubes last two or three times as long when A. C. is used.

When employing the Hartley transmitting circuit it is desirable to connect the earth connection to the filament terminal of the oscillation transformer, thereby producing more stable operation.

The life of tubes which are continually operated beyond their rated capacity is greatly curtailed and little added range is obtained.

In tuning a tube set a milliammeter should be employed in the plate circuit in order to prevent overloading of the tubes. The normal working plate current of most vacuum tubes is specified by the makers, and the life of the tube is shortened if this is exceeded. An output of 70 watts has been obtained from a 5 watt tube in the laboratory but the tube life was a matter of minutes.

Radiotelephony cannot be conducted on a tube set employing a transformer unless the output of the transformer is rectified before it is applied to the plate circuit of the vacuum tubes.

When employing tube transmitters it is important to have the antenna securely erected so that there is practically no swing to the wires. Slight changes in capacity caused by antenna conductors swaying in the wind results in change wave length which is nine types of circuits is very objectionable at the receiving station.

Glazed porcelain insulators are particularly effective in preventing leakage of the high voltages employed in vacuum tube transmitting sets.

OAKLAND BANK EMPLOYEES DINE

A business dinner of the Oakland Bank was held in Hotel Oakland last night with 150 employees and officers of the institution present. The evening was provided by the employees of the bank. A chorus of twenty-four voices, all bank employees, presented a series of topical songs in which various bank employees were characteristically portrayed. Another amusing incident of the program was the receipt of many humorous telegrams by members of the bank staff.

The history and growth of the bank was outlined in a short address by W. W. Garthwaite, president.

"The advance and growth of the bank is marked by its ever growing number of employees," he said. "Some of us can remember the time when only four of five officers and employees of the bank, including the janitor, comprised the entire bank staff."

J. Y. Eccleston, vice-president, and A. W. Moore, vice-president and cashier, were other speakers. Moore told of his recent trip east.

CREWS BLAMED FOR WRECK.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15. — Blame for the disastrous rear-end collision between two Missouri Pacific passenger trains at Sulphur Springs, Mo., on August 5, resulting in the death of 34 persons and the injury of 186, was placed on several members of the train crews in a report submitted to the Interstate Commerce Commission by W. P. Borland, chief of the bureau of safety.

The bedtime stories are pleasing hundreds of children every Wednesday evening, judging from the communications received from the youngsters and their parents.

Cracksmen Scared From Decoto Store

DECOTO, Nov. 15.—Thieves forced their way into the post office and general store of J. L. Olson here last night, and made an unsuccessful attempt to open the safe containing currency.

When Olson opened the store this morning, he found the rear door opened, tools scattered over the floor near the safe, and a badly damaged safe door. Although Olson can not open the safe himself this morning because of the damage done to it, he says he does not believe the burglars could have opened it and closed it.

The night visitors apparently left in a hurry, taking with them only several pairs of shoes and a number of articles of cutlery.

STORM INUNDATES S. F. RADIO RULES

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—The new regulations governing the installation of antennae for radio receiving sets, as laid down by the department of electricity of San Francisco, has brought a flood of protests in the form of thousands of letters addressed to the Board of Supervisors and the department of electricity.

Ralph W. Wiley, chief of electricity, is the center of the storm, having laid down the rules which he insisted should be enforced.

A meeting has been called for late this afternoon at the offices of the electrical department. All radio interests involved have been asked to be present and the matter will be threshed out.

Wiley stated today that, by enforcing the rules, he wanted to protect the property owners as well as the radio enthusiasts. He said that, by the enforcement of such rules, it would be possible for a radio enthusiast to erect an antenna and have it properly inspected, for a fee of $1, and eliminate any possibility of a complaint from his landlord, or neighbors.

Radio men are firm in their stand that radio wires are in no way related to electricity and therefore do not come under the department any more than do clothes lines or other "dead" wires.

The new rules affect only those residing in San Francisco.

HEALTH, SAFETY EXPOSITION WILL OPEN ON FRIDAY

Many Exhibits Will Carry Out Slogan of Show: "Learn to Live."

Oakland and the Eastbay with interest await the opening of the International Health and Safety Exposition in the Municipal Auditorium Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

California's first health show, with its slogan, "Learn to Live," promises to eclipse in the variety of subjects covered, in the attractive manner in which they will be presented, any similar exposition ever held anywhere.

Last night the directors of the Chamber of Commerce, headed by Vice-President Harrison Robinson, visited the Auditorium, where a score of carpenters and decorators are preparing the arena, the corridors, the theater, the various assembly halls for the influx of educational exhibits.

SHOULD SEE EXHIBITS.

"Oakland can be proud of such a show," said Robinson. "No citizen, no mother, no father, no young person can afford not to visit this exposition. It will be a complete education in itself. It will point the way to better citizenship. It will go far toward making healthier, happier citizens. It will lift the despair that enters the home of poor and the needy because it points the way to simple remedies that mean life and happiness to the individual. It will teach all how to live.

"The Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring California's first health show and its members can be justly proud of this splendid exposition."

Every national, state, county and municipal agency and many foreign nations will be represented and have a distinctive part in the show.

Noted men and women from those who make a life work of the study of babies to those who are recognized authorities on city planning, recreation, sanitary engineering, mental and social hygiene, have directed the building of the exposition.

There will be clinics in actual operation where children may be examined free by experts.

Dr. Edna Bailey, directing the activities of the School Health Service, has provided for the free health examination of all children of school age, providing parents or guardians write to the School Health Service, Ellen Moore Memorial building, and request an appointment.

FIVE CARDINAL DEFECTS.

Dr. Bailey says there are five cardinal defects, one of which is found in nearly every child of school age. These include poor hearing, bad eyesight, flat feet, adenoids and bad teeth.

Any one of these defects, if not corrected, according to Dr. Bailey, may lead to serious effects in later life and all of them can be corrected in childhood.

The mental hygiene department for children as conducted under the direction of Dr. Lillian Martin, a national authority, will demonstrate the effect of home environment on the character of children.

Here, too, a child's musical ability will be tested.

Outside the auditorium Jay B. Nash, director of recreation in Oakland, will operate a model playground.

Day nurseries will be maintained for the benefit of visiting mothers.

In the auditorium theater educational features will be staged afternoon and evening.

POLICE SEEK VENICE LAD.

Chief of Police James T. Drew today was asked to try and locate Hrebert Griggins, 16 years old, who has been missing from his home in Venice since September 26. The father, S. F. Griggins, thinks that his son met with foul play.

Nations to Be Represented

Socialist Admits Warning By King

A survey of his activities as editor of "The World" was given during the testimony of J. H. Snyder, one of the defendants in the criminal syndicalist trials, who occupied the stand again today. The case is being heard by a jury in Superior Judge Samuels' court, the defendants acting as their own attorneys.

Snyder completed his direct testimony late yesterday afternoon and cross examination was undertaken by Deputy District Attorney Donald McClure, who with Deputy District Attorney Wade Snook, is handling the case for the prosecution.

Under questions from McClure, Snyder admitted that he had received a letter from Cameron King warning him that the tactics then employed by the Communist Labor party and the Left Wing of the Socialist party would "bring you into conflict with the police and the criminal syndicalist law."

REGENTS DELAY BARROWS CASE TO HIS RETURN

Petitions For Retention of University Head Received Without Comment.

BERKELEY, Nov. 15.—Not until the return of President David P. Barrows of the University of California from a tour of eastern colleges, on November 23, will the request of the student body for his retention as head of the university be formally considered by the regents.

Voluminous petitions signed by more than 6000 students and other documents from civic and patriotic organizations urging the retention of Dr. Barrows were received by the regents at their meeting in San Francisco yesterday without comment. The petitioners were referred without discussion of any kind to the executive committee of the board.

Twelve additions to the teaching staff of the university were made by the Board of Regents. Five instructors were added to the faculty. They include H. W. McAdoo, anatomy; C. E. Nixon, neuro-psychiatry; W. N. Becker, W. M. Cameron and A. L. McGuinness, dentistry; Dr. Charles Maghy, assistant in opthalmology; W. H. Brooks, J. C. Hays and C. K. Wildermuth, assistants in agricultural extension; Merle C. Israelsky, research assistant in the museum of paleontology; Miss Minette Mackay, assistant supervisor in the University High school, and F. T. Dillingham, university fellow.

Among the gifts received yesterday by the regents was a check for $3000 from Charles Fee, permanent secretary-treasurer of the class of 1922. This fund is to be expended in furnishing the memorial room in the Henry Morse Stephens memorial building. The sum of $2800 also was received from the class of 1922 in support of the loan fund which bears the class name.

Mrs. Jackson Meyers of Berkeley presented 282 specimens of stone implements, wooden bowls, tapa and fishhooks to the museum of anthropology. The specimens were collected by the late Jackson Meyers on the islands of Kauai and Maui in the Hawaiian group between 1900 and 1917.

FORMER AIDE OF ANDRADE HOLDS TO FIRST STORY

A. E. Bateman Unshaken, With Two Exceptions, in Four Days on Stand.

A. E. Bateman today began the fourth day of his cross examination at the hands of Attorney Peter Crosby, defending Jesse Andrade, charged with falsifying the records of the Bank of Italy, of which he was formerly paying and vault teller and assistant cashier.

At the conclusion of his third day of testimony yesterday, and after having been taken over the ground on several occasions by the defense counsel, Bateman adhered to his original story without deviation, except in two particulars, these the defense claiming to be of considerable importance to its case.

Concerning the talks between the witness and Andrade, prior to the arrest of the latter, dealing with their proposed resignations from the Bank of Italy to enter the employ of a new bank here, Bateman said again that Andrade frequently set certain dates and then failed to resign when the time came.

Track Coaches Walter Christie and the coaches of the team, "Crip" Toomey and "Stan" Barnes, were the speakers.
